

ANTI-VACCINATION AGITATION.

FUNDAMENTAL PROVISION OF THE VACCINATION ACT NOT COMPLIED WITH.

Rev. J. A. C. McCuaig Says Compulsory Vaccination Should Cease.

The uncompromising anti-vaccination resolution adopted recently at a public meeting held in St. Andrew's Hall, Toronto, appears likely to become a subject of considerable heated discussion. The meeting, which was called by the Mayor at the instance of a petition of a number of citizens for discussion of the question of vaccination, was largely attended. The resolution adopted was as follows:—

That this meeting is of opinion that the entire repeal of the Vaccination Act, the disestablishment and discontinuance by the State of the practice of vaccination, the abolition of all regulations regarding vaccination as a condition of admission to educational institutions, or employment in State departments would be in the interest of justice and the health of the community, and that a copy of this resolution be sent to each of the following:—The Hon. J. A. C. McCuaig, M.P.P., West York; St. John, M.P.P., East York; and Davis, M.P.P., North York, asking their consideration and support when the petitions are brought before the House.

IN AN INTERVIEW.

which appeared last Saturday in the Toronto Star, the Rev. J. A. C. McCuaig, who strongly supported the action at the public meeting, says:—

"If the facts in regard to the Ontario Act respecting vaccination and the established history of vaccination itself can be brought before the community in a wave of public sentiment will be produced that shall make imperative the repeal of the present law of compulsory vaccination. The Act, as it stands, is not enforced, and cannot be enforced without awakening a resentment and indignation that would bespeak its doom."

"Under the Act, Chapter 206, Section 6, it is provided that the Council of each city or town within the Province shall appoint a convenient place in each ward thereof, and the Council of every township and incorporated village shall appoint a convenient place therefor, for the performance, at least once in each month, of vaccination, and shall take effectual means for giving to all persons resident within each ward, or within the township or village, due notice of the days and hours at which the medical practitioner contracted with for such purpose will attend to vaccinate all persons not previously vaccinated, who may then appear therefor."

"This fundamental provision for the enforcement of the law is not only not complied with in most localities, but in the city of Toronto its enforcement as a law has been entirely evaded by the Mayor and the Medical Health Officer."

VACCINATION OF BABIES.

"Under Sections 7 and 8 of the Act, the father or mother of every child born within the Province, shall, within three months after the birth of such child, or within the period of time specified in the Act, to be taken, the child to the medical practitioner in attendance at the appointed place, for the purpose of being vaccinated, unless the child upon the eighth day following the vaccination—the father or mother shall again take, or cause to be taken, the child to the medical practitioner, in order that he may ascertain by inspection the result of the operation. The penalty for non-compliance with these requirements is set forth in Section 13. If the father or mother does not cause the child to be vaccinated within the period prescribed by this Act, or does not, on the eighth day after the vaccination, or substitutes, or then the father or mother, so offending, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding $5.00 recoverable on summary conviction before a Police Magistrate."

SCHOOL LAWS AND VACCINATION.

"In spite of the unmistakable terms of the Act, and the penalty for non-compliance, the law is so far ignored and treated as an unenforced liability to a penalty not exceeding $5.00, recoverable on summary conviction before the Police Magistrate. It would appear that there is little desire on the part of anyone interested to enforce the law as the facts of violation are easily procured, and the would-be offender can call attention to the matter. But who desires to see the law enforced?"

VACCINATION OF THE ADULT.

"Nor does it appear that the meaning thing that not till application is made for admission of children to the Public schools, at ages varying from five to ten years, is it discovered that their parents are violators of the law. The Public school system becomes the net to catch these offenders under Section 16 of the Act, which declares that it shall be lawful for the trustees of any Public Separate or High school to provide that no children shall be permitted to attend any school without producing a certificate of successful vaccination when demanded by the teacher."

"From this, it may appear that all parents who delay vaccination of their children till compelled to vaccination by the provisions of the Public School Board, are guilty of an offence under Section 7 of the Act, most strict enforcement of the law would effect the purpose for which the law is supposed to exist. For example, Section 15 makes provision that in every municipality where smallpox exists, or in which there is danger of its breaking out through communication with infected localities, the Council of the municipality may order the vaccination of all persons resident in the municipality who have not been vaccinated within seven years, and the medical practitioner shall adopt the same measures to secure the re-vaccination of all such persons as he is required to do with regard to children."

"There is a provision to enforce vaccination of adults on the ground that vaccination holds good no longer than seven years. But only in case of smallpox epidemic does the law become aggressive. It considers a person as unvaccinated seven years, but makes no provision, except upon the appearance of smallpox, for the re-vaccination of such persons. It provides that three-month-old infants must be vaccinated, but every man and woman and child over seven years of age in the community may go unprotected unless an epidemic of smallpox appears."

