GOLDEN LION, ORILLIA, May, 1872.

Sometime ago we intimated that we had added to our business a Fashionable Tailoring Establishment, and had been fortunate in securing the services of MR. BERRIE, who stands high as a first-class Cutter.

Our short experience proved that the difficulty in procuring tailors to "make up" retarded the success of our undertaking, and we did not, in consequence, push for orders. Now, however, we are happy to say that this difficulty has been overcome, and having obtained a few hands, who are second to none, are in a position to accept with pleasure, all orders that offer, and to supply at short notice, fashionable and elegant suits. We are determined to put forward our best efforts to please those who favour us with the orders, and prevent, if possible, the trade that legitimately belongs to Orillia, going to Toronto and elsewhere.
