Six Good Reasons.

Six reasons why the Electors of East Victoria should support J. H. Carnegie, and allow Louis Heyd to pursue the practice of his chosen profession:

1 Mr. Carnegie is a resident of the County; Mr. Heyd is a resident of Toronto.

2 Mr. Carnegie is a large land owner and tax payer of the County; Mr. Heyd's possessions are on Toronto St.

3 Mr. Carnegie is a practical farmer and dairyman; Mr. Heyd is a lawyer.

4 Mr. Carnegie is a man with eight year's experience in the Legislature; Mr. Heyd as a legislator is an unknown quantity.

5 Mr. Heyd is a supporter of the Ross Stratton Government and all the political iniquity it represents; Mr. Carnegie stands for clean, honest and economical administration of our public affairs.

6 Mr. Carnegie would be in the confidence of the Whitney Government; Mr. Heyd would be shivering in the cool shades of opposition.

A Change is Necessary.

Mr. J. W. Longley, Attorney-General in the Liberal Government of Nova Scotia, advances this argument among others in favor of a change of Government:

"Under a system of popular Government it goes without saying that frequent changes of Administration are necessary to a healthy development of public affairs."

"Frequent changes of Government are obviously, as has been said, in the public interest. It is impossible for any body of men to be in power for a continuous period without getting lax in their idea of public duty. That is the innate tendency of mankind."

"Besides, long terms of office induce the members of the Government to get the notion that they not only have a divine right to rule, but that instead of being servants and trustees they are actually the masters, and all favors are to come from them."

"This is subversive of the whole theory of popular government, and it is in the interest of the people to have it clearly understood that governments are not heaven appointed rulers, but mere instruments of power subject to the will and control of the electorate."

"Again, long terms of office tend to get public matters running in a rut. A department gets mouldy in time under one management, unless, indeed, the administrator is a man of more than ordinary wisdom and capacity, which is not too often the case."

"Frequent changes are necessary in order that new ideas and fresh energy be infused."

For the benefit of some of our readers who may think that we are playing a double hand game in the election campaign, we may say right here that we are not. Mr. Carnegie, who has carried this riding by a large majority in the last two provincial campaigns, is the man the Mirror is working for, will vote for, and we hope those of our readers who have a vote will do likewise, and roll up a larger majority than ever before for the people's friend, Mr. John H. Carnegie. These remarks have been made on account of a letter, appearing in the form of a letter, appearing in these columns, signed by "An Elector."

The Chosen Friends' Hall has been secured by the Conservatives for a Committee room, and will be opened for campaign purposes at an early date.

It has been said that it would be a great advantage to have a representative of E. Victoria living in Toronto. This is certainly a school boy argument. If you carry this out to its logical conclusion, each riding should secure a resident of Toronto as its representative, because he being near the Parliament Buildings can more readily secure legislation for his constituents, than the man fifty or a hundred miles away. What humbug!

Vote for Mr. Carnegie

When one reads the Government papers you would think that a gov't election was merely a formal affair in which the Ross Cabinet indulged in a little pleasure jaunting and on a certain date counted up their majority. We would like to ask our esteemed opponents what pleasure they get out of the political conditions in Central Ont. In S. Ont. the Dakota Minister of Agriculture was beaten four years ago by Mr. Calder, and to say the best, he has only even chances of winning. N. Ont. is almost certain to elect Mr. Hoyle, Con. W. Victoria will elect the late popular member, S. Fox and E. Victoria's "native born" candidate will show his heels to the legal importation of Hon. James R. Stratton. Mr. Reid, Con., will certainly carry W. Durham and in East Durham the Reformers have had hard work coaxing a victim to face the redoubtable "Joe" Preston, of Bethany. To say the least of W. Peterboro is to say that the Prov. Sec'y will have the hardest fight he ever had to retain his seat. E. Peterboro is conceded by the Reformers themselves to Dr. Ford. In W. Northumberland Sam Clark the Reform Candidate, may be allowed to amuse the people at home with his jokes, while Mr. Spence represents the riding at Toronto. Dr. Willoughby will redeem E. Northumberland. By the reports in the daily press it would appear that the Reform Candidate in Prince Edward had failed to make good. In the three Hastings the best the Gov't can expect is one seat. Yet in the face of these facts they say, "our major will be a greater one than has been."

THE RETURNING OFFICERS.

Although the writs for the General Elections will not be issued till May 5th, a large proportion of the returning officers have been appointed. Those selected are in nearly every case either the Sheriff or Registrar of the county concerned. Those appointed in this County are: Victoria East, E. C. Young, Minden, Registrar of Haliburton; Victoria West, J. McLennan, Sheriff, Lindsay.

SCHOOL BOY KILLS GIRL PLAYMATE.

Kingston, April 28.—Eric Sharpe, son of a Prince Street grocer, shot and killed Beatrice Holland, daughter of George Holland, Rideau Street, and engineer on the Kingston and Pembroke Railway, while leaving Frontenac School this afternoon. The lad is at police headquarters, and is beside himself with grief and bewilderment. The boy is about 15 years of age, and the girl 14. Both were in the junior fourth class. The bullet entered the girl's temple, and death ensued before the ambulance arrived at the school.

