

HOT WEATHER FOG.
No Vim, No Snap, No Energy,
Exertion Drained and Work
Shunned.

"Fagged right out," is an appropriate way to express the feelings of many people during the hot summer months. No strength, no vigor, no snap, no ambition, too weary to work and too languid to take any kind of pleasure in life. You need a tonic for this summer fog, and the very best summer tonic in the world is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Every dose makes new rich blood, tones the nerves, sharpens the appetite, stimulates the liver, and banishes weakness and all the ills of the season. The only tonic that can do this for you is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills—it's a waste of money to experiment with anything else. Mr. Louis Poulet, Grand Hotel, N. S. S. says: "I was very much run down in health and was weak and easily tired. My appetite was variable, my nerves unstrung and I often felt a complete incapacity to work. After trying several medicines without benefit, I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after taking a few boxes I felt better than I had done for months, and equal to my former health. I don't know anything to equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills when one feels fagged out."

You can get the pills from any dealer in medicine, or they will be sent paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, by writing direct to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. Be sure you get the genuine with the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People" on the wrapper around the box.

WOMAN.
The London Express prints this poem with a double reading. Read it as it stands and woman is highly flattered, but read alternate lines (one and three, two and four of each verse) and the sentiment is very much the reverse:

Happy a man may pass his life
If he's directed by a wife.
If free from matrimonial chains
He's sure to suffer for his pains.

No tongue is able to unfold
The virtues in woman you behold.
The falsehoods that in woman dwell
Are almost imperceptible.

In woman's heart you'll see appear
Truth, deceit and pride.
In woman's heart you'll see appear
The virtues in woman you behold.

CHOLERA INFANTUM.

Cholera infantum is one of the most dreaded diseases of infancy. It is prevalent during the heat of summer in spite of all the care mothers may take to guard against it, and it sometimes progresses so quickly that death occurs in a few hours no matter what care is given the child. The first thing to do is to stop feeding the child and give him plenty of fresh air and pure water to drink. Give Baby's Own Tablets to carry off the poison from the system. Do not use any other medicine to check the diarrhoea, except under the advice of a doctor. By using Baby's Own Tablets the cause of the diarrhoea will be removed, and the disease will be checked in a natural manner. Proof that the Tablets cure this too often fatal trouble is given by Mrs. Herbert Burnham, Smith's Falls, Ont., who says: "When my eldest child, who was six weeks old, had an attack of cholera infantum and was at death's door. My doctor advised me to try Baby's Own Tablets and in twenty-four hours baby was better; the vomiting and purging ceased and he regained strength rapidly."

Keep the Tablets in the house—their prompt use may save your little one's life. Sold by medicine dealers or sent postpaid at 25 cents a box by writing to Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

OUT OF WORK.

A laboring man, out of work and hungry, went one morning into the surgery of a doctor, sat down, and asked to have one of his teeth taken out. The doctor opened the man's mouth and looked at his teeth, but seeing nothing, unless said: "Which is the tooth, friend?" "Oh, e'er a one you like, sir," said the man. "I've got nothing for 'em to do, so I thought I might as well get rid on 'em." The doctor did not charge his patient anything for looking into his mouth, but gave him a quarter, and told him to go and get his teeth a job for one day, at all events.

"It's funny our minister never gets married," remarked the young husband, who had just refused his wife a bonnet, in his endeavor to change the subject. "I think he'd make a good husband." "Well," replied the wife, warmly, "he didn't seem to make a very good one when he married us."

ORCE
The strength of meat without the heat.

Excludes Chops and Steaks.

"Orce" is a regular breakfast food in my family to the exclusion of steaks or chops, the old standard.

A. GAZDAR.

WE ARE SURE OF NOTHING

SPECULATION IS IN EVERY MOVE WE MAKE.
Man is a Gambler Both by Nature and Necessity.

It is positively startling, when one comes to think of it, says London Answers, how many different industries which are looked upon as thoroughly legitimate practically depend on chance. All insurance contains an element of gambling. A really big fire will sometimes inflict a blow on many a fire insurance office.

To give a single example of the romance of fire insurance, it may be remembered that about a year ago the city of Jacksonville, the largest town in Florida, was almost burnt to the ground. A few hours only before the fire started a British company, having decided to withdraw entirely from America, concluded a treaty transferring all its risks in the afflicted town to an American office. A delay of a single day in the completion of this arrangement would have cost the company in question £30,000.

Of all forms of insurance, none contains so great an element of legitimate commercial gambling as that of underwriting ships. In the morning papers there is always to be seen a list of "vessels on the overdue market," with their premiums against fire to as high as ninety guineas, according to the length of time the ship in question is overdue, or the seriousness of her condition when last reported.

WHEN ODDS ARE GIVEN.
Supposing that a vessel is, say two days overdue from New York to London. There is no special doubt of her safety still, to be absolutely on the safe side, her owners insure her for 45 per cent. If she comes in all right, they lose their money. If, on the other hand, another two days pass without news of her, the premium jumps to ten or fifteen pounds.

