EDITORIAL NOTES.

Our industrial army receives $100,000,000 per annum in wages. This money, instead of going abroad, is used in purchasing necessaries, including such as are grown on our own farms. Will free trade make you rich?

***

"Electric roads and bicycles," says the Hamilton Herald, "are playing hub with horses in the Western States. Horses which sold for $50 apiece a few years ago are now being sold for $2 and $3 each, and even at that absurd figure the supply is greater than the demand." This is a condition of affairs that ought to receive the attention of Sir Richard Cartwright. Why not take off the duty? In fact, will free trade make you rich?

Rational dress seems to be worn by rational people, if the description of the congress which met to discuss the subject in London a few days ago does justice to all the parties concerned. If the dress was scant it was at all events splendid, particularly that worn by the men delegates, scarlet coats, gay garters, and bright stockings being in much favor among them. They preached a strong crusade against the trusty suspender.

William D. Welter and John H. Hendershott were hanged on Tuesday at St. Thomas, Ont., for the murder of William Hendershott on December 14th, 1894, in the woods at Middlemarch, Southwold township. The crime was committed to secure several thousand dollars of insurance which John Hendershott, uncle of the victim, had placed on the life of his nephew. Both the condemned men made a confession to the Rev. Mr. Spencer, but he refused to give any particulars of the confession.

A VERY INTERESTING SERMON

Was Preached by the Rev. Amand Parent

IN THE METHODIST CHURCH HERE ON SUNDAY EVENING.

On Monday Evening he Delivered his Lecture on his Own Life, in the Same Edifice, to a Large Audience.

On Sunday evening last the Rev Amand Parent, a converted Roman Catholic, preached to a very large congregation in the Methodist church, taking his text from the 3rd chapter of Isaiah and the 10th and 11th verses, "Say ye to the righteous, that it shall be well with him; for they shall eat the fruit of their doings. Woe unto the wicked! it shall be ill with him; for the rewards of his hands shall be given him." The Rev. gentleman was listened to with marked attention, and indeed a large number were greatly impressed by his earnest and zealous utterances. He has preached and given lectures in all the large towns and cities in Ontario. In Hamilton alone he preached in twelve churches, and has been instrumental in leading a large number to know and prove the saving power of Christ. While preaching to the Oka Indians the Roman Catholics tore down the church which the Rev. gentleman had built for worship. When the Roman Catholic church was burned the Indians were blamed for it, and a long trial was the outcome, but were clearly proven to be innocent.

On Monday evening in the above edifice, the Rev. Amand Parent, who was once a Roman Catholic, but since his conversion he has been a missionary for 47 years, and 31 years in connection with the Methodist church, gave an interesting lecture. In commencing his discourse he said he was born a Roman Catholic and until nineteen years of age, remained steadfast to that faith, when he was called to take part in the rebellion of 1837. He had made up his mind to make the English run, and they did run, but it was after him they ran. He went on to show how he had to leave his native land and go to the States, and that while there he became enlightened by Christian influence which forced him to read the bible and in consequence he became a converted man. This proves the power of the gospel of Christ. He stated that he was not prejudiced against the Roman Catholic people; it was their doctrine he found to be wrong, saying he believed a large number of Catholics were far better than their creeds. He gave an exteeded account of his life among the Indians. In his work there he was greatly assisted by his wife and daughter. One evening, he said, while he was absent from home some of the bullies from Quebec City broke into his house and were heard by his wife and daughters, who were, of course, very much frightened, but were also courageous. They started down stairs to where they heard the noise, but on the way his wife pretended that she had forgotten the pistol and told her daughter to get it, and the intruders taking the hint, made their escape as quickly as possible and no serious harm was done. These bullies were hired by the priests, to harrass the Indians, so as they would leave the country and the property to fall into the hands of the Roman Catholics, which is valued at about $40,000 000, but as yet they have not accomplished their proposals. Another instance of the danger to which he and his family were in, was one time when a pose of policemen from Quebec came to his house, and one of them, a big bully of about 200 lbs., threw a stone, weighing fully 2 lbs., through the window, which went buzzing close to his cheek, and between his son and an Indian boy, who were sitting closely together at the other side of the room, the stone being buried in the wall. The Rev. gentleman has a good delivery and keeps his audience in touch with his subject by his witty remarks. He was listened to with rapt attention and we would be pleased to give a full account of his able lecture, but space does not permit. If he should visit this place again there would be a bumper house to greet him.