MERITS OF VACCINATION.

"And all this is apart from the merits of vaccination. The practice of vaccination is adhered to by the majority of medical men in Ontario under the present law, they are tied to it, whether or no. Some have faith in it, and some do not. Prominent investigators, medical men of worldwide authority, have unhesitatingly pronounced against it. Professor Alfred Russel Wallace, who deals with the matter from the standpoint of a statistician, says: 'The operation is, admittedly, the cause of many deaths, and of a large but unknown amount of trustworthy injury; the only really trustworthy statistics on a large scale prove it to be wholly without effect, as a preventive of smallpox, and it will undoubtedly rank as the greatest and most pernicious failure of the century.' The late Rev. Hugh Price Hughes, who carefully studied the claims and results of vaccination, asserts: 'The facts produced before the Royal Commission have finally convinced me that vaccination is a great mistake, and that compulsory vaccination is one of the most fearful outrages of sacred human rights that selfishness and cowardice have ever devised.'"

"To state the case most moderately, there is a question as to the merits of vaccination. If the claims of vaccination were established, there might be some defence for the law. But there being a question touching those claims, the law that enforces the practice is an unjustifiable interference with individual rights. It compels subjection of the body to a known evil, in anticipation of a doubtful good. It refuses to the individual the right of judgment in a questionable matter, and makes the bodies of his children, against which he believes to be an evil, a punishable misdemeanor. It commits an assault upon the person and will of the individual, under pretence that divine law does not sanction even to save the soul."

HOW TO GAIN HEALTH.

A Simple Plan that Should be Followed by All Who Are Sick

If you could buy back your health on the instalment plan—say 50 cents a week, for a limited number of weeks until cured—would you do it? Here is a plan worth trying—Taking into account their power to cure, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, are the most economical medicine, without exception. These pills have effected cures in cases of rheumatism, indigestion, kidney trouble, anaemia, and other serious diseases of the blood and nerves. They have cured hundreds of cases where ordinary medicine had been tried and failed. They have restored helpless invalids to full use of limbs that had long been powerless. That is the best guarantee that these pills will not disappoint when used for simpler ailments. Taking one pill after each meal, (as required for minor troubles), is sufficient. The 50-cent box of pills gives nearly two weeks' treatment. For chronic diseases, when the larger dose is required, the cost of treatment does not usually exceed fifty cents a week. If you are sick or ailing, is it not worth your while to give so effective a medicine as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial? What the pills have done for other people they can do for you. Every dose makes the new rich, red blood to give you strength, health and strength. They are the best tonic medicine to take at this time of the year, when the blood is sluggish and impoverished. Do not waste money on ordinary medicines, or substitutes; see that the full name, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," is printed on the wrapper around every box. Sold by all medicine dealers or sent post-paid at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SAVE THE BABY.

"I can truly say that had it not been for Baby's Own Tablets, I do not believe my baby would have been alive to-day." So writes Mrs. Albert Lindington, of St. Mary's River, N.S., and she adds:—"He is growing nicely, is good natured and is getting fat." It is gratifying to know that in all parts of Canada, Baby's Own Tablets are proving a real blessing to children and a boon to mothers. These Tablets are a speedy relief and prompt cure for constipation, sour stomach, wind colic, diarrhoea, worms, and simple fevers. They break up cold, prevent croup and allay the irritation accompanying the cutting of teeth. Baby's Own Tablets are good for children of all ages from birth upwards, and are guaranteed to contain no opiate or harmful drug. Sold by medicine dealers, or sent by mail, post paid, at 25 cents a box, by writing direct to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Clean Your Liver WITH Munyon's Liver Remedy.

"Pure soap!" You've heard the words. In Sunlight Soap you have the fact.

SUNLIGHT SOAP REDUCES EXPENSE

Ask for the Octagon Brand.

BRIEF BUT PERTINENT.

A good business man knows what to say in an advertisement. Goods should give satisfaction if they are to retain customers. When a business man lets up on advertising, his business will let up on him.

What appeals to the customer is to know that he will get the worth of her cash.

The easiest way to sell good things is to have it known you have good things to sell.

The way to save a dollar is what should be advertised to the ordinary customer.

Profits is the fruit that grows on the tree of good advertising; now is the blossoming season.

Advertising is worth all it costs if the merchant can get that much value into the same price he uses.

Many merchants waste money in advertising; some by doing too much of it and some by not doing enough.

Don't try to expand the business until the profit becomes necessary to abandon the defence of that already established.

Some people like to buy where goods are fine and some where goods are cheap. It pays to appeal to all and make the publicity inviting to all.

It takes an inducement to make some people buy and the best way to insure their buying is to make them appreciate the greatness of your inducement.

