A Lindsay Horse Hurt.

The first race on Wednesday at Toronto fair, had 17 starters in the first heat, but dwindled down as some of the horses were drawn. Mr. Geo. Curtis' Grey Jim, met with an accident that will likely put him out of business during the heat. The shaft broke and the horse ran away, and after being chased around the ring a couple of times the horse pulled up. The animal unfortunately destroyed the tendons of his hind leg, and will likely have to be killed.

Died at Vancouver.

A despatch from Vancouver, B. C., states that Mr. J. D. DeVellin, merchant, of that city, died on August 25th. Mr. DeVellin was for many years a resident of Belleville and a gentleman highly esteemed. For upwards of ten years he was a drygoods clerk in the firm of Brignell & Thompson, and was a general favorite. Deceased removed from here a few years ago and established a business in Vancouver, doing well. He was born near Lindsay about 50 years ago. He leaves a wife, but no family. Mrs. DeVellin was a Miss Robinson, of Prince Edward county. Deceased was a prominent member of the Oddfellows society. Many citizens will regret to hear of his demise. —Belleville Intelligencer. —The deceased gentleman was a brother of Mrs. Wm. Walters, of this town.

The Brownies in Fairyland.

This attractive and pleasing entertainment is to be given in the Academy of Music on Monday and Tuesday evenings, Sept. 18th and 19th, under the auspices of the Y.M.C.A. For several weeks past Mr. W. Robson and Miss Ethel Parkins have been preparing over 100 children for this great event. The Toronto Globe says: "The Brownies is a musical piece which utilizes the merry and quaint little creations of Palmer Cox. To lend relief the fairies are introduced in the burlesque, which bears the same name. The music is sufficiently catchy to suit the unsophisticated minds of its interpreter, and is by Mr. Malcolm Douglas, who is associated with Mrs. Edith Pond, in producing the piece. The above parties arrived in town this morning, and will remain until after the performances. An audience of over 4,000 people assembled in the Massey Hall, Toronto, when 'The Brownies' was presented. It is undoubtedly one of the most popular children's play ever written."

Coal at the Old Price.

We were informed yesterday by Mr. R. Bryans, of Bryans & Co., that the price of coal has advanced fully 50 per cent. within the last two months, but his firm were lucky enough to procure a few carloads of the celebrated Lehigh Valley coal before the rise, and intend giving their customers the advantage of the low price. Mr. Bryans further stated that a supply of this popular coal had arrived fresh and direct from the mines, and that the Lehigh coal is acknowledged to be the best for heating purposes. Regarding the other branches of his business, he said, had increased considerably, and that he will ship over 7,000,000 shingles to the American markets, also that there was a plentiful demand for lumber and lime.

COMMUNICATIONS.

Is It Not Necessary?

(To Editor of The Post.)

Dear Sir,—Recently settling in your town, I notice, especially on Lindsay-st., that the contractor was digging trench drains into individual properties. I noticed a man digging, although he had made his connection directly to his house, a second and third pipe were laid at Dr. Gillespie's, the same at skating rink and Separate school the same. It struck me that if the town was paying a share a saving might be made by merely putting a joint and not digging. This was quite unnecessary. If the private individual is assessed for the whole and the town doing the work, it appears to me a more strict economy should be observed. I am informed that the mayor has plans of the different systems of sewerage of other towns, would he kindly let me know if the plan of making use of connections in practice in any other town? The subject is of some interest, not only to those on Lindsay-st., whose system is nearly completed, but to the ratepayers on the streets where it is being petitioned for. I do not think the idea a pleasant one that a blind drain holding some ten or fifteen bushels of filth is being laid under our front floors yet by this system it is a fact to offer these remarks for the consideration of those interested.—Yours

A NEW CITIZEN.

That $27,000 By-law.

(To Editor of The Post.)

Dear Sir,—The anxiety of our citizens to have granolithic sidewalks shows clearly that they can appreciate a good thing when they see it. They would likewise appreciate any well matured scheme for the improvement of our streets. I notice your announcement of a meeting in the east ward to discuss the $27,000 by-law. Now, here is a point in a nutshell—I understand that permanent improvements cannot go on until the sewers are put in. Now, the sewers cannot be put in until petitioned for by the property owners. Have these petitioned? No. Will they petition? I hear that it is very doubtful and that some of the streets selected by council will not petition at all. If so, I fail to see the wisdom of issuing debentures bearing interest from date of issue to pay for work which may not be done for ten years. No better men than the commissioners appointed, but they cannot alter the by-law when passed. Why not issue debentures, if such are required, to pay for the improvements, as they are completed? The town cannot afford to pay interest on debentures just for the fun of it. But perhaps the present council think that their successors will not be able or willing to look after our interests? Well, if they do, they should not. I am not carping. I am inquiring.—Yours etc.
