Precisely; but why did nature so arrange? Why not have summer time always, with perpetual foliage? What is ham, deceased. the meaning of denuded branches, withered flowers, daylight fading in mid-after noon, and winter's cold and desolation? When you flad out why the leaves fall you will have discovered one of nature's deepest secrets-why men die.]

Suppose we try an easier problem. Why should Mr. William Steel have written such a sentence as this?—"At the fall of he leaf every year I got into such a state that I took no pleasure in anything." No doubt there are minds so highly strung as to feel keenly the influence of outward conditions, changes of the seasons and the weather, and so on. But they are rare, and for practical purposes they cught to be rare. Our friend Mr. Steel, happily for him, was not one of them. All the same, he was a miserable man every time the leaves rattle to the ground.

Here's the way he puts it: "At the fall of the leaves every year I felt languid, tired and weary, and took no pleasure in anything. My appetite was poor, and after everything I ate I had pain and fulness at the chest and sides. Then there was a horrible pain at the pit of the stomach which nothing relieved."

Now this sort of thing would spoil a man's pleasure at any time of year, but the oddity of Mr. Steel's case is that it coincided with what you may call nature's

"After a few months," he says, "the pain and distress would be easier for awhile, but as autumn approached I became as bad as ever. In September, 1890, I had an unusually bad time of it. I couldn't touch a morsel of food, and presently got so weak I was unable to stand on my legs. Every few hours I had to be poulticed, the pain was so bad. I went to bed and stayed there for a week, with a doctor attending me. He relieved me a little, but somehow he didn't succeed in getting to the bottom

That may be, but it dosen't quite follow that the doctor was in the dark as to Mr. Steel's ailment. He might have understood it right enough, yet failed to cure it his drugs. That happans all the while.

Capt. Sinciair is not a novice in parliamentary matters. He sat for Dumbartonshire one term and among the younger men of the Liberal party in England is looked upon as a coming Cabinet Minister. In the next Liberal Government he will, without doubt, receive an under-scoretaryship. The Free Press makes some significant remarks about the profits of steamship companies, based on the an-nouncement that the Allan Line is about to place two new vessels on the St. Lawrence route. It says figures are shown to the Government which represent the savings of the year, but no mention is made of the sum laid aside as a sinking fund. The fact is that our Canadian liners, drawing heavy subsidies, are charging just three times as much for freight as vessels plying between the Old Country and Australia which receive no government assistance. This is clearly shown by figures which came to hand yesterday of freight rates from Sydney to London. The truth of the matter is that on the one million barrels of apples shipped to the Oid Country market this fall from Canada, there were charges that netted the companies an enormous profit. Often the apples spoiled, but it was the shipper who was out by this occurrence, not the companies. Duncan Chisholm, Junior Judge of Waterloo County, has been appointed judge in place of Anthony Lacourse, George Henry Dartnell, Ju- Judge

Collingwood Resident Tells How South American Nervine Cured His Daughter of Distressing Nervous Disease.

The father of Jessie Merchant, of Collingwood, tells this story of his elevenyear-old daughter: "I doctored with the most skilled physicians in Collingwood without any relief coming to my daughter, spending nearly five hundred dollars in this way. A friend influenced me to try South American Nervine, though I took it with little hope of it being any good. When she began its use she was hardly able to move about, and suffered terribly from nervous spasms, but after taking a few bottles she can now run around as other children." It is believed that after they come into force more of the article left on trains and in stations will be recovered and that passengers' effects generally will be more carefully guarded. -Montreal Witness: Among the changes noticed in the Grand Trunk are the prompt, business:like habits of the head officers themselves. Former managers generally rove down to their carriages about eleven releek in the day, a habit which the subordinate efficers were not slow to imitate, The efficials seldem mingled with any of their superdinates; and a certain awe for nosition and nower was carefully fostered The contrast under the new regime is most marked. The manager disdains the notion of a private carriage going down to his omee. For the most part, he walks, If he is in a particular hurry, he takes a And, when in town, he is never later than nine o'clock; more frequently he will be found in his office at half-past eight. When going over the system, or taking a quiet stroll through the Bonaventure station, he speaks to the man directly and frankly. He will take a seat in the office of a subordinate, and talk over rallway matters more as a friend than an employer. And he is able to call the men by their names—there is a value in knowing your men, which Mr. Hays, modern American as he is, fully recognizes.

And the officers under him are like-minded with himself. They do not trouble at all about the frippery of position. They are plain, direct, business men, who meet all persons on the plane of manhood. The new regime is eminently a business one, which even those who were disposed to be unfriendly to it, are coming to regard with the livelies satisfaction, fluding, as they do, that while no countenance is given to nepotism in any department, faithful service is sure of recognition.