No article is so cheap that people will want it just because of the low price. It must have a quality that makes it worth the price if people are expected to buy and appreciate it.

The deepest Atlantic sounding yet discovered is 27,866 feet. It was taken 100 miles north of Porto Rico, and the Pacific has a spot near Guam 4,300 feet deeper.

There never was, and never will be, a unit of length which is not the very mean of many curvatures being such that were disease, not in the system of the patient—what would relieve one ill, in turn would aggravate the other. We have, however, in Quinine Wine, when taken in a sound unacidulated state, a remedy for many and various ills. By its gradual and necessary use, the frail systems are led into convalescence and strength, by the influence which Quinine exerts on natural restoratives. It relieves the drooping spirits of those with whom a chronic state of morbid despondency and lack of interest in life is a disease, and by tranquilizing the nerves, disposes to sound and refreshing sleep. It is a tonic to the action of the blood, which has increased strength through the veins, strengthening the healthy animal functions of the system, thereby increasing the vitality necessary for strengthening the frame, and thus to the digestive organs, which naturally are weakened in Quinine Wine. It is a tonic to the system, and a stimulant to the appetite. Nourish and strengthen the system, and give to the public the benefit of Quinine Wine at the usual rate, and in the opinion of scientists, this wine approaches nearest perfection of any in the market. All druggists sell it.

"Afraid you're going to have insomnia? What are the symptoms?" "Twins."

Frederic, Jan. 6, 1902.

Massey-Harris Co., Limited, Winnipeg.

Gentlemen:—It gives me very much pleasure to inform you that the No. 4 Binder which I purchased from your Agent here last summer has given the very best of satisfaction, drawing light and being much lighter than I expected. My crop was very heavy, and some of it very badly down, but your binder did its work splendidly. I hope you sell lots of binders for 1903 and save me another farmer lots of trouble. I wish you every success.

R. M. FERRIS.

"Pure soap!" You've heard the words. In Sunlight Soap you have the fact.

"Pure soap!" You've heard the words. In Sunlight Soap you have the fact.

SUNLIGHT SOAP REDUCES EXPENSE

Ask for the Octagon Brand.

BRIEF BUT PERTINENT.

A good business man knows what to say in an advertisement. Goods should give satisfaction if they are to retain customers. When a business man lets up on advertising, his business will let up on him.

What appeals to the customer is to know that he will get the worth of her cash.

The easiest way to sell good things is to have it known you have good things to sell.

The way to save a dollar is what should be advertised to the ordinary customer.

Profits is the fruit that grows on the tree of good advertising; now is the blossoming season.

Advertising is worth all it costs if the merchant can get that much value into the same price he uses.

Many merchants waste money in advertising; some by doing too much of it and some by not doing enough.

Don't try to expand the business until the profit becomes necessary to abandon the defence of that already established.

Some people like to buy where goods are fine and some where goods are cheap. It pays to appeal to all and make the publicity inviting to all.

It takes an inducement to make some people buy and the best way to insure their buying is to make them appreciate the greatness of your inducement.

No article is so cheap that people will want it just because of the low price. It must have a quality that makes it worth the price if people are expected to buy and appreciate it.

The deepest Atlantic sounding yet discovered is 27,866 feet. It was taken 100 miles north of Porto Rico, and the Pacific has a spot near Guam 4,300 feet deeper.

There never was, and never will be, a unit of length which is not the very mean of many curvatures being such that were disease, not in the system of the patient—what would relieve one ill, in turn would aggravate the other. We have, however, in Quinine Wine, when taken in a sound unacidulated state, a remedy for many and various ills. By its gradual and necessary use, the frail systems are led into convalescence and strength, by the influence which Quinine exerts on natural restoratives. It relieves the drooping spirits of those with whom a chronic state of morbid despondency and lack of interest in life is a disease, and by tranquilizing the nerves, disposes to sound and refreshing sleep. It is a tonic to the action of the blood, which has increased strength through the veins, strengthening the healthy animal functions of the system, thereby increasing the vitality necessary for strengthening the frame, and thus to the digestive organs, which naturally are weakened in Quinine Wine. It is a tonic to the system, and a stimulant to the appetite. Nourish and strengthen the system, and give to the public the benefit of Quinine Wine at the usual rate, and in the opinion of scientists, this wine approaches nearest perfection of any in the market. All druggists sell it.

"Afraid you're going to have insomnia? What are the symptoms?" "Twins."

Frederic, Jan. 6, 1902.

Massey-Harris Co., Limited, Winnipeg.

Gentlemen:—It gives me very much pleasure to inform you that the No. 4 Binder which I purchased from your Agent here last summer has given the very best of satisfaction, drawing light and being much lighter than I expected. My crop was very heavy, and some of it very badly down, but your binder did its work splendidly. I hope you sell lots of binders for 1903 and save me another farmer lots of trouble. I wish you every success.

