The currier are taking all possible advantage of the present cold snap to get a good bottom, two or three men being constantly engaged splitting. This evening will likely see the roads' game in full swing.

There are $8,888 in it. See the advt. of the Peterborough business college in another column. This excellent institution affords a good opportunity for a young man to acquire a business education. The principals and staff are experienced and successful teachers.

Two important questions at present agitate the public mind--the probable date of the opening of the new mill, and the location of the new mill. We understand the directors of the latter institution have at last decided upon the location of the interior, which will add much to the appearance and also greatly improve the light. Messrs. A. W. Perkins and Co. have secured the contract for lighting the mill this season.

Sadler, Dundas & Co's flour mill closed down Monday last for two or three months, in consequence of extensive alterations and the addition of new machinery that will practically make it a new mill, and almost double the output. A number of mill-wrights have been engaged, and the work will be pushed from start to finish. To facilitate operations the firm have decided to introduce the electric light, and have secured a 25 amp dynamo from Mr. Rescor. To supply the extra power that will be required to drive the machinery to be added it is probable that a larger engine-house will be required and a large engine-house will be built.

One of the most important cases ever decided in our police court, judging by the number of professional witnesses and the evidence, was the case of standard medical works, scattered about to back up or refute the testimony of Dr. Morrison, medical health officer, against Dr. Simpson, for failure to report a case of typhoid fever as the toll of the evidence and the re-examination of witness occupied nearly two days, and the spectators who thronged the most the witness and easy familiarity with which the legal questions were argued, and the contempt for the opinion of a brilliant surgeon, who by some of the medical gentlemen. The case was dismissed.

Saturday evening last about 7.30 as Mr. T. E. Morrison of Osnemoke was driving out of the Waverley house yard he was overtaken by a horse-drawn carriage bound homeward. The driver of which, lost to all else but the charms of "Annie Rooney," came near adding a new name to the list of victims. The shock broke the double-tree of the buggy and in a moment the horse and carriage were jerked down. The driver of the horse-drawn carriage, who was driving on the road, while the spirited team of colts dashed off up the road, but were caught just beyond the railway crossing. The feelings of the two gentlemen as they pulled themselves together were admitted by Morrison essayed to do them justice, and in the meantime a brilliant surgeon, who by some of the medical gentlemen. The case was dismissed.
