

FOR THE EXPOSITOR.
What's There to Make Whole?
 (St. John's, G.)
 BY JAMES LAWSON, BATTERSEA.

Say, sinner, hast thou ever felt
 Thy wretchedness and guilt?
 If so, thy Saviour waits to save
 He'll save thee if thou wilt.

Hast thou e'er felt the pangs of guilt
 Strike deep into thy soul?
 Then look to Jesus—if thou wilt
 He now will make thee whole.

No longer mourn thy wretchedness,
 But look to Him and live;
 He waits thy troubled soul to bless,
 And all thy sins forgive.

No more on human power rely,
 On Jesus cast thy soul;
 For He alone can justify,
 And cleanse and make thee whole.

FOR THE EXPOSITOR.
Acrostic.

From and coil the winds do blow
 Everywhere the drifting snow;
 By the roadside snow banks high
 Rise like mountains toward the sky.
 Underneath doth earth repose,
 And ere long the winter snows,
 Re-Involved, will pass away.
 Yours respectfully, L. J.

PEW AND SOCIOS.

ACCORDING TO THE CENSUS OF 1871 there were in Canada 1886 Pagans, 13 Mohammedans, 20 Atheists, 409 Deists, 534 Mormons, and 5146 who had no religion.

A CORRESPONDENT OF THE Church Herald suggests that the Episcopalians in Canada might with advantage undertake some such revival work as the "Mission Services" that have become an integral portion of the Established Church in England. The suggestion is an excellent one, and if acted upon by any considerable extent, would doubtless result in much good to the Church and the advancement of Christianity.

THORAH BRANCH AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.—There was a meeting of this society held in the Town Hall, Beaverton, on Saturday last. The president in the chair. The meeting was well attended, and was one of the best agricultural meetings the Society have had for some time. Several matters of great interest were discussed, and among others the fencing of the land purchased by the Council for a fair ground was disposed of and will be carried out according to expectations. This branch is in a very prosperous condition. The meeting adjourned to 12th April.—Gleaner.

We have so often answered questions as to what we would advise people to cultivate, that it almost seems a work of supererogation to repeat; but we remember that what a man wants to know is just as important to him as if no one ever knew it before, and the answer is as valuable as if no such instructions or suggestions had ever been made. We give this general rule: Learn first what your soil will produce, and then study the wants of the market upon which you must depend for the sale of your produce—and the nearer home you can find that market the better—and try to produce the best of its class of articles, and sell them cheaply (retaining a reasonable profit) as any one else can. This is in brief the law which should govern producers in selecting crops to cultivate, or stock to breed.

MEDICAL DECLARATION ON THE TOTAL ABSTINENCE QUESTION.—The friends of the temperance movement in Montreal have obtained from the medical men of that city a declaration, with the view of undeceiving the public mind of the mischievous error that alcoholic liquors are beneficial. As no other class of men can be more fully cognizant of the manifold evils wrought by strong drink in the community, so both from this knowledge and from their character as conservators of the public health, none are entitled to speak with greater authority in favor of total abstinence. The following is a copy of the declaration in question:—"We, the undersigned members of the medical profession in Montreal, are of opinion: That a large proportion of human misery, poverty, disease and crime is produced by the use of alcoholic liquors as a beverage. That total abstinence from intoxicating liquors, whether fermented or distilled is consistent with, and conducive to, the highest degree of physical and mental health and vigor. That abstinence from intoxicating liquors would greatly promote the health, morality and happiness of the people."

CURIOUS CASE.—On lot No. 1, in the 14th concession of Emily, resides Mr. Benjamin White, a man much respected by his neighbours, and the head of a grown up family. Mr. White's opinion on current topics are always listened to with attention, and have an influence in his neighbourhood. At the last election he caused himself to be conveyed to the polling place to record his vote. Mr. White was struck with paralysis twenty-six years ago last October, and during the whole of that period had been unable to move more than a small portion of his body. He can move his right arm and right leg; the remainder of his body is paralysed and motionless. Mr. W.'s appetite is good, and during the whole of the twenty-six years, though only out of bed when lifted by his attendants, he has enjoyed good health; he has excellent spirits, reads the papers thoroughly, and can sing Rule Britannia with any one in the county. He came to Canada in 1831, from Ireland, and settled in Emily in 1832. He had been settled about fourteen years when he was struck with paralysis. Mr. White we are told, notwithstanding the sad affliction under which he has laboured so long, has accumulated considerable property, enjoys life as much as most people, and is grateful to Providence for the numerous blessings by which he is surrounded. He is an example of contentment.—Cor. Beacon Independent.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Why is the letter Y like a young lady? Because it makes pa pay.

OUR happiness or misery are traced to our conduct, and made to depend upon it.—Bishop Butler.

"This is not my element" said a young snob as he sat down into a slushy street. "Yes it is" retorted a bystander, "because it is terribly soft but not very deep!"

HOW TO MEASURE A ROOM FOR A CARPET.—You must multiply the length of the room by its breadth in feet, and then divide by three, and the quotient will be the number of square yards. Thus if it is 15 ft wide will be 15 yards of carpet a yard wide.

"Do you think I am a fool?" a violent man once asked of the late Rev. Dr. Bethune. "Really," replied the doctor, "I would not have ventured the assertion, but now that you ask my opinion, I must say that I am not prepared to deny it."

