NOTES—The cold weather has disappeared and everything has assumed a springy aspect. The windings, wild strawberries and white clover are in bloom. We had high winds here last week, so high that Mr. Perdue's cows had to come home before they could get to the mill. The winds were very strong and blowing from the west. Mr. Perdue's cows had GOOD WORK—Our bridge, the swing part of which belongs to the Ontario government, is a credit to taste, body, and the chief architect of the village. The remainder which belongs to the city, is in a bad state of repair, and as the re-planking has not yet been done, the rottenness of the super-structure, as it is in the township of Fenelon we hope to see a better one in its place. The township will be heard in an influential manner at the next session of the county council.

prising farmers, has recently been adding marked improvements to his premises, having built a very fine addition to his school house, and a new engine underneath. The stabling is being prepared and when the whole is completed it will improve the school house in every respect. Mr. McCreary is a man of high character and his improvements are as instructive in that line as possible.
