at no matter how great a sacrifice-and go it must. Every garment has been carefully gone through and marked at a sacrifice price. We are offering our immense assortment of Ulsters, Overcoats, Suits, Tweed and Full Cloth Pants, Cottonade Goods of every kind to fit all sizes of Youths, Boys and Men, at prices in many cases much less than one half the cost of manufacture. If you are interested in low-priced clothingmind, we do not say cheap clothing, for cheap clothing is at all times rubbish--we ask your inspection of first the Quality, then the Style, Fit and Finish, and lastly, the price of the Garments we have to offer. Our reputation for handling Good Goods only is established; we will not tarnish it by handling goods which we cannot guarantee. For the next two months the opportunity is yours to secure Clothing at about one-half its value. We are prepared to lose money on our Clothing Stock, but go it must.

OUR PRICES AND QUALITIES ARE CONVINCER 3.

Two accounts were presented—one from J. L. Shannon, 82 for milk for home; Chas. Greer, for cleaning well on market square a year ago, $1.-Referred to finance com-

Collector Spier's tax roll for 1894 was referred to the finance committee; also his bonds for 1895.

A SOUTH WARD GRIEVANCE.

A petition signed by H. Walton, W. Preston and a number of other citizens residing in the western portion of the south ward, was read by the clerk. It was pointed out therein that certain streets, sidewalks and crossings in that section were in very bad condition, and the peti tioners asked that some action be taken by the council, failing which they would have to seek other means for obtaining their rights.

Dep. reeve Robson-"Mr. J. Storer and others feel very sore about the treatment the residents in that section had received from the council, and if the council wil do nothing to relieve them they threaten to app y to the judge."

Coun. Touchburn- Parhaps Dep -reeve Robson would like the matter referred to a committee of the whole council. It's strange that more complaints have not been received by the overseer or myself." Dep.-reeve Robson-'I know nothing at Il about the matter; Mr. Storer spoke to me about it on Saturday night.

Coup. CURTIN said he had heard many complaints, and one prominent south ward retepayer told him that if this gs taxpayers intended to make application to the county judge to kneck off 25 per cent. of their assessment. He had also been informed that a short time ago a lady became fixed in the mud at one of the crossings in that section and had to call for

It was then moved and carried that the councillors visit that portion of the south ward in a body next morning at 9 o'clock. THE OLD PEOPLE OBJECT.

Dep.-reeve Robson, chairman of the special committee appointed to assist the Central charity committee in connection with the new home, reported that the in-mates of the old home had been removed to their new quarters on Thursday of last week; the committee had also called on those receiving aid elsewhere, and had informed them that the council wished them to enter the new home. They did

Reeve Kyliv, referring to the Light, Heat & Power Co. account for the town hall, said he was puzzled to know what it meant—if it was for the hall above, which was little used, the council should put in a metre, but he thought it must mean the council chamber, and his recollection of the arrangement entered into was that the council chamber and fire half lighting was to be done for $55 a year.

Coun Graham said he was not familiar

Rieve Kylie-"Yes, but Constable Reeves had his holidays in the spring, and we should not be asked to ply again. Mayor WALTERS -"No, he had not to my recollection-it was last year that the matter was discussed."

his report as follows : Municipal World subscriptions, 1895 W- A, Good win, repairs to flag The committee had received an offer from Mrs. Preston to rent the old home for the aged at 85 per month, and do all necessary repairs, The committee regretted they could not grant Mr. Swanton's request to be placed on the voters' list, as it had been finally revised.

With regard to Mr Geo. Curtis's appeal sgainst assessment on steam riding gallery, the solicitor advised that no action be taken, as Mr. Curtis had been remiss in not appealing in time or disclosing the names of the other owners. Coun. ROBINSON thought the council should not take advantage of Mr. Curtis. The report was then adopted with the Reeve Kylie said 75 cords seemed a very arge smount to burn at the market. The proposal to send 25 cords to the home showed that the building would be a white elephant, as he had predicted. Coun. BRADY pointed out that when the was thought they would have to supply the old people as usual; now that these would be in the new home there should be a saving. There was no need for hurry, as the yards are fall, and wood will be 253 a cord chesper when sleighing comes.

THE "WHITE ELEPHANT." The courcil then went into committee of the whole on By-law No. 738, authorizing the mayor to sign a five years' lease of the new home at a yearly rental of $180 and taxes, town to have the right to terminate lease after first year on giving three months' notice. having secured five fine deer. -Hundreds of people visited Sinclair's carriage shop last Thursday after the arrival of the north train and gazed upon a spectacle sufficient to excite the enthusiasm of any lover of the chase. Twentytwo fine deer-two for each member of the party-and a large bear, testified to the skill and prowess of the nunters, and we are safe in saying that their record has not been excelled by any party in the north country this season. -The story is current among the hunters about Kirkfield way that Mr. Ed. Jackson, the well-known Coboconk hotel-keeper, had very hard luck on his recent expedition into the wilds after venison. It is said that he got a deer in the water under some high bluffs, and while the animal was trying to scale the steep, rocky banks Ed. blazed away forty-five imes in succession, and wouldn't have quit then being a public holiday. personality and nobility of resolve which is Christ-like In the evening the pastor preached on the clause, "So he paid the fare thereof," taken from Jonah I and After a somewhat elaborate introduction, the speaker said that the lesson he derived from this unique text was to be honest. He then went on to show that honesty, judging the world at present, in its political and commercial dealings, was sorely needed : that we should pay a debt in its own coin, whether of sympathy. kindness or otherwise; and that we should pay our higher debt to God. He emphasized the fact that works, and not words alone, can pay that greatest of debts we owe to God; that is, we must believe in Jesus, and believing in Jesus, we shall fulfil the old maxim, "An honest man is the noblest work of God." In this practical sermon the rev. gentleman gave out many strong ideas which would be gladly enumerated if there were space. Mention must be made of the excellent rendering of the anthems by the choir. -The text for the morning service at the Cambridge-st. He upon who pity should be exercised is the man who asks for it. Men slip to the very verge of despair because no fellow man pitieth him if he falleth; like sheep, we have gone astray, but while man can-not go to his fellowman for sympathy he can go to God, who hath compassion. The darkest chapter of the world's history is the treatment exhibited by the social element to the criminal class. Lift up, do not press down, and exercise the spirit of love rather than the spirit that will forever be one of cruelty to him that desires your help and sympathy.

Snow-Cleaning Contracts.

[To the Editor of THE POST.] SIR.-I wish to ask Mr. Touchburn, as chairman of the street and bridge committee, if there is any regular contract for cleaning the snow from the sidewalks, or does each man who has a district do it as suits himself. I know it was done last year, in the part of the town where I live, just as it pleased the party having the job, and my children—little girls—waded to school through snow which had no sign of a plow after every storm, and Sanday mornings—oh, well! I notice the same man has the work!! to do this year. I object to paying taxes for such work-let it be TAXPAYER.
