THINKING PEOPLE

Look for several points in a present, and the new goods we are showing this Fall possess these points and other good ones besides.

A Present Must be Appropriate to the occasion, and we have articles suitable for about any and every imaginable need for which a gift is required.

It should be useful, and nothing in the line of presents fills the bill in this respect so fully as the great display of articles to be found in our store.

It must be Beautiful.

Ah! just so. Our stock presents beauty in a high degree and in such variety that the only difficulty in making a selection is to decide what you want take, where everything is so temptingly attractive.

It must be the Best so that the giver shall have no uneasy doubts as to its wearing qualities. We keep only the best, and the purchaser can rest contented in the knowledge that the quality is right—what it should be.

There are other desirable points to look for in a present, and we can say further of our goods.

They are novel.

The newest productions of skilled artificers, new in design, quaint and original to a marked degree, and are not at all likely to be duplicated.

They are durable and have been chosen with a view to this very desirable quality that they may for a long time remain pleasing reminders of the donors.

They are cheap, but not in the cheap meaning of the word. They are cheap in the higher and better sense which takes into account all the above mentioned attributes that make them THINGS OF BEAUTY AND JOYS FOREVER.

Don't forget that this is THE Watch and Jewellery repairing establishment of the MIDDLE DISTRICT.

The Canadian Post.

CHARLES D. BARR, PROPRIETOR

ECHOES FROM THE CAPITAL.

Premier Abbott acknowledges Mr. Chapleau as French Canadian. Statement—Mr. Chapleau's friends triumphant.

An Ottawa despatch appeared in the ministerial organs last Friday as follows:—So many rumors having appeared in the press with reference to the position of Mr. Chapleau and the cabinet that the following statement was authorized to-day to be made public by the premier, with the concurrence of Mr. Chapleau:

"A conference took place a few days ago between the premier and the secretary of state on the subject of the department of railways and canals. Some of Mr. Chapleau's friends have long been anxious that he should be placed at the head of that branch of the government, but Mr. Chapleau, realizing that a transfer at the present time from his department of the secretary of state to that above mentioned would be attended with some embarrassment to the government, finally decided to decline the offer. He stated that he would not press any claim which might have to the portfolio of railways and canals. He stated that he would not be a candidate for the position of secretary of state in the event of a re-organization of the government than if he had received the portfolio, and as it had been Mr. Chapleau's intention from the first that the railways or public works should go to one of the Quebec ministers, there was no longer any difficulty on that point."

"A great deal of surprise has attended the rumored resignation of the secretary of state—far more than has been justified by the facts. All the ministers attending Mr. Chapleau, yesterday placed their portfolios unreservedly at the disposal of the premier, so as to leave his hands perfectly free as to the choice of those who are to assist him in the various departments when the re-organization takes place. All hold their portfolios in the meantime as before. It is impossible to say definitely at the present moment what position may be accorded to any particular minister, but it will be found when the re-organization is completed that Mr. Chapleau's influence among his fellow-countrymen, have not been overlooked, and that his abilities will be made available for an important post in the government."

SURRENDER AND HUMILIATION.

"It is a surrender and humiliation all round," said a prominent ministerialist this morning referring to the latest deal between Mr. Abbott and Mr. Chapleau. "I am surprised at Mr. Abbott," he continued. "We thought he had some backbone, and the whole party outside of the Chapleauites were encouraging him to stand firm. But he has made a disgraceful break. He has made promises and conditions which cannot be carried out, and which will only result in fresh trouble in the near future. Why has he promised that Quebec shall have either the railway or the public works department? It is wholly wrong to make any such stipulation. If a Quebec minister is the best man for one or the other of those departments by all means give it to him, but such bargains as he has committed himself to wreck the party. It is humiliating the country too much. It is disposing of the great public departments

AS ROBBERS DIVIDE THEIR SPOIL.

In the first place Mr. Abbott has no business to make public, by means of a document revised with his own hand, the conditions he has made with Mr. Chapleau. That is blunder number one. Then he admits, what some of the conservative papers have been strenuously denying, that Mr. Chapleau was actually on strike, and he has not helped Mr. Chapleau because, for the present at all events, he has nothing but new promises, which can be repudiated, as the reward of his rebellion. Then we have the further admission of opposition to Mr. Chapleau's promotion by the members of his own party. The "chick" has brought the business of government in this country to a very low level."

