Care of the Ears.

Deafness is a great affliction, but many persons are very careless in guarding against it. Wet hair and cold Toronto, Chairman of the Executive plunge baths are bad for anyone with a tendency to deafness. The extremities must be kept warm and drafts avoided

No cold liquid should touch the inner ear. No oils should be poured into the car with the idea of relieving an ache. It only increases inflammation.

Some people have a perfect dread of getting insects in the ear, and even the common house-fly fills them with terror if it buzzes too near them. In re ality there is little danger in the matter. The secretions of the ear are bitter, and will force an insect to leave. Hot water poured in will kill it and bring it to the surface.

Boxing a child's ears is barbarous, and likely to permanently affect its hearing. Sometimes women wishing to dry their bair quickly will sit in the strong breeze of an electric fan. This is reckless carelessness as regards the ear and its functions.

AN APPEAL TO THE FASHION-ABLE SET IN CANADA.

"Lally Bernard," t's Well-known Toronto Journalist, Writes from England of the Battle Against Consumption in Muskoka.

Lally Bernard, of the editorial staff of the Toronto Globe, writing to that paper from London, England, where she is now a resident, shows most clearly that the battle against the great white plague is one that should intorest all classes of the community. It will be remembered that this writer entered incog. as a patient in the Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives, and afterwards in the Globe told of real life in that institution. In her present article she says: "To-day I have found a letter at the club which nearly missed me, having been addressed 'Lally Bernard.' May I express to my unknown correspondent my warmest thanks for the kindly appreciation for the little I have been able to do in the battle being waged against tuberculosis in Canada. The need of sympathy and interest is a tremendous one, and I am always puzzled when I find really well educated and intelligent people in Canada so criminally ignorant of the extent of the danger, and the means which are being taken to combat

A little later, in conversation with the lady the landlord's son was obliged to sleep in a tent! Comment was needless.

"In looking for quarters I found a charming home of a young doctor and his wife, where extra-rdinarily moderate terms were asked for really exceptionally good accommedation. The doctor in question had been 'ordered south,' and accepting 'paying guests.' "Yet again, in the third place, I formd that the lady who was at the head of the establishment had not only lost her husband from the dread disease, but had managed one of the most fashionable sanitariums in England, and her knowledge of the treatment and the extent of the problem in England showed me how tremendous was the need for care and watchfulness in our own country.

"May I ask my correspondent to use all possible influence to make the question of combating tuberculosis one of interest in the 'fashionable sot' to which she evidently belongs. I know full well, from the little experience I have had, how tremendously a little genuine interest and help might lighten the burden now resting on the shoulders of the authorities of the Free Hospital for Consumptives at Gravenhurst. It is, of course, far away from wealthy centres, and out of sight is to be out of mind. "I can quite understand that until tion they do not realize what an immense amount of aid might be given by these who are fortunate enough to be free from else to do than to invent or learn some new form of recreation. "Mrs. Torrington has kindly promised me to try and get musical societies and people interested in music to provide a pianola for the Hospital, and I feel sure it will be of immense benefit to the patients. Surely my correspondent who cvinces such sympathy with the cause could make that sympathy take a practical form and organize a hospital library where books worth reading might be supplied, with some system similar to that of the Aberdeen Association, which the disease and by those who have little has done such excellent work." [Note.-Readers-and may their number be many-who desire to assist in the work of the Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives may send their gifts to Sir Wm. R. The old lady after much his wife had to keep the house going by thought, purchased for him a tray to hang round his neck with a broad strap, and a supply of nice gingerbread, and she taught him the following sentence to repeat at intervals: "Will any good, kind Christian buy some fine spicy gingerbread from a poor, afflicted old man?" When he had sold a shilling's worth he congratulated himself on his strength of abstinence, and thought he would treat resolution to just one-half pint of beer. This, needless to say, led to one or two more, and when he resumed his station on the pavement, his cry became a little mixed, and in a loud voice he appealed to passers-by with: "Will any poor, afflicted Christian buy some good, kind gingerbread from a fine, spicy old man?"
