LINDSAY, FRIDAY, OCT. 16, 1896

A REIGN OF TERROR

Prevails in the Neighborhood of Hagersville.

LAWLESS MEN INFEST THE SECTION

Carpenter, the Alleged Wife Murderer, is Now Charged With Bigamy—The Woman Who Claims to be His First Wife Says She Was Badly Used.

Toronto, Oct. 10.

His three months' European holiday seems to have taken nothing from Chief Provincial Detective Murray's capacity for bringing criminals to time.

Lately, the people of Hagersville, Ont., have lived under a veritable reign of terror. Numerous incendiary fires have occurred; a number of prominent farmers have been robbed of cattle and sheep, and the inhabitants of the neighborhood generally have spent their days and nights in fear of a lawless circle of men who infest the district.

The death under suspicious circumstances of Mrs. Carpenter a few days ago brought this terrible state of affairs to a climax, and the Ontario Government was appealed to. The Attorney-General took immediate action, and Mr. Murray was despatched to the scene of the gross iniquities. After a week's hard work the detective comes back with information which is likely to lodge a lot of criminals behind prison doors.

He devoted a great deal of attention to the Carpenter murder case, in which Carpenter has been committed for trial on the charge of killing his wife. The body of deceased was exhumed in the presence of Drs. Jones and McDonald of Hagersville and Howell of Jarvis for the purpose of confirming the results obtained from the post-mortem held before the interment. The corpse was found to bear marks of severe rough usage. A gash in the abdomen, likely administered by a kick from a heavy-soled boot, terrible bruises upon the breasts, and black and blue marks upon the temples were found. Mr. Murray brought the viscera of the dead woman to Toronto for inspection by Government Analyst Ellis, with a view to confuting any theory of poisoning that may be raised by the defence.

The detective also unearthed while away a letter written by a lady in Petrolea to Dr. Jones of Hagersville, stating that she is the lawful wife of the accused murderer. She alleges that she has one child from the union still living; that Carpenter nearly starved her to death, and that she still bears upon her body the marks of the man's brutality to her some years ago. She says that the wedding was celebrated at Waterford about eight years ago, and that she left him because of his ill-treatment of her.

She will give evidence at the trial to be held at Brantford on Dec. 12, and her testimony will doubtless go far to convict the man under accusation of having murdered the woman who is said to have been his second wife. This is entirely new evidence, and is very sensational in its nature. Carpenter's conviction is now considered as assured.

Mr. Murray's investigation into the incendiarism and cattle and sheep stealing so prevalent in the vicinity is also likely to result in a series of arrests shortly. The Carpenter family are blamed as a bad lot for the lawless state of the community, and several of them are likely to go to jail. One farmer, who recently lost a lot of sheep by theft, is John Bousfield of Walpole township.

While absent Mr. Murray also looked into the Sternaman murder case at Bainham Centre, and he found that the evidence points to arsenical poisoning. Provincial Analyst Ellis will shortly report the result of his examination of the viscera of the deceased.

HIS ARM TORN OFF.

The Terrible Accident Which Befell Farmer John M. Horn of Wolfe Island While Threshing.

Kingston, Ont., Oct. 9.—A terrible accident occurred at the farm of John M. Horn, Wolfe Island, yesterday forenoon. A threshing machine was at work in the barn, and Mr. Horn was attending to the machinery when the belt that runs the fanning mill of the separator came off. The wheel by which the belt is worked is situated between two others and Mr. Horn, in attempting to replace the belt, had his hand caught in it, and drawn up to where it is twisted to facilitate the running. The arm was wrenched off a few inches above the elbow, and so great was the laceration that doctors decided that amputation a short distance from the shoulder was necessary. The operation was successfully performed.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEIT COINS

And Have a Care That You Are Not Deceived by Crude Imitations of Diamond Dyes.

Imitations of gold and silver coins and paper currency are circulated from time to time by forgers, and the careless and unwary are deceived and suffer loss.

For some months past, imitations (poor ones, too) of the popular Diamond Dyes have been sold in stores in certain districts of the country. These imitation dyes are sold by merchants because the profits are very large: but the woman who buys them suffers great loss in time and money, and is subjected to many trials and hardships in the use of these common colors.