Which are You.

There are two kinds of people on earth to-day
Just two kinds of people, no more, I say.

Not the sinner and saint, for 'tis well understood
The good are half bad, and the bad are half good.

Not the rich and the poor, for to count a man's wealth
You must first know the state of his conscience and health.

Not the humble and proud, for in life's little span,
Who puts on vain airs is not counted a man.

Not the happy and sad, for the swift-flying years
Bring each man his laughter and each man his tears.

No; the two kinds of people on earth I mean
Are the people who lift and the people who lean.

Wherever you go, you will find the world's masses
Are always divided in just these two classes.

And, oddly enough, you will find, too, I ween.
There is only one lifter to twenty who lean.

In which class are you? Are you easing the load
Of overtaked lifters who toil down the road?

Or are you a leaner, who lets others bear
Your portion of labor and worry and care?

Definition of a Lady.

A lady is a woman who is honorable, truthful, refined; who regards the comfort of others first; who never forgets how important little courtesies are to the happiness of life; who is loyal to her friends, and never betrays her trust; who scorns to think a mean thought, or speak a mean word, or perform a mean act; who reverences age, protects weakness, and maintains her own womanly self-respect.

In European countries the title is generally confined to women who belong to the nobility and gentry. In this country it justly belongs to every woman, young or old, rich or poor, beautiful or plain, who possesses the qualifications we have named, and the term should not be made meaningless by indiscriminate or unthinking use.

Sad Drowning Accident.

On Friday last a telegram from Miles Henderson, of Dorset, to Mr. Noice, of this village, informed him of a rumor that Walter Kent, of Minden, had been drowned while working on one of Gilmour's drives on Ox Tongue river, nearly 100 miles north of Minden. Mr. Henderson having a lame foot, could not go himself, but sent up two men, Simon Redna and Joseph Wilson, to ascertain the facts, and, if true, to bring back the body. It appears that the men on the drive work in couples, and at the point on the river where Kent and his mate were stationed the logs stopped coming down, and Kent volunteered to go up stream and start them down. This was the last seen of him alive. The men working below him heard a splash in the water and the logs started down, so that young Kent must have broken the jam and in doing so had fallen in. This was early on Saturday morning, and the body was found about 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The spot, as nearly as possible where the splash was heard, was located and a loaf of bread placed in the water there, when the current carried it a short distance to an eddy, where it sank; this was supposed to indicate the direction the body would move in, and tying two pike poles together so that the bottom could be reached the body was found at the point where the loaf of bread sank, and brought to the surface, where it was put in a case and floated down the river about five miles, when it was found impossible to convey it further, the river being full of logs and the condition of the body being such as to prelude the possibility of moving it by land where no road existed. After the news reached here on Friday last, Messrs. W. F. Kent, S. E. Lott and W. H. Steel started from here with Mr. Kent's team to ascertain the facts, and if possible bring home the body, if found. They could only take the team north as far as Mr. Fuller's, owing to the impassible condition of the road, so sending Mr. Steele back with the team, Messrs. Lott and Kent proceeded on foot. They walked all night, reaching Dorset at seven o'clock on Saturday morning, and continuing the journey north reached the scene of the accident Sunday morning, having walked over eight miles; here they learned that body had been found the preceding afternoon and towed down the river behind a punt five miles so they followed down the river trail and caught up with the men in charge of the body at the point where they found it impossible to proceed any farther with it, the river being full of logs, and no road except a lumber trail along the Ox Tongue river. After consultation it was seen that under such circumstances, and the condition of the body, the only thing that could be done was to bury it there on the bank of the river about nine miles from the Tee Lake lumber depot, and on the trail of the river bank, marking the trees around with the name and age of the dead boy, Walter Kent, aged 19 years, drowned the 3rd June, 1895. After interring the body the friends of the deceased from here returned on foot as far as Mr. Fuller's where a team met them, and they got back home about 8 o'clock on Tuesday evening last, after a sad wearisome journey.--Minden Echo.

