

Can a Bird Reason?

Of the seven kinds of the swallow family inhabiting North America, all but one are known to have undergone a more or less complete and radical change of life, seeking the protection and companionship of man, and making great and important changes in their nesting, both as to location and architectural structure.

A FISHERMAN baits his hook; a school boy hates his book.

"Give the Devil his due, Pat, and where would you be?" "Alone, your honor."

A wise man may be at a loss when to begin conversation; but a fool never knows when to stop.

An Irishman found guilty of stealing coffee was asked what he did with it. "Made tay wid it, yer honor."

The winning post of the race of life is of white marble, with name and date, springing from the turf where there is no jockeying.

The Cobourg Sentinel says that a pair of robins built their nest and raised a brood of young ones under the hat which a Haldimand farmer had placed on a scare crow in his corn field.

A TELEGRAM from Bangor, Maine, says that on Saturday evening two spans of a bridge on the European and North Ann railroad, between Oldtown and Milford, three hundred feet long, were blown completely away by a tornado, and an engine and tender, with a fireman, which was crossing from Oldtown, was plunged into the river. The engineer was killed.

At CRICKET ALSO.—Canada is certainly beginning to look up. Not only have her sons won honours at the Wimbledon Encampment, but at the world-famous "Lords" cricket ground, London. A Canadian twelve have beaten a like number of English gentlemen at cricket, the national game of the latter, and had twenty-four runs to spare. This is the more a triumph, seeing that "Grace," the greatest living batsman, made a score of 150, and his fellows ran up handsome numbers.

NEW SARUM, in the County of Elgin, had a meeting of farmers, at which the following resolution was passed after an interesting discussion as to the best means of extirpating the thistle. We commend the concluding sentence to the pathmasters.

"That we pledge ourselves to use our best endeavours to exterminate from our farms the Canada thistle, that we urge the same practice on our neighbours; and that we bind ourselves to enforce against all offenders the law respecting Canada thistles."

AN IMPORTANT LIQUOR CASE.—Detective Crawford yesterday afternoon brought a charge of selling liquor without license against Mrs. Letimer, keeper of a boarding house. The complaint which set forth that the defendant was in the habit of furnishing ale or porter to boarders and charging extra therefor, was investigated by the Police Court before Mr. Lawson yesterday afternoon and this morning.

Mr. Bertram, for Mr. Hutchinson, appearing for the prosecution, Mr. E. Meek for the defence. Several witnesses testified that while boarding at Mrs. Letimer's had been provided with beer at any other request and believed the price of it was included in their board bill. Mrs. Letimer explained that she had given beer in this manner as she gave tea or coffee, and charged for it as she should for any other extra. His Worship, after hearing all the testimony and the brief arguments of counsel, said he should reserve judgment till Monday next with regard to the amount of fine, the evidence being so clear he saw no way of deciding the case except against the defendant.—London Advertiser.

MUSKOKA MISSIONS.—Sunday evening sermon in St. Paul's Church, and gave an interesting account of his missionary work in Muskoka. His territory has extended as far as seventy-five miles north of the head of Lake Rosseau, where he is stationed, and where annual church has been built. Dr. Newton stated that half a dozen small churches were needed for the present requirements of the people in his district, and his present visit was to obtain assistance towards finishing the church at the head of Rosseau Lake. As an instance of the hardships a missionary was compelled to undergo, Dr. Newton stated he had one time lost his way in the depth of winter while going to preach to the lumbermen in the shanties, and had been compelled to sleep all night in the snow, which wolves were howling in the distance. He had travelled on foot more than a hundred miles in winter. But the missionary's reward was that he was going his duty in that position which God seemed to place him in; and he could say with the Evangelist, "I shall come again rejoicing, and bring my sheaves with me."—Lindsay Post.