These imitation dyes are composed of crude and almost worthless ingredients, and can never accomplish what they promise. Many dealers, after finding out how their customers were deceived and worried with the dire results from the miserable imitation dyes, have given up selling them, and now they recommend only the reliable "Diamond."

It should be remembered that there is but one honest brand of package dyes for home use; they are known as the Diamond Dyes. Be sure your merchant gives them to you when you ask for them.

EARL OF ROSEBERY

Explains His Position on the Eastern Question.

GREAT RESPECT FOR GLADSTONE

But Cannot Go With the Grand Old Man in His Ideas as Expressed in His Liverpool Speech—Strongly Opposed to England Taking Isolated Action.

Edinburgh, Oct. 9.—Speaking in this city to-night, Lord Rosebery discussed the remedies that had been suggested for the settlement of the Turkish question. He adduced reasons against nearly every one of the remedies. Regarding the proposal that Russia should take possession of Constantinople, Lord Rosebery said that the late Government (his own) had been extremely anxious to arrive at an entente with Russia, and he was still in every way hopeful that a satisfactory understanding between Great Britain and Russia on the Turkish question would be reached. He urged the advocates of the proposal, however, to remember the treatment that had been accorded the Poles by the Russians. Moreover, he asked, how is Great Britain to give to Russia what is not hers?

Avowing veneration and unaltered friendship for Mr. Gladstone, Lord Rosebery said that he could not agree with the proposal made by the latter in his Liverpool speech to withdraw the British Ambassador from Constantinople or to threaten action which could not be effected if the powers did not approve. Such a course would lead to humiliation. He differed with Mr. Gladstone in the opinion that Great Britain was bound by the Cyprus convention to intervene in Turkey. This convention had been a dead letter ever since it had been signed. He did not desire specially the retention of Cyprus and would willingly give it to any power except Turkey as the price of a European concert.

Lord Rosebery further declared that he was emphatically opposed to isolated action by Great Britain on the Turkish question and would fight the proposal that she act alone tooth and nail. Such action would mean a European war, with the slaughter of hundreds of thousands, threaten the existence of Great Britain and perhaps precede the extermination of the Armenians. He could conceive of nothing more futile, dangerous and disastrous than such a policy. Any British Minister incurring a European war except through the direct necessity of interests distinctly British would be a criminal to his country and to his position. He believed that any just war would have the assistance of the British colonies. He doubted that a war in behalf of Armenians would elicit such assistance. The panacea was concerted action by the powers nearest interested. This could not be long postponed.

Lord Rosebery then referred to his retirement from the leadership of the Liberal party, saying that the difference of opinion on the Eastern question was only one of a series of incidents that had induced him to resign the leadership. He added that he had not received the loyal support that a Peer needed if he was to lead his party successfully. His Government in its early days had been defeated by its own followers. The policy he had suggested for the election had not been adopted. Finally, Mr. Gladstone had innocently ministered the coup de grace. The internal differences in the party had been equal to the external differences. His action had been so hampered as to render his position untenable. He had tendered his resignation to his colleagues after the election.

Lord Rosebery, in conclusion, thanked Messrs. Fowler, Asquith, Bryce and Arnold Morley for their cordial support.

The meeting unanimously adopted a resolution expressing gratitude for the manner in which Lord Rosebery had led the Liberal party, deeply regretting his retirement, and earnestly hoping that he would reconsider his action and resume the leadership.

Lord Rosebery replied that his decision was the result of mature reflection, and had been taken with the conviction of its absolute necessity.

The clubs here to-night were filled with members, who eagerly awaited a report of Lord Rosebery's speech at Edinburgh. The Central News caused a column of the speech to be put on the "tickers" concurrent with its delivery. This report was devoured with avidity, and the references to the reasons that caused Lord Rosebery to throw up the leadership of his party were excitedly discussed.