A VERY SAD CASE,

Tragedy in the Higher Classes of English Society Which Had Very Melanchely Features,

New York, Dec. 20.-A special from Mr. Ballard Smith, London, to a morning paper here, says: Never was there a sadder tragedy in the higher classes of English society, nor one more typical of its recent moral degeneracy than the suicide this week of the beautiful Mrs. Le Champion. She was only 23 years old, was the daughter of a noted soldier of an old family and married two years ago Loftus Le Champion, the son of another old soldier of equal birth. The two had been friends from childhood. The best man at the wedding was young Lieutenant de Crespigny, an officer of the Guards, the son of Sir rect descendant of a Norman chief. Mrs. Le Champion last month sued for Boys', Youths', Childrens' and Men's judicial separation on the ground of ready-made clothing.

her husband's cruelty, and got it, but These goods are all sewn with lines her husband's cruelty, and got it, but her husband accused her of improper relations with young de Crespigny, and their child was given into the charge of a third party. Reports of this suit were cabled, but the fact was known only a few in London, and public. the disclosed to husband and lover had a fist fight last summer at the fashionable Hurlingham Club, behind an aristocratic force of men and women spectators at a polo match. The wife was found dead a few mornings ago with an empty laudnum bottle beside her, and two letters. One letter contained her poor little will, leaving her diamond necklace to her babe, another necklace to Lady de Crespigny and a diamond ring to Claude de Crespigny, the son. The other letter, left unfinished, was to her husband. There was only this sentence: "Dear Loftus,-I am sorry to go without your forgiveness.' At her funeral yesterday, besides the members of her family and all the de Crespignys, Mr. Le Champion, dressed

Sneaked Up and Cut the Throat of a Sleeping Man With Whom He Had Quarrelled. Philadelphia, Dec. 20.—William Wallen, aged 25, and John King, aged 21, both garbage gatherers, quarrelled about a woman in the kitchen of the house where Wallen boarded, 2524 Deshong-street, last night. The quarrel was patched up, and King fell assess in their Wallen then deliberately asleep in a chair. Wallen then deliberately cut the throat of the sleeping man with a razor, killing him almost instantly. The murderer was arrested.

A MESSAGE TO MEN.

Proving that True Honesty and True Philanthropy Still Exist. It any man who is weak, pervous and debilitated, or who is suffering from any of the various troubles resulting from youthful folly or excesses of overwork, will take heart and write to me, I will send him con fidentially and free of charge the plan pursued by which I was completely restored to perfect health and manhood, after vests of suffering from Nervous Debility, Lass of Vigor and Organic Weakness. I have nothing to sell and therefore want no money, but as I know through told them if they used nitre-glyon my own experience how to sympathize it would make the work lighter, and with such sufferers. I am glad to be able to assist my fellow-beings to a cure. I am tridges at St. Catharines. for I myself was deceived and imposed tridges into Mr. Glaves' house, and page the upon until I nearly lost faith n mankind them on the cookstove to that cure known to all. It you will write to me you can rely upon being cured and the proud satisfaction of having been of service to one in need will be sufficient reward for trouble. Absolute secrecy assured. Send through a doorway and is badly on the secrecy assured. Send through a doorway and is badly on the course of the course

TAKE CARE OF THE BOYS.

Men can take care of themselves The boy is the father of the man, and has a good deal more of the man in him than most people give him credit for. Almost any boy can be made vicious by telling him he is the worst boy in town. Pat the ordinary boy in a stylish, well made suit of clothes and make him think he amounts to something and he'll rice to the occasion and show the man in him. Put him is a shoddy suit that will rip and ravel and hell be just about the style of chap to go well with such a sult. There is no reason why any boy should wear poorly made clothes, because the very best clothes can now be had resty. Claude, a famous sportsman and a di- made. Messrs. H. SHOREY & CO., of Montreal have made a reputation for thread, the cloth is thoroughly sponge and shrank, and the workmanship fully guaranteed. In the pocket of every gar ments of Shorey's Clothing is a little tieket gearanteeing it. If you insist on seeing this ticket before buying, you can be sure of getting Shorey's make, as they are the only house who venture to guarantee their workmanship in this manner. An Idea in Skates. Two of Barrie's swift skaters are usings skate with shoe attached, the combination weighing only nine ounces, the skate being

The Sufferings of a Toronto Junction Resident From Heart Disease. Not an exceptional case of heart disease, in deep mourning, drove up and stood but very distressing, was that of Mr. 1 with a friend at a little distance from W. Law, of Toronto Junction, Ont., who was obliged to be propped up in bed with pillows for eighteen months because of smothering spells that would come over him whenever he attempted to lie down. No treatment had done any good until be tried Dr. Agaew's Cure for the Heart, and here one dose gave complete relief, and one bottle cured him, and to-day he enjoys the pleasures of good health as other perple do. Heart disease will kill if not cured. Sold by A. Higinbotham.
