A Fashionable Wedding. An event that created a flutter of pleasurable anticipation in the fashionable world of Lindsay for the past few weeks took place in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church Thanks-giving day, at i p.m., being the marriage of Mr. William A. Carlyle of McGill college, Montreal, and Miss Helen M. Spier, daughter of Mr. Robt. Spier, and one of Lindsay's most popular and charming young ladies. The church—which had been decorated for the occasion by the young ladies of the congregation—was filled to the doors long before the stated hour. and many were unable to obtain even standing room. As the Rev. Robert Johnston, pastor, pronounced the solemn words of the marriage service over the young couple, the scene was a pretty and impressive one, the mellow light from the cathedral glass windows, and the handsome costumes of the ladies aiding to produce the effect. Dr. John R. Spier of McGill college, brother of the bride, acted as groomsman; the bride, who looked charming indeed in a costume of white satin, with the customary veil and orange blossoms, was assisted by Miss Annie Hall of Peterboro, also most becomingly attired. Mr. George M. at 4 p.m., being the marriage of Mr. William A. century, after designs furnished by Chin Sing Foo, an eminent Chinese architect. This will account not only for its frowsy general appearance, but also for the, to us, curious arrangement of the seats, the reserved section, for the first families, being at the rear, and the "gallery" occupying all the front space. While interesting as an illustration of the Chinese methods of doing everything cart-before-horse, this plan is far from satisfactory to lecturers of the Caucasian race, who find it unpleasant to have in their immediate presence a rabble of boys, while the more intelligent and appreciative audience is almost invisible in the dim distance. Lindsay could afford to build a new hall, and have it arranged on modern, western-world principles, but for some reason—probably a mistaken veneration for that which is ancient—the town fathers won't hear of it." vance of Millbrook and Mr. J. M. McLenns Vance of Millbrook and Mr. J. M. McLennan acted as ushers on the occasion. Among the guests present were noticed Senator and Mrs. Ogilvie, Montreal; Mr. Wm., Miss and Mrs. Carlyle, Woodstock, father and mother of the groom; Dr. and Mrs. Carlyle, Toronto; Mr. Jas. and Mrs. Playfair, Sturgeon Bay; Mr Geo. H., Miss Florence and Mrs. Bertram, Mrs. Bonnell, Mrs. John, Miss Ella and Miss Kate Bertram, Toronto; Mrs. Munroe, Harwood; Mr. Shirley Ogilvie, Winnipeg; Mr. Hall, Mr. R. Davidson, Peterboro..... After the ceremony the party drove to the residence of the bride's father, Glenelg-st., where the wedding dinner was partaken of and the good wishesof the guests for the happiness of the newly-wedded pair expressed. Mr. and Mrs. Carlyle left on the 8 o'clock train for Montreal, their future home, amidst showers of rice and slippers, carrying with them the heartfelt wishes of a large circle friends for an untroubled and prosperous future..... The bride's presents were exceptionally beautiful and yaluable.

before the end came had there been any serious apprehension of danger. Even after the most serious complications had manifested themselves she was able by, by her natural buoyancy of spirit to rally, and the attending physicians were led to hope for recovery. It was an illusive hope, however, as, in a few hours she began to sink again and so continued till noon on the 10th inst., when the dread messenger came. Of her it may be most truly said that to be known was to be beloved. Her friendship was loyal and unwavering, and her sympathies large enough to comprehend the needy and suffering of all classes and conditions. She was known to a large circle of friends throughout both Durham and Victoria counties, and where best known was held in highest esteem. These facts are amply evident from the large number of mourning friends who met and joined the funeral on its way from Lindsay to Fenelon Falls. The many friends of Dr. Wilson and his family extend to him and them their most heartfelt sympathy in this their sad hour of bereavement. Hunting Notes, -The Hopkins-Sinclair hunting party arrived home Thursday morning last. They enjoyed excellent sport, killing twelve fine deer and bringing eleven home with them. No special incidents of the hunt have as yet been divulged—in fact "mum's the word," but a suspicious public will form its own conclusions from the personnel of the party.

-Monday morning Messrs.E. and J.Daley and W. H. Simpson returned from a very successful hunting trip to Concession lake, about nine miles north of Bobcaygeon, having killed four fine deer in the two days they spent on the watch. It fell to Mr. Simpson's lot, however, to completely efface the record of any hunting party up to date in point of variety of game and pecuniary value. While watching for deer on a high cliff fronting on Round lake he noticed the water break into ripples some distance out, and presently a couple of animals swam inshore, where they commenced gamboling about as playful as kittens. Taking rapid aim Simpson succeeded in killing both, and carried them to camp in the belief that they were minks, and was naturally highly elated to learn that instead he had "bagged" a pair of very fine otters. They were brought to town and were greatly admired, old hunters stating they had seldom seen darker skins. The pair are valued at about $35.

The work of filling in the big trestle between Kinmount and Gelert, on the Victoria division, was completed by Roadmaster Ferguson last week. An idea of the magnitude of the undertaking will be gained when we state that the trestle is 600 feet in length and 70 feet in height. Two trains of fourteen cars each dumped an average of 156 carloods of earth per day into the chasm, and over 7,000 carloads were required to do the filling. The material was procurred about a mile south of the trestle, where a settler's fifty acre farm—that is, all the soil on it,—was scooped up by the steam shovel. We understand that the little trestle, close to the above, will be filled early next summer, as will also the little trestle on the "missing link" east of Omemee. The latter will also be a big undertaking, as it is longer than the one on the Victoria line, though not so high.