A great throng filled the National Liberal Club, which presented the appearance it does at the time of a general election. Lord Rosebery's reference to Messrs. Fowler, Asquith, Bryce and Arnold Morley, which defined the cleavage in the Rosebery Cabinet, especially interested the readers of the speech. His response to the resolution adopted at the meeting was regarded as leaving open the question of his possible resumption of the leadership. Alexander Asher, who was Solicitor-General for Scotland in Mr. Gladstone's last Cabinet, stated afterwards that he believed that Lord Rosebery would soon be re-elected as leader of the Liberal party.

The Daily News (Liberal) contends that there is evidence of a rally to Lord Rosebery, or, rather, a renewal of confidence in him, which his speech will strengthen.

The Chronicle, a Liberal paper, but opposed to Lord Rosebery as the leader of the party, makes a bitter onslaught on the ex-Prime Minister, accusing him of total indifference to the sufferings of the Armenians. His speech, the paper declares, was evidently an attempt to discredit the agitation in their support. It says it regrets that Lord Rosebery thought it necessary to express respect for Mr. Gladstone upon whom the speech was an unqualified attack.

THE COLDWATER MEET.

Coldwater, Oct. 10.—The first annual meet of the Coldwater Bicycle Club, held here, was a decided success, the weather being fine, though cold, a somewhat brisk east wind blowing across the track all afternoon. The attendance was very satisfactory. Some good racing was done, but owing to recent rains, and the track being low, caused it to be very heavy, which accounts for the slow time made in most of the events, which resulted as follows:

One mile, amateur—T Moore, Toronto, 1; R F White, Waubaushene, 2; John Davidson, Toronto, 3. Also started: D W McLaren, J Churchill, H Hulse, A McEachren. McEachren claimed a foul on R F White, but it was not allowed. Time 2.51.

Two-thirds mile, boys' race—G Perry, Orillia, 1; Jas Boyle, 2; H Caswell, 3. Caswell and Boyle fell on second lap, Perry finishing alone, which accounts for the slow time of 2.45.

Five mile team race—S Moore, A McEachren, H Hulse, Toronto, 1; J Gilpin, R White, W Tool, Orillia, 2; J W Craig, D W McLaren, D H Ward, Barrie 3. Score: Toronto 21 points, Orillia 15 points, Barrie 6 points. Time 16.35.

Three mile, amateur—H Hulse 1, T Moore 2, A McEachren 3. Also started: John Davidson. Time 10.34½.

Two-thirds mile, named race—Geo Abbott 1, John Mauer 2, S D Effett 3. Time 2.53.

Two miles, country race—W Prest, Orillia, 1; J Gilpen, Orillia 2. Also started: B Yates, Orillia; B J White, J Craig, D Ward, J Churchill, D W McLaren, and S Robins. Time 6.23 1-5.

Russia Will Take Charge of the Porte With Britain and France at Her Back if Reforms are Not Carried Out

New York, Oct. 7.—The Evening Sun to-day prints the following cable from London:

It is learned upon unquestionable authority that Russia has undertaken to interfere actively in Turkish affairs unless the Porte carries out fully the long-delayed Armenian reforms. England and France agree to give their moral support.

RIFF PIRATES AGAIN.

The French Ship Corinte Boarded and Plundered and Her Captain Carried Away—Fight With a Spaniard.

Madrid, Oct. 9.—News has been received by the Government that the Riff pirates are again committing depredations upon passing vessels, having become bolder than ever. A strong band of Riffians boarded the French ship Corinte off Athucema, and, after pinioning the crew, plundered the ship's cargo. The Spanish steamer Sevilla, conveying Cuban exiles to Ceuta, appeared upon the scene and fired upon the pirates. The fire was returned, and a fight ensued which lasted some time. Four men on board the Sevilla were killed, including a Cuban prisoner named Oscar. The pirates finally retired, but carried with them the captain of the Corinte. A Spanish warship has gone in search of the pirates. Premier Canovas del Castillo, through Senor de Ascarraga, Minister of War, has ordered the Spanish diplomatic agent at Tangier to make an energetic protest to the Government of Morocco against the depredations of the Riffians, and the Government has hopes that France will join Spain in administering to the Riff outlaws such punishment as will put a stop to their acts of piracy in future.

