A Sure Relief From Choking. A correspondent writes: Whenever l read of a case of choking in any paper l always endeavor to send the same paper a sure and certain relief for choking that has never yet failed. The remedy is simply this: To immediately reverse the upright position of the body, supported by the hands and feet elevated, when instant relief will be obtained and the obstruction will fall from the mouth. A child can be seized by the legs and head turned down, and relief will be instantaneous. Several lives have been saved by this treatment and I have received several grateful letters advising me of its success when death

The removal of the earth has revealed the fact that the timbers and braces of the dam itself are badly decayed, and it should be rebuilt next season.

—The tramway spanning the river from Sadler Dundas & Co's mill to the railway switch on the north side has been rebuilt and the endless wire car is again in opera tion. While the work was in progress all grain had to be carted to and from the cars, as was the case before the construction of the tramway, and some days it took six or eight teams to do the work.

-During noon-hour on Thursday of last week Mr Sanderson, living near Dunsford, left his team standing untied on Victoria avenue, and when the 12.40 train was assending the avenue they took fright and bolted towards the engine. Luckily the horses crossed the track, but the engine struck the wagon amidships and demolish-ed it. The incident should be a warning to farmers to tie their horses securely before leaving them.

-We were in error last week when we credited Mr. A. F. D. MacGachen with wheeling from town to Oakwood in 25 minutes - it was Messrs. Gregory and Matthie who made that record, but the effort so exhausted them that Mr. Mac-Gachen, who started at the same time, passed them at the twelve-mile point and easily led them the balance of the 21-mile run. The annual fall G.T.R. excursion to Midland and Bracebridge, instituted a few years ago, is rapidly growing in popularity. Last week two special trains were required to carry the excursionists—the first, in charge of Conductor Hewson, started at Cobourg and reached Lindsay via the old road about 9.30, 11 coaches being attached, drawn by two engines. To accommodate the 160 Lindsayites who wished to take advantage of the trip it was found necessary to make up a second train of five coaches, which left via Blackwater in charge of Conductor Pethick. -The high estimation in which the young men of THE Post staff are held by the young ladies of the neighboring towns is attested by the following extract from a letter which we unintentionally overheard being read: "To-morrow is Sunday, and we will have an awful dull time. As the young men here are so very timid, we wish you would come down and spend the day with us. Bring — and — (mentioning several favorites), and we will enter-tain you all royally. Please don't disap-point us." The above request was signed by several estimable young ladies, and we hope our young men were gallant enough to concede their request.

Strides of a Canadian Institution. It is over a quarter of a century since the Family Herald and Weekly Star of Mont real, was established, and it certainly grows better with age. During the past eight months it has made greater strides towards perfection than during any five years of its history. Well may it astonish American publishers that the Family Herald and Weekly Star can give so much for a dollar a year. It is no exaggeration to say that it is the most welcomed, while it is absolutely the most entertaining visitor, that comes to tens of thousands of Canadian Homes. The Family Herald and Weekly Star has passed the point where other publishers might be jealous of it, because it is emphatically the leader and without a competitor. No home can be dull or unthrifty where the Family Herald and Weekly Star is taken. All Canadian publishers wish it well, for it deserves it, and we see that only a dollar a year secures it and its beautiful premium, "The Orphan's Prayer."

Finance in the Sunday School. The Sunday school needed money and Mr. Smart, the superintendent, had a new way of getting it.

He proposed giving each boy half a dollar. At the end of a month the principal, together with what it earned, was to be returned to him.

The scheme was good, but it didn't work quite as Mr. Smart had anticipated. Tue fourth Sunday found the superintendent ready to audit the profit and loss accounts, and he commenced with Jimmy

"How have you done, Jimmy!"
"My half-dollar has earned another one," said Jimmy, with the air of one having an option on a halo. "Good," said the superintendent, "not only is Jimmy a good boy in helping the but he shows business talent Doubling one's money in a single month requires no common ability. Who can tell but what we may have another budding capitalist among us? Jimmy, you have done well. "Aud now, Harry W., how much has your half-dollar earned?"

"Lost it," said Harry. "What, not only failed to earn anything but actually lost," said Mr. Smart. "How "Please, sir, I tossed with Jimmy," was the reply, "and he won."-Tableau.