Then the real gambling begins, for the first underwriters—or "doctors," as they are sometimes termed—sell their insurance at a profit. Day by day the risk rises, and longer odds are given against the vessel's safety.

In tropical countries, ice making and importing is as thoroughly safe a business as that of dealing in flour or sugar. But in England it is not an absolute gamble. If a hot spell comes in early June there is inevitably an ice famine in London, and the price of this commodity may double within 48 hours.

A "FREEZING-OUT" GAMBLE.

Very little ice is manufactured in this country, but it is nearly all imported, chiefly from Norway. In a hot summer, such as that of 1900, London alone imports about 250,000 tons of Norwegian ice, but in a cold winter it may require more than half that amount—or less. For another thing, our ice all comes by sea, and the price of this commodity just when most needed, and thus causes considerable loss to the shippers.

A third element of chance in this very risky business is the winter weather of Norway. If heavy snow falls during the best frosts, the ice is badly injured, and great cost is incurred in sweeping the ice clear. If the frosts are not sufficiently severe or steady, the ice forms irregularly, with alternate layers of hard and soft ice. On the other hand, if the winter is too cold, the lakes may freeze to a thickness of 30 inches or more, which is much too thick for easy cutting.

Technically the worst misfortune of all, from the ice-merchants' point of view, is an absolutely snowless winter. It is because the snow forms in a regular manner, that the ice floats where they are stored or shipped.

Not only the ice merchant's yearly income, but that of a great variety of other trades, depends absolutely on the character of the climate. All farm and fruit growers are more or less at the mercy of the weather. A late frost spurs run to the strawberry grower; a hailstorm is worse than a fire to the grower of early vegetables under glass.

EVEN LANDSLIDES.

Farming being so uncertain, it follows that the trades which live upon the success of the farmer are also subject to extraordinary fluctuations. In a good year or older year, coopers will have more than they can do. In bad seasons they may be almost idle. Basket makers have similar ups and downs, according to the success or otherwise of the fruit crop. Such instances might be multiplied indefinitely.

Land is always looked upon as a thoroughly sound investment. Yet, though foresight plays a considerable part in the buying of land or buildings, there is still an extraordinary element of chance about a large part of the estate business. This comes in especially in buying property in or near a big city.

SHOPS FOR A SAFETY.

It is practically impossible for any Papa Bending veeps a pretty sharp eye on his daughter Mary, and many a would-be lover has taken a walk for a few minutes' conversation with the hard-hearted parent.

"You seem like a nice young man, and perhaps you are in love with Mary?"

"Yes, I am," was the honest reply.

"Haven't said anything to her yet, have you?"

"Well, no; but I think she reciprocates my affection."

"Does, eh? Well, let me tell you something. Her mother died a lunatic and there's a chance that Mary has inherited her insanity."

"I'm willing to take chances," replied the lover.

"Yes; but, you see, Mary has a terrible temper. She has twice drawn a knife on me with intent to commit murder."

"I'm used to that—got a sister just like her," was the answer.

"And you should know that I have sworn a solemn oath not to give Mary a penny of my property," continued the father.

"Well, I'd rather start poor and build up. There's more romance in it, Mr. Bending," continued the lover.

"I've heard all this before, and also that you were on trial for forgery, had run away to America for bigamy, and served a year in prison for cattle-stealing. I'm going to marry into your family to give you a decent reputation! There—no thank—good-bye!"

"Folled again!" muttered the father.

Results from common soaps: eczema, coarse hands, ragged clothes, shrunken flannels.

SUNLIGHT SOAP REDUCES EXPENSE

Ask for the Oceanic Bar

one to tell whether a neighborhood will settle up well, or, on the other hand, gain an undesirable class of tenant and decline in value. To give one instance, there are two shops in the High street, Clapham, which, just ten years ago, were bought for £1,520. In 1896, only three years later, they changed hands at £3,500.

A man may invest money in jewels with a reasonable certainty that if he buys good stones his investment will increase steadily in value. If he buys old books with knowledge, he is also likely to realize a profit when he sells his treasures. But the person who invests in pictures is not so safe. The fashion in art changes every few years in a manner simply unaccountable. Five thousand to-day may realize only a fifth of that sum ten years hence.

A distinctly risky business is the buying of wrecks. They are usually fairly cheap, an eight-hundred-ton wreck piled up a little time ago on Portland breakwater having sold for £65. But the buyer is at the mercy of the weather. A few hours' wind and his purchase is scattered planks. Still, wrecks have always a certain value if not entirely submerged, and there are several firms which deal in them.

IT READS LIKE A MIRACLE

ONLY DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS ARE DOING SIMILAR THINGS DAILY.

Reuben Draper's Gravel Cured Three Years Ago—It Has Never Come Back.

Bristol P. O., Quebec, August 3.—(Special)—Reuben Draper, well-known here, tells a story of his cure of a bad case of gravel that would be considered a miracle if similar cures by Dodd's Kidney Pills were not being reported almost daily.