IS IT HYPNOTISM?

People Gave Up Their Diamonds and Jewelry

FOR THE PROMOTION OF MISSIONS

Rev. A. B. Simpson, Formerly Pastor of Knox Church in Hamilton, Ont., Causes Intense Religious Fervor to Permeate His Audiences—$110,000 on the Plates.

New York, Oct. 12.—Outbursts of intense religious fervor marked the missionary meeting in Carnegie Hall yesterday morning. Hundreds of persons contributed $110,000 in jewelry, securities and cash to carry on the work of spreading the gospel.

It was the occasion of the sermon and offering in connection with the thirteenth annual convention of the Christian Missionary Alliance, the climax of two weeks of meetings. Men gave their watches, women their rings, children their pennies under the magic spell of simple sentences uttered by plain spoken missionaries from distant shores.

The hall was filled. There were some even in the topmost galleries. As at all such gatherings, the women were present in the greater numbers. They had gone early, and in the first rows of the main floor hardly a man was to be seen.

The Rev. A. B. Simpson, president and founder of the Alliance, delivered the missionary sermon. It was a simple address, describing the missionary endeavors of Philip, Peter, Paul and Barnabas. The point that he impressed on the audience was that the missionary was not a hero. He simply was paying his debts to God.

Then Mr. Simpson warmed to his subject, and his powerful voice filled the hall to its furthermost crannies, as, pointing to a large map of the world, he exclaimed tragically:

"Yonder 200,000 baby girls thrown to the dogs. Yonder, in Africa, 10,000,000 dying every year in the slave trade. Yonder, mothers daring not to weep for their children, flogged to death before their eyes. There in Spain, scores of insane from seeking in vain for salvation.

"You cannot go to them yourselves. Others will go in your places. In the name of a thousand million dying men, in the name of Calvary, I hand you the bill from the Master's hand. How much will you give?"

Ushers passed through the audience distributing pledge cards. On one side was a table showing that it cost $300 to support a missionary in Africa or China, $250 in India, $100 for a native preacher, $36 for a native female worker, $25 for a boy.

The offerings began to roll in. Mr. Simpson read off the pledges or called out the amount of the cash as it came in. "Twenty-five dollars, fifteen dollars, twelve hundred, a dollar from a boy of 7, five thousand." There were cries of "Hallelujah."

"An anonymous friend has contributed 10,000 shares of stock in a corporation, actual value $50,000," said Mr. Simpson. Some one started "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow," and handkerchiefs waved frantically everywhere.

For an hour the contributions continued. Now a cheque of $5000, now $1.35 in pennies, the offerings of a child, excited applause.

Those who had no money began offering jewelry. Miss Shepard, one of the missionary workers, took a stand at one end of the platform. A young girl in deep mourning laid her diamond ring at the feet of Miss Shepard. A colored man handed her his watch. Other watches and other rings followed in rapid succession till the end of the meeting.

Miss Shepard had seen such outbursts of enthusiasm at meetings before. To each who gave up a watch she gave a cheap but neat iron watch, engraved on the back of which was "Gold for iron, for Jesus' sake." Those who gave up their rings received an iron cross with the same inscription.

It was impossible to count the money as fast as it went in, but at the afternoon meeting it was announced that the morning collection had netted $110,000, more than $80,000 being in cash and stocks, the rest in pledges.

D. L. Moody spoke at the afternoon and evening meetings, and the crowd was even larger than before. Collections were taken up at both meetings, increasing the amount raised in the morning by several thousands of dollars.

Rev. A. B. Simpson is well known in Canada, and particularly in Toronto and Hamilton. Twenty-five years or so ago he was pastor of Knox Church in Hamilton and was very popular. Early in the seventies he went to New York, but has only become specially prominent in late years, since he became so successful in preaching money, jewelry and other valuables out of people for the cause of missions. On former occasions he has secured thousands of dollars in value by his unaccountable power of persuasion.

HORRIBLE STATE OF AFFAIRS.

The Waters of the Bosphorus Full of the Bodies of Young Turks.