The Deer Hunting Regulations. We take the following from he Bobesygeon Independent, hoping that it may interest some of our sporting readers :-SIR,-As there is a great deal of talk with regard to our game law, I for one, who have hunted for 40 years, feel very much disappointed, for I had the assurance from the head of the government that no matter what change was made in the act it would not affect the people in the back country. I took that for grant-ed, but I am sadly deceived to think that such an act could be passed in a free country like our beloved Ontario. It is too galling to think of for a moment. If it was in Abyssinia or Ashantee, we might give it only a passing thought that it was the act of a despot. We often sing that for where under heaven is there a country that will charge one of her subjects $2 for the privilege to shoot a deer to get a piece of meat for his family. Nowhere but in Ontario, where we have an act with a lie stamped on the face of it, that her gracious majesty ever signed such a thing is a falsehood of the grossest kind, for her loving nature would not allow her to deprive one of her subjects of a piece of meat when he could get it no other way, no, never, but has its origin with some miserable aristo-crat, who is something like an old lady who was in this country some time ago and said an egg was a nice morsel, if it help the rich, for the poor can beg. The whole object is to shut off the poor that the rich may have all. Many a poor man in the back country could bear me witness and family by taking his gun and going to the woods. And how many men to day have not the $2 to pay? The law was hard enough as it was to limit a man to hand or voice against such an act. If so, their days are numbered, for we will put men in who will not bind us down with any such uncalled for act of tyranny. Some say they can take a man's gun from him if he is in his canoe to see his trape.

Do You Want Money? I am prepared to lend money on good farm property at lowest rates. No lawyers' fees. R. G. CORNEIL, 8, William-st.-34-6.

Runaway. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Grandy, who live near Omemee, drove into town last Friday with a load of apples to sell from house to house. About noon Mr. Grandy halted bis team opposite Mr. Thos. Brady s, and leaving the lines with Mrs. Grandy he proceeded to call at the houses close by. While absent the horses took fright, presumably at sight of two little girls clad in brilliant red dresses, and finding she was unable to restrain them Mrs. Grandy wise-ly jumped out of the wagon while she had a chance to do so without risk of injury.

The horses only ran a couple of hundred yards, being caught near the R.P. track, Lindsay Post Office. The half-yearly enumeration was taken at the Lindsay post office during the week ending Ost. 3rd, and the statistics forwarded to the department by Postmaster Gladman were as follows: Canada letters..... 5 890 Foreign letters Foreign post cards.....

Newspapers, etc..... Photos, deeds, printers' copy, etc .. Parcels by parcel post The above figures show a considerable gain over the last enumeration, the revenue being over $30 greater, which represents a yearly gain of $1,560, To Correspondents.

We take the following from the Whitby sent to THE Post occasionally by news All the world loves a lover, and it is nice for young people to do a little sparking, here not the $2 to par? The law was hard should be was to limit a man to two deer, without two dollars. Now here is a case in point: I take my title and go into the woods for siz or saven miles and the woods mailtageaute daughters have got, they are two fawns, and when i saven had some mailtageaute daughters at their courts his. The saven had not allow tones have not had not allow tones had not allow tones had not allow tones had not size to us that he did not allow tones had not save the young man that drove up the side line last Sunday with the tail bay horse and the yellow part? We are on to you should make your visits terminate before the wee sma hours. Thus minate before the wee sma hours. Thus had or voice against such an act. If so, newspaper correspondents not only refer offensively to the young man's visit, but they make a base insinuation to the effect that he stayed until daylight. We have frequently written that it is the business of a newspaper to try to do good, and the writer who has space at his command should seek to benefit instead of injuring those around him. One is quite often If so, the sooner the government takes these things into their consideration the better, for it may save bloodshed, for no man who has the least drop of Anglo-Saxon blood in his veins will permit such least drop of Anglo-Saxon blood in his veins will be a least drop of Anglo-Saxon blood in his veins will be a least drop of Anglo-Saxon blood in his veins will be a least drop of Anglo-Saxon blood in his veins will be a least drop of Anglo-Saxon blood in his veins will be a least drop of Anglo-Saxon blood in his veins will be a least drop of Anglo-Saxon b JAS.
