A Talk About Prices.

Some Reasons Why There are Tramps and Millionaires.

"Would you suppress a man because he is rich?" Is there no other way for man to gain fortune but by exelling?

Let us examine an example. Go into the Corn Exchange of any city and you will see the prices of wheat reported every few minutes from every important trade center.

When land boomed in Toronto, advancing from $10 per foot to $20, then to $30 and so on to $50, or $100 a foot, being rushed in from all quarters to bring prices to an equilibrium?

One great factor in affecting competition is population. As population becomes more dense, we can, as a rule, produce cheaper.

When we come to dealing with our fellow-men, dealing with the spiritual side, the moral, the application of justice and equity, are we making advances?