Bethel.

The ice cream social was a grand success. The evening was fine, and the people young and old turned out to enjoy themselves for an hour or two. The ice cream was catered by Mr. Parsons of Omemee, and the manner in which it was enjoyed by the people proved that Mr. Parsons was no novice in the art of freezing cream. A cornet solo by Mr. H. Sherwood was highly appreciated. The singing by the Misses Storey, Evans, and Rowan, and Mr. T. J. Parsons was excellent. The Omemee brass band was present and furnished music. They never played to better advantage than on Tuesday night. It is saying the least to say they were greatly appreciated. One piece deserves special notice, a sacred march, "Ring the Bells." This was readered excellently and showed practice and skill. The program was good having a sufficient variety and showing the good judgement of the managing committee in securing the talent they did.

Mount Horeb.

The new Methodist church was re-dedicated last Sunday. The Rev. S. J. Shorey, ex-Pres. of the Bay of Quinte Conference, preached at the morning service, an excellent and appropriate sermon. The Rev. J. C. Wilson preached in the afternoon and evening, his discourses were excellent expositions of divine truth and were greatly enjoyed. The edifice was crowded at all services. The Janetville choir rendered good services and their singing was enjoyed by all.

On Monday afternoon tea was served. From four to five hundred people assembled to partake of the rich repast provided by the ladies. In the evening a public service was held, being a decided success. Addresses were delivered by Revs. J. C. Wilson, Totten, J. Garbutt and N. Hill. The brass band from Reaboro, under the leadership of Mr. H. Sherwood, furnished music during the evening and was much appreciated. The Janetville choir rendered two choruses in good style, a quartette, composed of Misses Walters and Winter, Messrs. Lyons and Robinson, were also present from Lindsay; their singing was delightful. They showed good taste in their selections, and the rendering of the pieces were faultless. The people here are to be congratulated on their substantial and commodious church.

Advice to a Young Man.

Remember, my son, you have to work. Whether you handle a pick or a pen, a wheelbarrow or a set of dishes, digging ditches or writing funny things, you must work. If you look around, you will see the men who are the most able to live the rest of their days without work are men who work the hardest. Don't be afraid of killing yourself with overwork. It is beyond your power to do that on the sunny side of thirty. They die sometimes, but it is because they quit work at 6 p. m. and don't go home until 2 a. m. It's the interval that kills, my son. The work gives you an appetite for your meals; it lends solidity to your slumbers; it gives you a perfect and grateful appreciation of a holiday. There are young men who do not work, but the world is not proud of them. It does not know their names even; it simply speaks of them as 'Old So-and-so's boys. Nobody cares for them; the great busy world doesn't know that they are there. So find out what you want to be and do, and take off your coat and make a dust in the world. The busier you are the less harm you will be apt to get into, the sweeter will be your sleep, the brighter and happier your holidays, and the better satisfied will the world be with you.

How to Drive Rats Away Alive.

Somebody who has tried it recommends putting pulverized potash, which soon becomes sticky when exposed to the air, in all the rat holes about the house. The special detestation of a rat is anything which will stick to his silky coat. Some persons find a mixture of equal parts of Cayenue pepper and Scotch snuff sprinkled well into the holes still more efficacious.