SOMEbody once said to a sage:—"A man slandered you in my presence."—"If" replied the wise man, "you had not listened with pleasure, he would not have defamed me." The remark was a just one. In all cases of slander or calumny, whenever the forger of the falsehood is not to be found, the injured parties should have a right to come on any of the enclosures.

FIGHT WITH A LYNX.—One day last week, Mr. John Givens, residing in the North end of Marsa, discovered a Canadian lynx, or wild cat, in an out house, and accompanied by his dog went in and gave it battle. His only weapon was a part of an ox bow which he chanced to pick up, but with this he succeeded in stunning it as it attacked the dog, and in a short time killed it. This is the third one he has destroyed during the present winter.—Gleaner.

GIVING QUARTER.—Our boys and girls probably have often heard this expression, and it may be, they would like an explanation of it. Giving quarter is a custom well known in warfare, and it came from an agreement between the Dutch and Spanish, that when a soldier or an officer was taken prisoner, his ransom of price of liberty would be a quarter of his year's pay. Hence, for the conquered to beg quarter was to offer a quarter of their pay for personal safety. "No quarter" meant, in plain terms, that liberty would not be granted for that price.

FALSE PRIDE.—No honest occupation is so disreputable as habitual idleness. Yet there are many young ladies who choose to think so. There are very many girls of limited means, in large cities, who would gladly employ their leisure hours in some way that would prove remunerative to them, if they could do so without the fact of their being thus employed being known outside their own family circles. Rather than this, these factitious girls will submit to any privations, and pass hours of each day in listless idleness that ought and could be put to profitable use. Another of the results of this false pride is the fostering of a spirit of idleness, which almost completely unfits them for household duties, and more especially those which devolve upon them after marriage. Hence the many unhappy marriages growing out of a want of familiarity with household duties, and positive disinclination to perform them.

THE TRUE GIRL has to be sought for. She does not parade herself as show goods. She is not fashionable. Generally she is not rich. But oh! what a heart she has when you find her!—so large, and pure, and womanly! If you gain her love, your two thousand are a million. She will not ask you for a carriage or a first-class house. She will wear simple dresses, and turn them when necessary, with no vulgar magnificence to frown upon her economy. She will keep everything in order in your sky parlour, and give you such a welcome when you come home that you will think your parlour higher than ever. She will entertain true friends on a dollar, and astonish you with the new thought, how very little depends on money. She will make you love home; and teach you how to pity while you scorn, a poor fashionable society that thinks itself rich, and vainly tries to think itself happy. Now do not, I pray you, say any more, "I can't afford to marry." Go, find the true woman. Throw away that cigar, burn up that switch cane; be sensible yourself, and seek your wife in a sensible way.

GOOD MANNERS.—The following incident occurred some years since in the State of Rhode Island. On one occasion Mr. R., a very pompous, but not very popular man, desiring to be chosen Inspector of Elections, gathered his friends around the polls early on the morning of election day—the custom being to select an Inspector by vote of those happening to be present at the opening of the polls. Some mischievous young men, who disliked the pompous candidate, had heard of his plans, and they were also present with a large party, and to his great disgust, they gave a majority for a huge, burly, but good-natured negro, well known to the citizens. When the voters came up to deposit their ballot, as usual each one took off his hat in presence of the Inspector. Soon Mr. R. approached. Said he, "it is customary to take off the hat when voting, but in this case I don't know about it." "Oh!" immediately replied the colored man, "just as you please; it depends on a man's brought up; here's Mr. S. and Mr. B. (naming two wealthy citizens), they took off their hats, but if a man hasn't been brought up to manners, why we 'scuse him. The roar of laughter which followed, so discomfited Mr. R., that he hastily left.

WE BELIEVE IN FORTUNE TELLING.
 "Do you believe in fortune telling?" asks a young correspondent. Yes, certainly we do, and practice it too. Would you like a few trials of our skill? Well, then give attention. When a boy with black hair and eyes always tells the truth, he will be believed and respected as long as he lives, and as people would prefer to keep him alive, he will stand a good chance to arrive at old age. A girl with brown hair and blue eyes who obeys her parents, is good tempered and industrious, will have many admirers, particularly among sensible men, and she will therefore be in the way of getting a good husband. If a girl with rosy cheeks, and curly hair will avoid late hours, tight dresses, too many nice things to eat, will take plenty of exercise in the open air, and keep good natured, she will probably be a good looking and happy lady, and if she obtains a good education, she will be a fit wife for a Prince or Prime Minister. In all these cases the hair and eyes are of no great importance, but the other requisites must be strictly observed to have the good fortune come out right.

A SCENE FROM LIFE.—A young man entered the bar-room of a village tavern, and called for a drink. "No," said the landlord, "you have had too much already. You have had delirium tremens once, and I cannot sell you any more." We stepped aside to make room for a couple of young men who had just entered, and the landlord waited upon them very politely. The other had stood by silent and sullen, and when they had finished he walked up to the landlord, and thus addressed him: "Six years ago, at that age, I stood where those young men now are. I was a man with fair prospects. Now, at the age of twenty-eight, I am a wreck, body and mind. You led me to drink. In this room I formed the habit that has been my ruin. Now sell me a few glasses more, and your work will be done! I shall soon be out of the way; there is no hope for me. But they can be saved; they may be men again. Do not sell it to them. Sell to me, and let me die, and the world will be rid of me; but for Heaven's sake sell no more to them!" The landlord listened, pale and trembling. Setting down his decanter, he exclaimed, "God helping me, that is the last drop I will ever sell to any one." And he kept his word.—Temperance Advocate.