The affair occurred just as the class was being dismissed at four o'clock. Young Sharpe had put on his hat in the cloak-room, and Beatrice, who was near him, jokingly tipped it. Herries told her to stop or he would shoot, and with that he drew a revolver from his pocket. There was a report, a scream, and the little girl fell to the floor. An ambulance and physicians were summoned, but their services were not needed for the child was dead before the ambulance arrived at the school.

Major Neill got a great reception when he rose to speak. He would do his duty; but one wrong was more fatal than 10,000 rights, and if a mistake was made he hoped like friends would lay it to lack of ability and not lack of courage. He owed much to Col. Hughes. When in Africa he would recognize only the Union Jack and no other flag. (Applause.)

Two Ways of Advertising.

A man was denouncing newspaper advertising to a crowd of listeners.

"Last week," he said, "I had an umbrella stolen from the vestibule of the church, last Sabbath evening, a black silk umbrella. The gentleman who took it will be handsomely rewarded by leaving it at No.—San Fernando street."

"Now," said the merchant, "I am a liberal adviser, and have always found that it paid me well. A great deal depends upon the manner in which an advertisement is put. Let me try for you to see if this will regret sincerely to learn of her end fate, and will sympathize with her father and remaining members of the family."—Lindsay Post, Friday, April 25.

The merchant then took a slip of paper from his pocket and wrote. "If the man who was seen to take an umbrella from the vestibule of the church last Sabbath evening, does not wish to get into trouble and have a stain cast upon the Christian character which he values so highly, will return it to No.—San Fernando street. He is well known."

This duly appeared in the paper, and on the following morning the man was astonished when he opened the front door of his residence. On the porch lay at least a dozen umbrellas, of all sizes and colors, that had been thrown from the sidewalk, while the front yard was literally paved with umbrellas. Many of them had notes attached to them saying that they had been taken by mistake, and begging the owner to keep the little affair quiet.

Major Neill and Capt. Staples

BANQUETTED BY COL. HUGHES.

On Tuesday night Col. Hughes entertained about 75 military men and citizens of the town and county at the Benson House. The event was chiefly in honor of Maj.-Gen. of Omemee and Capt. Staples, of Woodville, who were about to leave for South Africa, as members of the third contingent of Canadian Mounted Rifles. Among those who sat down were officers of the 46th, visiting members of the 46th, Major Fowler, M. P., of Sussex, N. B., representatives of the rifle association and cadets, a veteran or two, and many prominent civilians.

The colonel presided in his happiest fashion. On his right sat His Honor Judge Harding, and at his left Mr. Angus Stalker of the 46th regiment, of which Col. John Hughes is commander. The menu was after the fashion of those that have made the Benson House famous for spreads of this sort. An early start was made and although there was a full toast list with several speakers for each toast, the gathering broke up before 1:30.

In his opening remarks, Col. Hughes announced that he had handed in his resignation as commander of the 45th Regiment. He could have retained office for three years longer, but he had chosen to give it up beforehand rather than hold on to the extreme limit. He had been 36 years in the service and re-entered leaving the regiment. Although out of the regiment, he would if future the call came, do his duty and not be found in the rear. (Applause.)

In speaking of the guests of the evening, Col. Hughes said, No man has gone from here to Africa, or will go, who can handle men in the face of the enemy, better than Major Neill. (Applause.) That is an essential faculty. It is all right to wear a glass eye, a la Oscar Wilde, but the iteability due is no use. The officer in command must be a man with his wits about him—a man who can bury the enemy instead of his own men. It would be hard to find the equal of Major Neill in the dominion.

For courage in action I will put Capt. Staples against the bravest. He has good ability to command men. I told the Minister of Militia, when he asked me about officers for this contingent, that I could pick 10 officers superior to any yet sent to Africa. A man who leads men into needless death is a murderer and if I had been responsible for the slaughter that some officers have been, I should feel like skulking out of sight. These two officers will reflect credit on their regiment and the British army. No Canadian has yet had command of a brigade in Africa; perhaps I came nearest to it for I at several times had an independent command and met no disaster. I would not think of serving under some who have been given command out there. The British army has to be remodelled or the Empire will fall to pieces. It is no use to reason with the war office—you can't reason with them; but the colonial office must be given very plainly to understand that Canadians must be treated differently or there will be trouble.

Major Neill got a great reception when he rose to speak. He would do his duty; but one wrong was more fatal than 10,000 rights, and if a mistake was made he hoped like friends would lay it to lack of ability and not lack of courage. He owed much to Col. Hughes. When in Africa he would recognize only the Union Jack and no other flag. (Applause.)

At this point Lieut. Patterson of Woodville, presented Capt. Staples with a purse of $57 from the people of Woodville. In response the captain said he had never been so glad before as when he "knew" that he had won such a friend.

The boy declares he got the revolver under the school steps, but other lads say he had been carrying it, and had been using it in shooting frogs.

The families concerned are well known and persons of good standing in the city. The parents are grief stricken. There is every intention to have the matter fully investigated, and an inquest will be held.—Mail and Empire