AND WHAT ABOUT CABINET RECONSTRUCTION?

"So far as I can hear, nothing will be done beyond filling the existing vacancies. Mr. Meredith has been offered the place vacated by Sir John Macdonald's death, and may accept, though the Macpherson clan will make a vigorous fight for Mr. Kirkpatrick. Mr. Meredith fills all the gaps, so that the old crowd will continue. Mr. Haggart, you see, is to remain, and unless Caron goes there is no room for anyone else. Then I am going to stay at the head of the interior department, and that Mr. M. P. for Yale, if Abbott keeps his word, and then I have for him. He has now the power to construct a good clean ministry, but seems to lack the courage to cut away any of the rotten timber. Outlines a good. He has not an idea beyond his own petty selfish ends. Each minister pretends to see so the premier. Here is my portfolio, and out of the cabinet and I will wreck your government. That is the real position of affairs."

A CHAPLEAUITE'S VIEWS.

A representative French Canadian who interested himself in the alleged trouble between Premier Abbott and Mr. Chapleau was in the city to-day. In conversation he said:—"Mr. Abbott and Mr. Chapleau have played a fine card for the province of Quebec as against the province of Ontario in this reported difficulty which is said to have occurred between them."

"Do you mean to say there was no genuine trouble between them?"

"Of course not. The whole thing was a blind to deceive the people of Ontario while Mr. Abbott and Mr. Chapleau were secretly engaged in 'pouting' the department of the province of Quebec. Mr. Chapleau, for instance, pretended that he would resign if he did not get the railways and canals department, and that Mr. Abbott was reported as being at daggers drawn with the secretary of state opposing his demands. Western Ontario was applauding Mr. Abbott for resisting the demands of the premier, while both ministers were engaged in allotting the best of the departments to their own province."

"But no department has yet been allotted to Mr. Outlines."

"That's where the work of the secret conclave comes in. It is of little consequence whether it is Mr. Outlines or any of the other Quebec ministers get the public works department since Mr. Chapleau has got the pledge of Mr. Abbott that it will go to Quebec. What Mr. Chapleau has been fighting for is that Quebec shall have a better representation in the cabinet than ever it had in the past."

HE WORKED THE WATCH GAME.—A certain horse dealer up Manila way who prides himself on possessing more than an average share of common sense in trading and in seeing through other people's little games was down here the other day, and got badly left in a watch trade in an amusing way. A respected and elderly citizen who takes a little now and then was known to have a valuable gold watch worth at least $65. The Manila man saw the elderly citizen's watch and was not slow in noticing that he handled a magnificent gold time-piece stumped him for a trade. The old man hesitated but finally said he would trade for $100 worth of goods. The Manila man was not slow in accepting the trade, but the genuine $65 one. It was one of those barking pointer prize gold watches that can be bought wholesale for $4 a dozen. The old man had made some "unbeknownst" to the Manila man, and the boys are delighted at the way the latter got left. Still even a prize barking pointer "gold" watch is not to be sneezed at.

BADDOW.

SURPRISE AND PRESENTATION.—Mr. Wm. Suggit having moved into his new house on Tuesday, the 3rd of November, his numerous friends around Baddow availed themselves of the opportunity of giving expression to their feelings and the high esteem in which they hold Mr. Suggit and family by meeting together on Thursday evening, the 5th inst., then marching to the new home of Mr. Suggit and family.

Although the house has just been built in large—the front part 22x35 feet, with a kitchen 12x25 feet—yet in two or three minutes it was comfortably filled. The young people immediately after entering started to enjoy themselves by engaging in a number of innocent plays, a social chat and discussed the topics of the day in a neighborly way. Then about nine o'clock the company gathered as closely together as possible, when Mr. and Mrs. Suggit were presented with two very handsome upholstered chairs with platform rockers, a beautiful lamp, and a chair, who yet remains at home with them, a comfortable rocking chair, after which the following address was read by the Rev. Mr. Garbutt:—"To Mr. Suggit and family, we have met tonight to give expression to our appreciation of your self-sacrifice in the way of your giving to this community, and to our admiration of your worthy christian example as friend and neighbor. We are glad to see you in a time of prosperity, thus fulfilling the apostolic injunction to rejoice with those who rejoice, and we trust that your generous hands have always accompanied your hearty sympathy. Please accept these gifts for yourselves, and as a memento from your many friends in Baddow. May the Lord bless you and your family, and when life's duties are over, may you be able to say, 'I have done my duty, and I have done it well.'"

