END OF THE VOYAGE.

Thus, my dear friends, as voyagers upon the great sea of life, to-day I greet you. I signal you with the warmest feelings of Christian joy stirring my heart. I feel that it is due to the providence of God that we have been brought together for a Christian purpose. The sea of life is so wide that many of us only meet each other this once before we sail into the harbor of peace. When A despatch from Chicago says: against accidents.