R. M. FERRIS.

"Pure soap!" You've heard the words. In Sunlight Soap you have the fact.

SUNLIGHT SOAP REDUCES EXPENSE

Ask for the Octagon Brand.

BRIEF BUT PERTINENT.

A good business man knows what to say in an advertisement. Goods should give satisfaction if they are to retain customers. When a business man lets up on advertising, his business will let up on him.

What appeals to the customer is to know that he will get the worth of her cash.

The easiest way to sell good things is to have it known you have good things to sell.

The way to save a dollar is what should be advertised to the ordinary customer.

Profits is the fruit that grows on the tree of good advertising; now is the blossoming season.

Advertising is worth all it costs if the merchant can get that much value into the same price he uses.

Many merchants waste money in advertising; some by doing too much of it and some by not doing enough.

Don't try to expand the business until the profit becomes necessary to abandon the defence of that already established.

Some people like to buy where goods are fine and some where goods are cheap. It pays to appeal to all and make the publicity inviting to all.

It takes an inducement to make some people buy and the best way to insure their buying is to make them appreciate the greatness of your inducement.

No article is so cheap that people will want it just because of the low price. It must have a quality that makes it worth the price if people are expected to buy and appreciate it.

The deepest Atlantic sounding yet discovered is 27,866 feet. It was taken 100 miles north of Porto Rico, and the Pacific has a spot near Guam 4,300 feet deeper.

There never was, and never will be, a unit of length which is not the very mean of many curvatures being such that were disease, not in the system of the patient—what would relieve one ill, in turn would aggravate the other. We have, however, in Quinine Wine, when taken in a sound unacidulated state, a remedy for many and various ills. By its gradual and necessary use, the frail systems are led into convalescence and strength, by the influence which Quinine exerts on natural restoratives. It relieves the drooping spirits of those with whom a chronic state of morbid despondency and lack of interest in life is a disease, and by tranquilizing the nerves, disposes to sound and refreshing sleep. It is a tonic to the action of the blood, which has increased strength through the veins, strengthening the healthy animal functions of the system, thereby increasing the vitality necessary for strengthening the frame, and thus to the digestive organs, which naturally are weakened in Quinine Wine. It is a tonic to the system, and a stimulant to the appetite. Nourish and strengthen the system, and give to the public the benefit of Quinine Wine at the usual rate, and in the opinion of scientists, this wine approaches nearest perfection of any in the market. All druggists sell it.

"Afraid you're going to have insomnia? What are the symptoms?" "Twins."

Frederic, Jan. 6, 1902.

Massey-Harris Co., Limited, Winnipeg.

Gentlemen:—It gives me very much pleasure to inform you that the No. 4 Binder which I purchased from your Agent here last summer has given the very best of satisfaction, drawing light and being much lighter than I expected. My crop was very heavy, and some of it very badly down, but your binder did its work splendidly. I hope you sell lots of binders for 1903 and save me another farmer lots of trouble. I wish you every success.

R. M. FERRIS.

"Pure soap!" You've heard the words. In Sunlight Soap you have the fact.

SUNLIGHT SOAP REDUCES EXPENSE

Ask for the Octagon Brand.

BRIEF BUT PERTINENT.

A good business man knows what to say in an advertisement. Goods should give satisfaction if they are to retain customers. When a business man lets up on advertising, his business will let up on him.

What appeals to the customer is to know that he will get the worth of her cash.

The easiest way to sell good things is to have it known you have good things to sell.

The way to save a dollar is what should be advertised to the ordinary customer.

Profits is the fruit that grows on the tree of good advertising; now is the blossoming season.

Advertising is worth all it costs if the merchant can get that much value into the same price he uses.

Many merchants waste money in advertising; some by doing too much of it and some by not doing enough.

Don't try to expand the business until the profit becomes necessary to abandon the defence of that already established.

Some people like to buy where goods are fine and some where goods are cheap. It pays to appeal to all and make the publicity inviting to all.

It takes an inducement to make some people buy and the best way to insure their buying is to make them appreciate the greatness of your inducement.

No article is so cheap that people will want it just because of the low price. It must have a quality that makes it worth the price if people are expected to buy and appreciate it.

The deepest Atlantic sounding yet discovered is 27,866 feet. It was taken 100 miles north of Porto Rico, and the Pacific has a spot near Guam 4,300 feet deeper.

