

Every description of the material being printed... The subscriber is prepared to do all orders for Job Work with neatness, accuracy, and dispatch...

County Officials

- JAMES SMITH, County Judge, Office in the Court House, Lindsay.
WILLIAM HEDDICK, Sheriff, Office in the Court House, Lindsay.
A. LACOURSE, Deputy Assessor, Office in the Court House, Lindsay.

Professional Cards

- SMITH & SMITH, Barristers, Attorneys-at-Law, Solicitors in Chancery, Conveyancers, Notaries, &c., Office over the Bank of Montreal.
LACOURSE, Barrister, Attorney-at-Law, Conveyancer, &c., Office in the Court House, Lindsay.
CAMERON & DORMER, Barristers, Attorneys-at-Law, Solicitors in Chancery, Conveyancers, Notaries, &c., Office over the Bank of Montreal.

Business Cards

- GEO. WRIGHT, Carriage, Sleigh, Sign, and Ornamental Painter, Head of William Street, one Block above the Register Office.
DENNIS, Has started a Patent Pump Factory! Opposite Cartwright & Dundas's Storehouse, LINDSAY.
Royal Mail Stage, Between BOBCAYGEON AND MINDEN.
MRS. B. T. STEPHENS, LATE FROM LONDON, ENGLAND. TEACHER OF THE PIANO-FORTE AND DRAWING.
T. S. MOFFATT, ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES, At the Elephant Cheap-Cash Store, near the Steamboat Wharves, MISSISSAUGA ST., ORILLIA.
M. MARKHAM, MANUFACTURER OF AND DEALER IN Boots and Shoes, William St., Lindsay.

Doctrin

We are sailing onward on the sea of life, Three storms and strife, Is a portion of our lot, If we sail on well, It will be our lot.

The Home Circle

ANNE HERFORD

THE MESSAGE OF CHANDOS HALL.

BY MISS HENRY WOOD, AUTHOR OF 'EAST LYNNE,' 'SQUIRE TRAVELER'S HELL,' ETC.

CHAPTER XXVII.

Really mine was a strange life. A young girl it was only that; young in experience as well as years—living in that house without any companion except Mrs. Chandos. More untrusting and suspicious than I had been before and sister. Our meals were taken together; he presiding at luncheon and dinner, I at breakfast and tea-room; the grocer and butcher sitting round the table with the tints of autumn our frequent walks. It was very pleasant; too pleasant I don't say anything about its pleasures.

MEASURES, NOT MEN.

LINDSAY ONTARIO; THURSDAY, APRIL 21, 1870.

ed in my mind with darkness and terror. The gods of France had not tended to reassure me; with their flashing swords, and their fiery hawks, but the people, far more harmless than ours. The worst I saw of them was the never-ending warfare they kept up with the servants' side for being late in washing, before the door in a morning. The cook at Miss Barlow's, Marie, called them old women, setting them at defiance always; but one day they cited her before the tribunal, and she had to pay a fine of five francs.

VARIETIES.

Go to bed with the lamb, and rise with the lark. Hops in the ladder we climb; disappointed at the hand that shakes it down. Scorn the foot that tramples on the ground, for it is related of Mr. Burns, the volunteer missionary to China, that during the insurgent movements in the Army district, he was free to go where he liked, when no other European could venture among the rebels. They said, "the map of the Book" they would say, "and he must not be touched."

MATTERS OF GENERAL INTEREST.

Elaborate preparations are being made in England to take scientific observations of the next eclipse of the sun. A Nova Scotia exchange says the Roman Catholics of Bayley's Brook have selected an address to the Rev. J. Grant, President of the Roman Catholic Bishops, on the occasion of his leaving the neighbourhood for Trinidad. This speaks volumes both for him and them.