To Lindsay houseksepers. Dear customers, now please listen, This verse I will relate,

in the public eye.

It's of the poor delivery men, Who seldom do come late,

And who brings you all your eatables, Through the year's rain and snow, And if you have a Christmas Box Give the delivery men a show.

We have toiled for you From early morn till night, And very often after dark Without electric light. Now, all you kind-hearted friends Who have gold dust by the peck,

Just open up your pocket-book, Or else give us a check. We now will bid good night

To our friends who are so dear, And we'll wish you a merry Christmas And a yery happy New Year.

Purely Vegetable.

First the bud, then the blossom, then the perfect fruit. These are the several stages of some of the most important ingredients composing the painless and sure corn cure-Patnam's Painless Corn Extractor. The juices of plants greatly concentrated and purified gums and balsams in harmonious union, all combined give the grand results. Putnam's Extractor makes no sore spot, does not lay a man up for a week, but goes on quietly doing its work until a perfect cure results. Beware of acid substitutes.

-To gild refined gold is proverbially a work of supererogation, and to offer a batter than the best is paradoxical. Priestley's black dress fabrics in sllk, or silk and wool are admittedly the best in the world. Now the celebrated firm in "Eudore," beats its own record. That is the verdict of the ladies, who say that the 'Eudora' cloth, with its peculiar lustre, its extra width and weight, and its perfect dust shedding quality, is bound to be a formidable rival to its sister fabrics which have obtained the suffrage of the feminine world.