There never was, and never will be, a unit of length which is not the very mean of many curvatures being such that were disease, not in the system of the patient—what would relieve one ill, in turn would aggravate the other. We have, however, in Quinine Wine, when taken in a sound unacidulated state, a remedy for many and various ills. By its gradual and necessary use, the frail systems are led into convalescence and strength, by the influence which Quinine exerts on natural restoratives. It relieves the drooping spirits of those with whom a chronic state of morbid despondency and lack of interest in life is a disease, and by tranquilizing the nerves, disposes to sound and refreshing sleep. It is a tonic to the action of the blood, which has increased strength through the veins, strengthening the healthy animal functions of the system, thereby increasing the vitality necessary for strengthening the frame, and thus to the digestive organs, which naturally are weakened in Quinine Wine. It is a tonic to the system, and a stimulant to the appetite. Nourish and strengthen the system, and give to the public the benefit of Quinine Wine at the usual rate, and in the opinion of scientists, this wine approaches nearest perfection of any in the market. All druggists sell it.

"Afraid you're going to have insomnia? What are the symptoms?" "Twins."

Frederic, Jan. 6, 1902.

Massey-Harris Co., Limited, Winnipeg.

Gentlemen:—It gives me very much pleasure to inform you that the No. 4 Binder which I purchased from your Agent here last summer has given the very best of satisfaction, drawing light and being much lighter than I expected. My crop was very heavy, and some of it very badly down, but your binder did its work splendidly. I hope you sell lots of binders for 1903 and save me another farmer lots of trouble. I wish you every success.

R. M. FERRIS.

"Pure soap!" You've heard the words. In Sunlight Soap you have the fact.

SUNLIGHT SOAP REDUCES EXPENSE

Ask for the Octagon Brand.

BRIEF BUT PERTINENT.

A good business man knows what to say in an advertisement. Goods should give satisfaction if they are to retain customers. When a business man lets up on advertising, his business will let up on him.

What appeals to the customer is to know that he will get the worth of her cash.

The easiest way to sell good things is to have it known you have good things to sell.

The way to save a dollar is what should be advertised to the ordinary customer.

Profits is the fruit that grows on the tree of good advertising; now is the blossoming season.

Advertising is worth all it costs if the merchant can get that much value into the same price he uses.

Many merchants waste money in advertising; some by doing too much of it and some by not doing enough.

Don't try to expand the business until the profit becomes necessary to abandon the defence of that already established.

Some people like to buy where goods are fine and some where goods are cheap. It pays to appeal to all and make the publicity inviting to all.

It takes an inducement to make some people buy and the best way to insure their buying is to make them appreciate the greatness of your inducement.

No article is so cheap that people will want it just because of the low price. It must have a quality that makes it worth the price if people are expected to buy and appreciate it.

The deepest Atlantic sounding yet discovered is 27,866 feet. It was taken 100 miles north of Porto Rico, and the Pacific has a spot near Guam 4,300 feet deeper.

There never was, and never will be, a unit of length which is not the very mean of many curvatures being such that were disease, not in the system of the patient—what would relieve one ill, in turn would aggravate the other. We have, however, in Quinine Wine, when taken in a sound unacidulated state, a remedy for many and various ills. By its gradual and necessary use, the frail systems are led into convalescence and strength, by the influence which Quinine exerts on natural restoratives. It relieves the drooping spirits of those with whom a chronic state of morbid despondency and lack of interest in life is a disease, and by tranquilizing the nerves, disposes to sound and refreshing sleep. It is a tonic to the action of the blood, which has increased strength through the veins, strengthening the healthy animal functions of the system, thereby increasing the vitality necessary for strengthening the frame, and thus to the digestive organs, which naturally are weakened in Quinine Wine. It is a tonic to the system, and a stimulant to the appetite. Nourish and strengthen the system, and give to the public the benefit of Quinine Wine at the usual rate, and in the opinion of scientists, this wine approaches nearest perfection of any in the market. All druggists sell it.

"Afraid you're going to have insomnia? What are the symptoms?" "Twins."

Frederic, Jan. 6, 1902.

Massey-Harris Co., Limited, Winnipeg.

Gentlemen:—It gives me very much pleasure to inform you that the No. 4 Binder which I purchased from your Agent here last summer has given the very best of satisfaction, drawing light and being much lighter than I expected. My crop was very heavy, and some of it very badly down, but your binder did its work splendidly. I hope you sell lots of binders for 1903 and save me another farmer lots of trouble. I wish you every success.

R. M. FERRIS.

"Pure soap!" You've heard the words. In Sunlight Soap you have the fact.

SUNLIGHT SOAP REDUCES EXPENSE

Ask for the Octagon Brand.

BRIEF BUT PERTINENT.

A good business man knows what to say in an advertisement. Goods should give satisfaction if they are to retain customers. When a business man lets up on advertising, his business will let up on him.

What appeals to the customer is to know that he will get the worth of her cash.

The easiest way to sell good things is to have it known you have good things to sell.

The way to save a dollar is what should be advertised to the ordinary customer.

Profits is the fruit that grows on the tree of good advertising; now is the blossoming season.