Berlin, Oct. 12.—Persistent stories are in circulation to the effect that carts loaded with corpses emerge at night from the Central Prison and hurry off in the direction of the Bosphorus. These victims are supposed to be young Turks. French divers are refusing to work in the Bosphorus, owing to the horrible collection of corpses that they meet while pursuing their labors under water. In an interview Tewfik Pasha, the Foreign Minister, gave in detail the reforms that the Sultan proposes to apply to the whole Empire. He said that the great expense entailed by these reforms would be met by granting new monopolies if the Powers will give their consent. With these and peace, Turkey, he added, would surmount her financial troubles. In conclusion, Tewfik Pasha declared that the Government was resolved to continue the construction of the Asiatic Railway to Bagdad, thus opening up the resources of Anatolia and providing an overland route to India.

The Lokal Anzeiger has a despatch from Constantinople saying that the anti-Sultan movement among the Softas (theological students) is growing. They have circulated another revolutionary proclamation.

Nehemet Pasha, an Imperial aide, was shot yesterday at the Yildiz Palace on suspicion that he was implicated in the Young Turkey agitation.

DEAD DRUNK AT THREE.

Some Mean Individual Filled Johnny Murphy With Whisky.

New York, Oct. 8.—Thomas Murphy is only 3 years old, but he is a patient in the Hudson-street Hospital, suffering from alcoholism and acute gastritis. The little fellow was in great pain in his home yesterday afternoon, and somebody, thinking to relieve his suffering, poured a large quantity of whisky down his throat. Just who did this is not clear. A neighbor went to the Leonard-street Police Station and told Captain Cross that some one had got the child intoxicated, and that Tommy was extremely sick.

Captain Cross sent Detective Mangan to the house of Thomas' parents, at No. 47 Laight-street. In their rooms on the third floor Mangan found a mixed-ale party. The mother, Ellen Murphy, and the father, Patrick, were "mellow" from imbibing too much ale. It was believed at first that the child would die, but Dr. Brown, after working over the little sufferer for a long time, said he considered him out of danger.

A PRISONER KILLED

Tragedy in the Penitentiary at Kingston.

CONVICT GEORGE HOWELL SHOT.

He Was a Troublesome Customer and on This Occasion Defied the Guards—Armed With a Pair of Shears He Threatened to Disembowel Guard Donnelly.

Kingston, Ont., Oct. 8.—About 3.30 o'clock this afternoon, while endeavoring to overcome George Howell, a negro confined in the prison of isolation at the Penitentiary and remove him to the dungeon, a dire tragedy occurred and Howell is a dead man. He was about 30 years of age. In 1886 he was sent from Windsor for life for rape. His conduct has been very bad, his attacks on guards and convicts being brutal.

His last act, which put him into the prison of isolation, was to assault Guard Kerrigan. Guard Donnelly reported Howell for insubordination to-day and Warden Metcalfe ordered his deprivation of light.

The order was read to him, when he went into a rage, and, seizing a pair of shears, threatened Donnelly with disembowelment if he removed the lamp.

The dispute continued until Warden Metcalf called on officers to remove the convict to the dungeon. The negro gripped the shears and defied the posse.

There was an exciting five minutes while the guards parleyed with him. When he made a spring at one, after repeated orders to throw down his weapon, there was a report and Howell fell back on his bed. His head was pierced by a bullet entering his left eye. He continued to pour forth oaths and imprecations until death relieved him at 7 o'clock.

An inquest will be held.

AUSTRALIANS AT CHICAGO.

Fifteen Men Against Them Only Scored 105 the First Innings.

Chicago, Oct. 8.—The Australian cricketers arrived here yesterday for their two days' game with the Wanderers' selected Chicago team.

Speaking of their bad defeat in Philadelphia, Giffen said that the best team undoubtedly won, and that [illegible] had no excuse to offer. He spoke in the highest terms of young Lester, who made such a wonderful record for Haverford College in its tour last summer in England, and is of the opinion that he will be the best batsman in America in a few years. They are all highly enthusiastic over their tour in England, and all agree in saying that Ranjisinghi is the champion of England.