Then the Rev. Mr. Garbutt replied in behalf of Mr. and Mrs. Suggit, thanking the people very much for their kindness towards them. Mr. Day gave expressions to his feelings in words to Mr. and Mrs. Suggit and family. There was also vocal instrumental music at intervals. The company partook of the bountiful supper provided for the occasion by the ladies at about one o'clock, after which the company dispersed for their respective homes highly pleased with the evening's entertainment. Mr. Suggit has always been ready with a helping hand towards the poor, and we trust that it may be God's will to spare him longer in our midst and that those easy chairs may be a comfort to them in the ripe old age, and when God sees fit to remove them from among us that they may have a seat with the glorified.

BADDOW.—

Mr. George Goodhand and family have removed from Fenelon Falls to Baddow. He intends to hire four or five men to work in the bush. The time has come when the sound of the saw is to be heard from the bush to another. Mr. George and Arthur Fielder are at home for a few days' rest after their summer work at the Longford mill. Mr. Thomas Clemence having taken a job to cut and draw the pine of a hundred acres in the back country, three days drive from here, has already gone with four men and a team to commence work. We wish him success.

MUSKOKA.

A HUNTER'S AWFUL FATE.—More than a month since an Englishman named David Allen, who resided in the Magallowan district, and who spent considerable of his time hunting, started out to examine his traps, but failed to return. For ten days an uninterrupted search was kept up in the woods, it being supposed that he had wandered away and become lost. The search was unproductive of results, however. The mystery surrounding his fate was accidentally unveiled Friday by two hunters, who chanced to look in a cove of bushes. Lying upon the ground, face downward, was the dead body of the hunter, and the condition of the body and the ground showed that had met a horrible death from starvation. Both of his hands were securely fastened in a bear trap. He had evidently been in the act of setting the trap when by some means the trap closed upon his wrists with a vice-like grip. Unable to release himself and with no hope of making his voice heard in that vast wilderness, he suffered the most excruciating months of torture and agony, and exposure combined ended his existence. His wrists were frightfully lacerated where an attempt had been made to wrench his hands free.

SOCIETY PARTY.—Last week some young people of Creswell and vicinity organized a surprise party for the home of Mr. Tom Chase, prior to his departure for Mariposa Station, where he is engaged on the section. Mr. Chase has been an estimable citizen of Creswell for some time, and his leaving is greatly regretted. The surprise party was a most successful one, and was provided with plenty of good things. A very pleasant evening was spent by all, and after a deal of amusement and an excellent repast the party broke up at an hour. The success of the enterprise reflects credit upon the organizers. We hope Mr. and Mrs. Chase and family will enjoy their home.

LACONICS.—

Turnips are mostly all taken up. Lots of ploughing to be done yet. Roads good and hard as yet. Turnips are very busy finishing up fall work.

PERSONAL.—

Miss Woodward of Canington is visiting at her uncle's, Mr. Peter Smith, a well-known evangelist in the vicinity.

I. O. G. T.—An open lodge will be held on Friday, the 20th inst., under the auspices of the I. O. G. T. in the Congregational church, Creswell. Rev. Mr. Spence of Oakwood is to deliver a lecture on "Temperance" on that occasion. Mr. Spence's reputation is a well-known guarantee for the quality of the lecture. Mr. Frank White, teacher of 7th con. school, has also promised to address the meeting. Charles Mudd will be rendered by the lodge choir. All are welcome.

The Creswell Division I. O. G. T. have a good bill of fare, as all can plainly see; they hold open lodge on the 20th inst. and extend to all a cordial invitation.

TORONTO.

RESPONSIBLE FOR A DIPHTHERIA CASE.—Mr. Justice Rose severely censured the city of Toronto on Thursday in giving judgment in an action instituted against the corporation by a man named McDonald, whose children contracted diphtheria from a dump at the end of their street. The judge said that he would not do his duty officially as a citizen if he did not express his opinion as to the negligence of the city in depositing that decaying matter in such a public place. The jury awarded McDonald $333 damages.