Advertising is worth all it costs if the merchant can get that much value into the same price he uses.

Many merchants waste money in advertising; some by doing too much of it and some by not doing enough.

Don't try to expand the business until the profit becomes necessary to abandon the defence of that already established.

Some people like to buy where goods are fine and some where goods are cheap. It pays to appeal to all and make the publicity inviting to all.

It takes an inducement to make some people buy and the best way to insure their buying is to make them appreciate the greatness of your inducement.

No article is so cheap that people will want it just because of the low price. It must have a quality that makes it worth the price if people are expected to buy and appreciate it.

The deepest Atlantic sounding yet discovered is 27,866 feet. It was taken 100 miles north of Porto Rico, and the Pacific has a spot near Guam 4,300 feet deeper.

There never was, and never will be, a unit of length which is not the very mean of many curvatures being such that were disease, not in the system of the patient—what would relieve one ill, in turn would aggravate the other. We have, however, in Quinine Wine, when taken in a sound unacidulated state, a remedy for many and various ills. By its gradual and necessary use, the frail systems are led into convalescence and strength, by the influence which Quinine exerts on natural restoratives. It relieves the drooping spirits of those with whom a chronic state of morbid despondency and lack of interest in life is a disease, and by tranquilizing the nerves, disposes to sound and refreshing sleep. It is a tonic to the action of the blood, which has increased strength through the veins, strengthening the healthy animal functions of the system, thereby increasing the vitality necessary for strengthening the frame, and thus to the digestive organs, which naturally are weakened in Quinine Wine. It is a tonic to the system, and a stimulant to the appetite. Nourish and strengthen the system, and give to the public the benefit of Quinine Wine at the usual rate, and in the opinion of scientists, this wine approaches nearest perfection of any in the market. All druggists sell it.

"Afraid you're going to have insomnia? What are the symptoms?" "Twins."

Frederic, Jan. 6, 1902.

Massey-Harris Co., Limited, Winnipeg.

Gentlemen:—It gives me very much pleasure to inform you that the No. 4 Binder which I purchased from your Agent here last summer has given the very best of satisfaction, drawing light and being much lighter than I expected. My crop was very heavy, and some of it very badly down, but your binder did its work splendidly. I hope you sell lots of binders for 1903 and save me another farmer lots of trouble. I wish you every success.

R. M. FERRIS.

"Pure soap!" You've heard the words. In Sunlight Soap you have the fact.

SUNLIGHT SOAP REDUCES EXPENSE

Ask for the Octagon Brand.

BRIEF BUT PERTINENT.

A good business man knows what to say in an advertisement. Goods should give satisfaction if they are to retain customers. When a business man lets up on advertising, his business will let up on him.

What appeals to the customer is to know that he will get the worth of her cash.

The easiest way to sell good things is to have it known you have good things to sell.

The way to save a dollar is what should be advertised to the ordinary customer.

Profits is the fruit that grows on the tree of good advertising; now is the blossoming season.

Advertising is worth all it costs if the merchant can get that much value into the same price he uses.

Many merchants waste money in advertising; some by doing too much of it and some by not doing enough.

Don't try to expand the business until the profit becomes necessary to abandon the defence of that already established.

Some people like to buy where goods are fine and some where goods are cheap. It pays to appeal to all and make the publicity inviting to all.

It takes an inducement to make some people buy and the best way to insure their buying is to make them appreciate the greatness of your inducement.

No article is so cheap that people will want it just because of the low price. It must have a quality that makes it worth the price if people are expected to buy and appreciate it.

The deepest Atlantic sounding yet discovered is 27,866 feet. It was taken 100 miles north of Porto Rico, and the Pacific has a spot near Guam 4,300 feet deeper.

There never was, and never will be, a unit of length which is not the very mean of many curvatures being such that were disease, not in the system of the patient—what would relieve one ill, in turn would aggravate the other. We have, however, in Quinine Wine, when taken in a sound unacidulated state, a remedy for many and various ills. By its gradual and necessary use, the frail systems are led into convalescence and strength, by the influence which Quinine exerts on natural restoratives. It relieves the drooping spirits of those with whom a chronic state of morbid despondency and lack of interest in life is a disease, and by tranquilizing the nerves, disposes to sound and refreshing sleep. It is a tonic to the action of the blood, which has increased strength through the veins, strengthening the healthy animal functions of the system, thereby increasing the vitality necessary for strengthening the frame, and thus to the digestive organs, which naturally are weakened in Quinine Wine. It is a tonic to the system, and a stimulant to the appetite. Nourish and strengthen the system, and give to the public the benefit of Quinine Wine at the usual rate, and in the opinion of scientists, this wine approaches nearest perfection of any in the market. All druggists sell it.

"Afraid you're going to have insomnia? What are the symptoms?" "Twins."

