The Men Claim That They Were Ordered to Do Menial Work-The Officials Say the Men Did Not Report the Grievance in the Proper Way.

A brief explanation of the manner in which the movements of the C.P.R. trains are conducted will give the public some idea of the manner in which the strike will affect the road. The system is divided into a number of districts, each district having a central office, wherein train despatchers sit at telegraph instruments and wire the hundreds of operators at the numerous stations on the road instructions as to the movements of trains. When, therefore, a freight arrives at a station, not manned by an operator, it will have to be side-tracked there until someone takes his place and obtains a message from headquarters. The Toronto train despatchers, whose offices are located at the Union Station, have authority over all operators and trains west of Toronto to Windsor, and north as far as Owen Sound. The despatchers at Smith's Falls, supervise n a like manner that section of the road between Leaside Junction (near North Toronto station) and Montreal. Despatchers are also located at Ottawa, Montreal and other division cen-

The Toronto train despatchers are three in number, who divide the 24 hours into as many shifts. Despatcher A. L. Smith, whose watch is from 4 p.m. to 12 p.m., went off duty at 11.15 last night. Chief Despatcher Price, who has not done duty at the wires for years, took his place, At midnight, however, Mr. Price was relieved by Despatcher George Forbes, who, not being a member of the refractory organization, did not obey Montreal command.

Chief Despatcher Price observed last evening that the company had "train despatchers to burn" and that it would not matter how many of them went out. The difficulty would arise in connection with the operators' re-

Up to midnight the despatchers at London, Windsor and some other points still answered Toronto's "call," The operator at Toronto Junction promptly obeyed the committee's order, and as this point is a very important one his action had an awkward result. His place was taken by Trainmaster Bell, who could not send his life. Consequently orders covering the movements of all trains had to be here when Chief Price phoned him instructions about the crossing of a couple of trains, and as these orders are very complicated affairs, consist-A reporter interviewed the Grand Trunk night despatcher to learn if the operators on that line were going out in sympathy with their C. THE STRIKE AT MONTREAL.

Montreal, Sept. 28 .- (Special.)-This evening at 9 o'clock a strike was ordered amongst the Canadian Pacific telegraph operators, yet at the present time it is not known how many of them went out. Mr. T. M. Pierson assistant grand chief of the Or-der of Railway Telegraphers, has been in town for the last few days, and with a committee laid the alleged grievances before the head officials of the company in this city. Amongst other grievances, the men claim that in many instances they have to sweep out the stations or scrub floors. The officials replied that they could not discuss these grievances unless they were preferred in the proper manner, viz., through the local superintendents. Mr. Thomas Tait, assistant general manager of the C. P. R., being interviewed, said: "A committee claiming to represent the telegraph operators employed in connection with the railway service on the several divisions sought an interview with the executive officers at Montreal for the purpose of discussing some alleged grievinform they are employed of these alleged grievances, as they are required to do by the regulations of the company, and as is always done by the enginemen, trainmen and other employes. This appears to be the sole and only reason for the strike which has been ordered. We do not believe that this ill-advised action of the committee will receive much countenance from the telegraph operators on the system. When the strike was order-ed at 9 o'clock one operator at Windsor-street station walked out, and we are informed that two or three train despatchers and a few operators at most important item. Thus, for instance, some of the operators who are employed as station agents, complain of having to sweep out the offices, and either scrub the floors or pay a woman to do it for them. Others state that their profes-sion is degraded because they are obliged to give an eye to the water tanks near their stations and fire up now and then to pump water for

Of course, these are not the most serious complaints, as there are in many cases demands for increased pay, or statements that the former rate has been reduced. The grievance sheet is made up of individual cases of alleged cause for complaint, names being given, and the whole facts, as they appear to the men, set forth. The deputation was not received by the two officers above named, who claim that the elementary agreement between the company and the men has been broken, inasmuch as complaint erintendent in charge of that portion of the system, and then if no satisfaction is received from him, to the genpresident himself. In this case, this has not been done; none of the assistant superintendents nor any of the notified of the complaints submitted to the management. The company claim not to fear the contemplated action of despatchers, with the exception of three or four, are firmly to be relied upon, and a large percentage of the operators do not belong to the Order reconsider its action.