The Australians expressed their curiosity to see Anson and Pfeffer of the Chicago Baseball Club at the bat. Captain Fraser intends placing Anson at mid off and Pfeffer at extra cover point, two of the most important positions in the field.

At the close of play to-day at the Wentworth-avenue grounds the visitors held an advantage, needing but 38 runs to equal the total of the locals' first venture and having seven wickets to fall. The locals, who played fifteen men, batted first, their efforts resulting in a total of 105, a creditable performance, considering the quality of the visitors' bowling.

Davis and Gilchrist were the chief performers for Chicago, the former batting for ninety minutes for his runs. Many of the other players seemed possessed of stage fright, and were dismissed in easy fashion. Captain Anson and Pfeffer scored five and six respectively, both making good hits. Both received an ovation on going to the wicket.

In the field the visitors were occasionally brilliant, but the cold weather had a deterrent effect on their activity. Gregory was the pick of the lot, his returns to the wicket being smart and accurate. The Australians had sixty minutes' batting, and, though starting badly, were put on a better footing by the brilliant hitting of Darling, who gave the best exhibition seen in Chicago this year. Five times he sent the ball clean over the fence, and when time was called was not out for 47. He gave one chance at the wicket. Trumble was well caught by Balster at cover point after making 11. Iredale scored 1 and Donnan 1. Gregory was not out, and the remaining batsmen are Kelly, Giffen, Trott, Eady, Graham and McKibbin. Play will be resumed to-morrow.

THE SHOOTING WAS JUSTIFIABLE

So the Jurors Say in Regard to the Killing of the Convict Howell at the Kingston Penitentiary.

Kingston, Oct. 9.—At the inquest into the Penitentiary tragedy to-night the coroner's jury returned the following verdict: "That the said George Howell came to his death by a shot from a revolver, fired by the chief keeper, W. S. Hughes, in the discharge of his duty, and we are of opinion that according to the evidence, such shooting by the chief keeper was justifiable. The jury recommend that in future, when desperate criminals have to be dealt with, precaution be adopted, in the management of the same, so that there may be no repetition of such a lamentable affair."

THE QUEEN'S SYMPATHY

As Expressed to the Widow of the Archbishop of Canterbury—Messages From Many Eminent People.

London, Oct. 12.—The Queen has sent the following message to the widow of the Archbishop of Canterbury: "I am stunned by the awful news. My heart is bleeds for you, but my own sorrow is great. I was so fond of the dear, kind, excellent Archbishop."

The Court Circular expresses the grief of Her Majesty and says that she feels that the country has sustained a serious loss by the death of the eminent primate, while she has lost a friend for whom she had strong regard and affection. THEY TELL AN AWFUL STORY.

Arctic Whaling Fleet Had Mutinies, Fighting Scraps, Desertions, a Duel and a Poor Catch.

San Francisco, Oct. 12.—The first news from the whaling fleet in the Arctic was brought in yesterday by the steamer Tender Jennie, which arrived in a dilapidated condition with 53,600 pounds of bone for the Pacific Whaling Co. It is a story of deaths, desertions, fighting scraps, a duel, mutiny, and, to crown all, a poor catch. The entire fleet took only 43 whales.

The crew of the Baylies mutinied in the Sea of Okhotsk, and the master was obliged to surrender his ship, which was headed for home at once. Captain Mason of the Jennie reports that last winter was the most severe ever experienced in the Arctics, and the summer was correspondingly cold. The men suffered terribly, and desertions from the fleet at the mouth of the McKenzie River were frequent. There was a general exodus at one time, and five men out of the crew got away. They have not been heard of since. The others were brought up when a shower of bullets went after them from the pursuing officers. One of the fugitives was wounded.

Among those who died during the winter were William Misher, second mate, of the barque John, and Winthrop; Harry Williams, a cabin boy of the barque Wanderer, and Jas. Leary, second mate of the steamer Belvidera.