Frederic, Jan. 6, 1902.

Massey-Harris Co., Limited, Winnipeg.

Gentlemen:—It gives me very much pleasure to inform you that the No. 4 Binder which I purchased from your Agent here last summer has given the very best of satisfaction, drawing light and being much lighter than I expected. My crop was very heavy, and some of it very badly down, but your binder did its work splendidly. I hope you sell lots of binders for 1903 and save me another farmer lots of trouble. I wish you every success.

R. M. FERRIS.

"Pure soap!" You've heard the words. In Sunlight Soap you have the fact.

SUNLIGHT SOAP REDUCES EXPENSE

Ask for the Octagon Brand.

BRIEF BUT PERTINENT.

A good business man knows what to say in an advertisement. Goods should give satisfaction if they are to retain customers. When a business man lets up on advertising, his business will let up on him.

What appeals to the customer is to know that he will get the worth of her cash.

The easiest way to sell good things is to have it known you have good things to sell.

The way to save a dollar is what should be advertised to the ordinary customer.

Profits is the fruit that grows on the tree of good advertising; now is the blossoming season.

Advertising is worth all it costs if the merchant can get that much value into the same price he uses.

Many merchants waste money in advertising; some by doing too much of it and some by not doing enough.

Don't try to expand the business until the profit becomes necessary to abandon the defence of that already established.

Some people like to buy where goods are fine and some where goods are cheap. It pays to appeal to all and make the publicity inviting to all.

It takes an inducement to make some people buy and the best way to insure their buying is to make them appreciate the greatness of your inducement.

No article is so cheap that people will want it just because of the low price. It must have a quality that makes it worth the price if people are expected to buy and appreciate it.

The deepest Atlantic sounding yet discovered is 27,866 feet. It was taken 100 miles north of Porto Rico, and the Pacific has a spot near Guam 4,300 feet deeper.

There never was, and never will be, a unit of length which is not the very mean of many curvatures being such that were disease, not in the system of the patient—what would relieve one ill, in turn would aggravate the other. We have, however, in Quinine Wine, when taken in a sound unacidulated state, a remedy for many and various ills. By its gradual and necessary use, the frail systems are led into convalescence and strength, by the influence which Quinine exerts on natural restoratives. It relieves the drooping spirits of those with whom a chronic state of morbid despondency and lack of interest in life is a disease, and by tranquilizing the nerves, disposes to sound and refreshing sleep. It is a tonic to the action of the blood, which has increased strength through the veins, strengthening the healthy animal functions of the system, thereby increasing the vitality necessary for strengthening the frame, and thus to the digestive organs, which naturally are weakened in Quinine Wine. It is a tonic to the system, and a stimulant to the appetite. Nourish and strengthen the system, and give to the public the benefit of Quinine Wine at the usual rate, and in the opinion of scientists, this wine approaches nearest perfection of any in the market. All druggists sell it.

"Afraid you're going to have insomnia? What are the symptoms?" "Twins."

Frederic, Jan. 6, 1902.

Massey-Harris Co., Limited, Winnipeg.

Gentlemen:—It gives me very much pleasure to inform you that the No. 4 Binder which I purchased from your Agent here last summer has given the very best of satisfaction, drawing light and being much lighter than I expected. My crop was very heavy, and some of it very badly down, but your binder did its work splendidly. I hope you sell lots of binders for 1903 and save me another farmer lots of trouble. I wish you every success.

R. M. FERRIS.

"Pure soap!" You've heard the words. In Sunlight Soap you have the fact.

SUNLIGHT SOAP REDUCES EXPENSE

Ask for the Octagon Brand.

BRIEF BUT PERTINENT.

A good business man knows what to say in an advertisement. Goods should give satisfaction if they are to retain customers. When a business man lets up on advertising, his business will let up on him.

What appeals to the customer is to know that he will get the worth of her cash.

The easiest way to sell good things is to have it known you have good things to sell.

The way to save a dollar is what should be advertised to the ordinary customer.

Profits is the fruit that grows on the tree of good advertising; now is the blossoming season.

Advertising is worth all it costs if the merchant can get that much value into the same price he uses.

Many merchants waste money in advertising; some by doing too much of it and some by not doing enough.

Don't try to expand the business until the profit becomes necessary to abandon the defence of that already established.

Some people like to buy where goods are fine and some where goods are cheap. It pays to appeal to all and make the publicity inviting to all.

It takes an inducement to make some people buy and the best way to insure their buying is to make them appreciate the greatness of your inducement.

No article is so cheap that people will want it just because of the low price. It must have a quality that makes it worth the price if people are expected to buy and appreciate it.

The deepest Atlantic sounding yet discovered is 27,866 feet. It was taken 100 miles north of Porto Rico, and the Pacific has a spot near Guam 4,300 feet deeper.