The men had been suffering from a number of grievances for some time that they principally complained of, that in addition to their regular duties, which kept them employed for very long hours, and for which they received very poor pay, they were ordered to do all kinds of menial work, were discriminated against in many respects. By Oscarsborg the Fram steamed rough an avenue of large vessels illed with cheering people and decorited all over with flags; and as soon as Nansen's ship had passed these steamers joined the escorting flotilla and accompanied the Fram to the c.ty there all was in readiness to give the amous craft a grand reception. The reception was begun by the firing salutes from the fortress and menf-war. The Fram was moored in the Pipervik Harbor, and then Dr. Nansen and his comrades got into some small loats and were rowed by the boys of the training ship Christiania to the C.P.R. Officials Issue a Statement on the Ship Bridge, where they landed. Here, under a baldachin, Dr. Nansen was ormally welcomed by the representaves of the city, amidst tumultuous beering from the crowds who thronged he bridge and the grand stands erected on it, the band meanwhile playing he Swedish Hymn. As Dr. Nansen tepped ashore all those on the quay spectfully uncovered. Then came the riumphal progress of the explorers to he Royal Palace, through streets filled overflowing with enthusiastic Noregians, and decorated from end to end rith flags and garlands hanging from ows of masts. One very notable feature of the decoration requires to be mentioned. At the entrance to Rosarytreet was a triumphal arch composed members of the City Gymnastic ociety, who had so disposed themclives as to form an archway through which the explorers drove. The stulents of the university had also erectd a most tasteful gate of honor, by he side of which they gathered in reat numbers, with all the professors nd teaching staff to welcome the hees of the day. Professor Schultz then delivered a short speech, in which he xpressed on behalf of the university his recognition of the indefatigable and miet work of the explorers, as well as of the energy and scientific insight which he had displayed during the expedition. Dr. Nansen, in reply, expressed his heartfelt thanks for his cordial reception, and declared that while engaged in his work of exploration he had always regarded himse.f as the herald of Norwegian science. The whole route from the landing place to the castle was kept by a continuous chain of members of the different corporations and guilds of Christiania, each distinguished by its own banner. Twelve thousand men with 120 flags formed this guard of honor. At the castle Dr. Nansen and his comrades were most cordially wel-comed by the King and the Crown Prince. Here also the explorer was greeted for the first time by his little daughter Liv, who is three and a haif years old, and who, by the special invitation of the King, has, during the past fortnight, been staying with her grandmother, Frau Sars. in apartments the palace. A state banquet followed, the guests at which included Dr. Nansen and his comrades, Mr. Colin Archer, the builder of the Fram, and

And Her Husband Arrested on Suspicion.

Robert Carpenter's Wife Was Found Dead Under Peculiar Circumstances, and Coroner Heath of Brantford is Holding an Inquest Into the Mysterious Affair.

Hagersville, Sept. 28.-There is much excitement among the large crowd of people gathered at the place where Robert Carpenter lives on the edge of the Indian reservation, about two miles from Hagersville. Coroner Heath of Brantford, with a jury. holding an inquest on the body of Carpenter's wife, who was found dead on Thursday morning amid circumstances which look so suspicious that the general talk is that a murder been committed. Carpenter is living on a rented farm on the Indian land, and has but a humble home. He was married last month to a Hagersville girl named Lillia Winkworth, who was about 22 years of age. They did not seem to get along well together. He is said to have violent temper and a bad tongue. Witnesses swear that they heard them quarreling on Wednesday in the morning and at noon. About 3 o'clock in the afternoon Carpenter drove to Hagersville to the house of his cousin, Mrs. Giles. He remained there some time and then drove home, Mrs.

Giles accompanying him. They found Mrs. Carpenter dead in the bed. Carpenter brought Dr. McDonald of Hagersville, who believes that woman had been dead some hours be-fore his arrival. Next day (Thursday) Carpenter decided to have the funeral and asked Mr. J. H. Scott, the registrar, for a burial permit. This was refused unless Dr. McDonald would give his certificate. Carpenter went away for a little time but returned, saying that he had obtained the consent of the doctor to the The registrar then granted the permit. He, however, learned af-terwards from Dr. McDonald that Carpenter's statement was untrue, that the doctor held that the circumstances looked suspicious, and that he could not give a certificate. The registrar then withdrew the burial permit and telegraphed Coroner Heath of Brantford for instructions. The coroner, after making enquiries, ordered an inquest, which was commenced on Friday, but was adjourned until to-day at 10 o'clock to receive the report of the post mortem examination. The inquest is not yet finish-The post mortem was held by Dr. Jones of Hagersville. He reports that there was no organic disease, and believes her death may have resulted from the wounds found in several places on the head and body, mentioning the particularly extensive bruises on the right and left temples and a severe indentation above the crest of the ilium of an inch and a half, which must have been caused by Yesterday Detective Adams of Brantford had a warrant out for Carpenter's arrest, which was promptly executed. Mrs. Carpenter was buried in Springvale Cemetery on Saturday. It is reported that Carpenter has a wife living in Brantford. This, true, would add the crime of bigamy to his already unenviable reputation. THE BRUTE DROWNED HIMSELF.

Entreated Him to Be Quiet He Threw the Child Downstairs.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 27.-Just before dark to-night Edward Wald, a ship carpenter residing at 53 Mulberry-street, narrowly escaped lynching at the hands of an infuriated mob of West Side citizens. Wald came home under the influence of liquor and quarreled with his wife and finally struck her. The '14-year-old son, Edward, seized his father's arm and entreated him to quiet down, whereupon the brute became enraged and threw the boy down the stairway leading to the street, a distance of 20 feet. The little fellow screamed for help and rolled out of the open doorway into the street, writhing in convulsions. Dr. C. T. Turner was summoned to attend the boy and a crowd quickly collected to avenge the outrage.

Meanwhile the crowd increased to a mob, which was goaded to fury by the sight of the helpless child struggling on the their way into the house to drag out the intuman father, and others were despatched for a rope. Wald had locked himself in a bedroom. The door was broken open and he was dragged into the street, fighting desperately. The police arrived before the rope appeared and thus prevented a lynching. The mob gave battle to the pocape them. During the scrimmage the prisoner broke loose from those who were holding him and ran down an alley toward the river. The mob was close at his heels, and when the fugitive reached the river, knowing that his chance for life was very small if captured, he plunged into the wa-ter and was drowned. His body was re-covered. The boy will die and the wife's injuries may prove fatal.
