ANNIVERSARY.—The annual anniversary of the congregation of the Fleetwood Methodist Church, was held on Monday last. On Sunday services were presided by the Rev. Mr. Bell of Little Britain, who was formerly pastor of the church. His sermons were full of instruction and interest, and each service was well attended. On Monday evening a fowl dinner was served in the school house, at which over two hundred partook most heartily. The evening was very large, and after looking at the large quantity of well cooked food, over which two of the official brethren of the church presided, who were busy with the serving, and the judging from the rapidity and expertness of their work, the quantity coming under their hands, was very large. The peeling cakes and pies also fared very badly at the hands of the hungry multitudes. The evening was a very profitable one, and the superintendent of the Sunday school took the opportunity to call the meeting to order, after which the singing was commenced by the choir, which was well rendered. The choir was appointed platform which had been built under their hands, and was very well received by the people. The evening was a very profitable one, and the superintendent of the Sunday school took the opportunity to call the meeting to order, after which the singing was commenced by the choir, which was well rendered.