There never was, and never will be, a unit of length which is not the very mean of many curvatures being such that were disease, not in the system of the patient—what would relieve one ill, in turn would aggravate the other. We have, however, in Quinine Wine, when taken in a sound unacidulated state, a remedy for many and various ills. By its gradual and necessary use, the frail systems are led into convalescence and strength, by the influence which Quinine exerts on natural restoratives. It relieves the drooping spirits of those with whom a chronic state of morbid despondency and lack of interest in life is a disease, and by tranquilizing the nerves, disposes to sound and refreshing sleep. It is a tonic to the action of the blood, which has increased strength through the veins, strengthening the healthy animal functions of the system, thereby increasing the vitality necessary for strengthening the frame, and thus to the digestive organs, which naturally are weakened in Quinine Wine. It is a tonic to the system, and a stimulant to the appetite. Nourish and strengthen the system, and give to the public the benefit of Quinine Wine at the usual rate, and in the opinion of scientists, this wine approaches nearest perfection of any in the market. All druggists sell it.

"Afraid you're going to have insomnia? What are the symptoms?" "Twins."

Frederic, Jan. 6, 1902.

Massey-Harris Co., Limited, Winnipeg.

Gentlemen:—It gives me very much pleasure to inform you that the No. 4 Binder which I purchased from your Agent here last summer has given the very best of satisfaction, drawing light and being much lighter than I expected. My crop was very heavy, and some of it very badly down, but your binder did its work splendidly. I hope you sell lots of binders for 1903 and save me another farmer lots of trouble. I wish you every success.

R. M. FERRIS.

"Pure soap!" You've heard the words. In Sunlight Soap you have the fact.

SUNLIGHT SOAP REDUCES EXPENSE

Ask for the Octagon Brand.

BRIEF BUT PERTINENT.

A good business man knows what to say in an advertisement. Goods should give satisfaction if they are to retain customers. When a business man lets up on advertising, his business will let up on him.

What appeals to the customer is to know that he will get the worth of her cash.

The easiest way to sell good things is to have it known you have good things to sell.

The way to save a dollar is what should be advertised to the ordinary customer.

Profits is the fruit that grows on the tree of good advertising; now is the blossoming season.

Advertising is worth all it costs if the merchant can get that much value into the same price he uses.

Many merchants waste money in advertising; some by doing too much of it and some by not doing enough.

Don't try to expand the business until the profit becomes necessary to abandon the defence of that already established.

Some people like to buy where goods are fine and some where goods are cheap. It pays to appeal to all and make the publicity inviting to all.

It takes an inducement to make some people buy and the best way to insure their buying is to make them appreciate the greatness of your inducement.

No article is so cheap that people will want it just because of the low price. It must have a quality that makes it worth the price if people are expected to buy and appreciate it.

The deepest Atlantic sounding yet discovered is 27,866 feet. It was taken 100 miles north of Porto Rico, and the Pacific has a spot near Guam 4,300 feet deeper.

There never was, and never will be, a unit of length which is not the very mean of many curvatures being such that were disease, not in the system of the patient—what would relieve one ill, in turn would aggravate the other. We have, however, in Quinine Wine, when taken in a sound unacidulated state, a remedy for many and various ills. By its gradual and necessary use, the frail systems are led into convalescence and strength, by the influence which Quinine exerts on natural restoratives. It relieves the drooping spirits of those with whom a chronic state of morbid despondency and lack of interest in life is a disease, and by tranquilizing the nerves, disposes to sound and refreshing sleep. It is a tonic to the action of the blood, which has increased strength through the veins, strengthening the healthy animal functions of the system, thereby increasing the vitality necessary for strengthening the frame, and thus to the digestive organs, which naturally are weakened in Quinine Wine. It is a tonic to the system, and a stimulant to the appetite. Nourish and strengthen the system, and give to the public the benefit of Quinine Wine at the usual rate, and in the opinion of scientists, this wine approaches nearest perfection of any in the market. All druggists sell it.

"Afraid you're going to have insomnia? What are the symptoms?" "Twins."

Frederic, Jan. 6, 1902.

Massey-Harris Co., Limited, Winnipeg.

Gentlemen:—It gives me very much pleasure to inform you that the No. 4 Binder which I purchased from your Agent here last summer has given the very best of satisfaction, drawing light and being much lighter than I expected. My crop was very heavy, and some of it very badly down, but your binder did its work splendidly. I hope you sell lots of binders for 1903 and save me another farmer lots of trouble. I wish you every success.

R. M. FERRIS.

"Pure soap!" You've heard the words. In Sunlight Soap you have the fact.

SUNLIGHT SOAP REDUCES EXPENSE

Ask for the Octagon Brand.

BRIEF BUT PERT