There was a sanguinary encounter on the steamer Balaena during the winter. Chief Officer H. P. Bowen and Second Mate Frank Jones quarrelled. The trouble was patched up for a time, but finally it broke out again and the men came to blows. Then a duel on the ice was arranged, and Jones was mortally wounded. He died a few hours later, and was buried at Herschel Island. Bowen is under arrest, and will be brought to San Francisco for trial. The Balaena and Grampers wintered in Franklin Bay, and the former reported four deaths and the latter two deaths.

Criminal Statistics.

The criminal statistics for the year ending Sept. 30, 1895, have been issued from Ottawa. The convictions in Canada for all offences, minor and serious, number 37,585, or one conviction to each 134 inhabitants, a slight increase as compared with 1894. The convictions for indictable or serious offences were 5474, and the summary convictions were 32,111, 11,558 of the latter being for drunkenness. For indictable offences 4412 were first convictions and the proportion of convictions for serious offences for each 10,000 inhabitants ranged from 3.57 in Prince Edward Island to 24.54 in British Columbia. The proportion in Ontario was 12.90. The trials for murder were 20, resulting in 5 convictions and 10 acquittals, the remainder being disagreements, etc. There were 194 commutations and pardons.

He Deliberately Walked Through Prospect Park at Niagara Falls and Jumped to His Death.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., Oct. 12.—An unknown man about 35 years of age, 5 feet 7 inches tall, dressed in a cinnamon colored overcoat, walked through Prospect Park this afternoon about 2 o'clock down to the point, and in the presence of two men deliberately mounted the parapet and jumped into the water, and in an instant was swept over the American Falls. He left his hat on the stone curbing with 40 cents in it. There is no clue as to his identity. The body has not yet been recovered.

G.T.R. Cutting Down the Hours.

London, Ont., Oct. 12.—Notice has been posted up in the Grand Trunk roundhouse here to the effect that the working hours of the fitters and assistants, blacksmiths and assistants, machine men, tinsmiths and carpenters would hereafter be from 8 to 12 a.m. and 1 to 5 p.m. each day, excepting Saturday, when the shops would close at noon.

A well selected text is half of the sermon. Given a good text and a preacher who is in earnest, and the result is sure to be good. The text of this article is a plain simple statement that proves itself in the reader's own mind without argument. The text is "Good health is better than great riches."

Without health nothing really matters very much. A hacking cough takes all the beauty out of a landscape or a sunset. Erysipelas or eczema will spoil the enjoyment of sprightly conversation, of a beautiful concert, of a wonderful painting. The biggest bank account in the world won't pay a man for his health, but a very small amount of money will make him healthy and keep him healthy.

Most all bodily troubles start in the digestive or respiratory organs. It is here that improper living first makes an opening for disease. The development differs as constitutions and temperaments differ. The causes are almost identical. To get at the root of the matter is simple enough if you start right.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a medicine for the whole body. It works through the digestive organs on all the others.

It cures the first thing it comes to and after that, the next. It puts health in place of disease in the stomach, and from the vantage ground thus gained, it reaches every fiber of the body and drives disease before it—indigestion, liver troubles, kidney complaint, biliousness, skin and scalp diseases, salt-rheum, tetter, eczema, and all the troubles caused by impure blood.

MANY A MAN

Gets into grievous trouble because he will not take time to tihink a matter over—a little good Scotch caution is an excellent thing to be infected with, and personal observation will prove the truth of our statement every time.

MANY A WOMAN

Having the care and worry of a household on her mind—with its thousand-and-one troubles, and may be, pinchingrto make the outgo tally with the income—many a woman, we say, might have peace of mind and a snug "nest-egg" at the year's end by doing a little thinking over her grocery bills.

MANY A GROCER

Thinks he is "in the inside ring" with the wholesale houses, but there are always others who can go him one better. It's but the rule of life exemplified over and over again. We have no particular "cinch" on the wholesale houses, but we do buy our goods at prices that enable us to devote particular attention to family trade, and we are confident that our customers in the main get a better quality of goods than they could obtain elsewhere.

Think it over at your leisure. We feel confident that the housekeeper who gives us her year's provisioning to look after will save enough by the transaction to pay for a handsome new dress, at any rate,—perhaps more.
