HON. MR, HARDY REPLIES. While attending the opening ceremonies of a recently organized Liberal club at West Toronto Junction, Hon. Mr. Hardy referred at some length to Mr. Whitney's and Mr. St. John's recent campaign utterances. It is hardly necessary to state ous and effective. He criticized sharply some of Mr. Whitney's vain boastings, solid and more united front than they had had his house clap-boarded and painted ... in any campaign in his memory. He Mr. George Train is putting up a kitchen ridiculed most effectively the spectacle of and woodshed Who says our village is such narrow partisans as Messrs. Whitney and St. John inviting liberals to leave is visiting at Mr. Alex. Watson's Miss their own party and join the local opposition. This would indirectly help Sir our assistant teacher, who was on the sick Chas. Tupper and his crowd of now needy | list last week for a few days, is able to take camp followers to get their hands on the Ontario surplus. The same crowd would like nothing better than to exploit the proceeds to go to assist the Protestant grand resources of this province. Mr. support no combination or party that would lead to such an untoward result is well-founded. An examination of the speeches of the opposition leaders satisfies excitement that Kinmount has ever had, for been detailed to keep an eye on the hunters the candid electors that there is nothing of placer mining being conducted in our but reckless denunciation of the Ontario | village. government, and as all the influence that Sir Chas. Whitney to infuse enthusiasm into his tory organs have not yet been able to develop catch phrases similar to those

This shows great barrenness of invention and a lack of party enthusiasm that is not creditable. Surely Mr. St. St. John and his pig is not going to have a monopoly of the party cries of the campaign.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The year book shows that there have been only 139 divorces granted in Canada since confederation, of which fifty-seven were parliamentary decrees. Canada's so-called expensive divorces do not seem to be at all popular.

A worse enemy than the lumber or pulp wood men has struck the Canadian timber limits. It is a worm which in some parts of the States is causing great havoc. In New Brunswick it is said some tracts of forest must be burned. After all, it may be better to judiciously utilize our timber and give the people the benefit of its value than to leave it to the worms or forest fires.

The United Canada (Catholic) has the following to say of our townsman : Mr. J. to dare A. Barron, Q.C., ex-M.P., of Lindsay, is Many other things I've noticed which appear to me said to be anxious to retire from politics, and is a poor man. If he retires before the Ontario campaign is over, his absence may cost the liberals in Ontario more So one simple thing I'll mention and my feeble rhyme than thay can afford to lose. Mr. Barron In all that stretch of country over which is to the Ontario liberals to-day what Dalton McCarthy was to the conservatives Where every man is privileged to work for what craves, at the time Sir John christened him the Twould be hard to find a people more hospitably "brains of the party." but he would be welcomed in before now. Dundas Banner: How would it do take that lonesome porker out of his palatial sty, grease him all over, turn him loose, and then if Mr. St. John catches him he can keep him? It seems too bad that the porker should be eating his head off when the Whitneyites are just dying for something to turn into a political issue. Let loose the pig. Hi, there, Mr. St. John! Now you've got him. Now you've haven't! Every time you catch him you get a vote. Go it, greaser! Go it, St. John! And the porker is still

In connection with the nomination of Mr. A. Pirie, of the Dundas True Banner, for North Wentworth, in the local house, an interesting controversy is going on in the Toronto and western papers as to the authorship of a well-known poem about "A Pirie standing at the gate." It has been ascribed to L. P. Kribs, of the Empire that was, but he modestly declines BOOKStore the honor and says it was not written by the alleged joker of the Hamilton Spectator. We are surprised at the limited acquaintance with English literature displayed by our contemporaries in discussing the authorship of these famous verses. They first appeared in this journal some years ago, and were composed by one Francis Bacon, of Verulam township, in the county of Victoria -- on the north side of Sturgeon Lake. We quote from memory the opening lines :

One day A. Pirie at the gate Of Wentworth stood, so tall and straight, The ladies cried, O! aint he swa'e, The men said he could not be bate, By a big majority.