"About three years ago," says Mr. Draper, "I was taken ill with what I thought was gravel. I was suffering from great pain, and the doctor I sent for gave me but little relief. Another doctor I tried failed to cure me, and I was getting weaker all the time."

"Then a man advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills as they had cured his mother, and I did so. In just one week after I started using them, I passed a stone as large as a small bean, and in four days after I passed another about the size of a grain of barley. That is two years ago, and I have not had any trouble since."

Dodd's Kidney Pills cure all ailments of the bladder and urinary organs.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by the inflammation of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, it has a tendency to close, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, the hearing will never recover. Nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but a local inflammation of the mucous membrane. It will give you One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. P. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold everywhere. Beware of cheap imitations. Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Minard's Liniment is used by Physicians

Bellows—"Does your daughter play the piano?" Old Farmer (in tones of deep disgust)—"No, sir. She works on it, pounds on it, rakes it, scrapes it, jumps on it, and rolls over it; but there's no play about it, sir."

A Cure for Rheumatism.—The intrusion of uric acid into the blood vessels is a fruitful cause of rheumatism, and an unhealthy condition of the liver. Any one subject to this painful affection will find relief in Parmed's Vegetable Pills. Their action upon the kidneys is pronounced and most beneficial, and by drawing heavily on the mucous secretions in the blood.

Women envy a man when they see the contented look on his face as he carelessly poses with his hands in his pockets and whistles.

Ask for Minard's and take no other.

Mrs. Hicks: "That girl broke into my dish to-day." Hicks: "How do you know?" Mrs. Hicks: "It was the only one left."

Mrs. Suburb: "Dear me! It might be. Our cow sheds its coat dreadfully."

For Over Sixty Years
Mrs. WILSON'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used by millions of mothers for their children's ailments, cures all kinds of colic, whooping cough, sore throat, teething troubles, and all the ailments of infancy and childhood. It is the best and most reliable remedy for all these ailments.

NOT TO BE SCARED.

I was Cured of painful Gout by MINARD'S LINIMENT. BYARD McMULLIN, Osham, Ont.

I was Cured of Inflammation by MINARD'S LINIMENT. MRS. W. W. JOHNSON, Walsh, Ont.

I was Cured of Facial Neuralgia by MINARD'S LINIMENT. J. H. BAILEY, Parkdale, Ont.

Mercer: "Did you ever have any experience with a lung-tester?" Warren: "Yes, I've walked the floor many a night with several of them."

Tell the Deaf.—Mr. J. F. Kellock, Druggist, Perth, writes: "A customer of mine having been cured of deafness by the use of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, wrote to Ireland, telling his friends there of the cure. In consequence I received an order to send half a dozen by express to Wexford, Ireland, this week."

Nothing jolts a lovelorn youth like asking for a girl's hand and receiving her father's foot.

BURNS.

Surface Should be Plunged Into Cold Water.

The ill effects sustained from a burn vary in accordance with the extent of the area involved, and according to its location. Surgeons have come to regard a burn of the skin surface as usually fatal when its extent is greater than a tenth of the body surface.

The severest burns usually originate from scalding by steam, from explosions, and particularly from clothing which has caught fire. The common use of gasoline, naphtha and benzine for cleaning purposes, all of which are highly inflammable, and the vapor from which is explosive, makes severe burns from them common.

No accident demands more prompt intervention, if one would limit its severity, than a burn of any kind. The skin is able to endure momentarily the direct application of heat of a degree very much above what might be termed destructive heat because of the moisture of the epidermis, more or less thickly, most thickly of course on the palms of the hands and soles of the feet. As soon as all moisture is completely evaporated, a high degree of heat causes the destructive process to begin.

Whoever possible a burned surface should be immediately plunged into water, preferably cold. Water is an excellent conductor of heat, and is the easiest of all for a few seconds from the time of burning such a remedy will have lost its virtue. One instinctively applies this remedy when on scorching his finger he immediately lays it on the tongue. The depth of the burn is thus greatly lessened, and destruction of the entire thickness of the skin is prevented.

So many severe burns have their origin from the kitchen grate, alongside which there is ordinarily a running water-tap, that it seems strange that the latter is not more frequently utilized. A flimsy cotton garment, for example, which catches fire is extinguished by water with much less damage to the wearer than by smothering the flames by woolen fabrics. This is especially apt to be the case if there is no woolen underwear to protect the skin.

The prevention of severe burns, as in the case of other accidents, often lies over the hands, and it is beforehand what would best be done in case the need for immediate action should occur.

On the occurrence of a severe burn every precaution should be taken to prevent the displacement of the burned area from further harm from rubbing or from stripping of the blistered skin. No raw surface must be made if that can possibly be prevented. Clothing should be cut away quickly but cautiously. Pain from the severe part of the wound is protected from the air.

The most common remedy is the use of some irritating oily preparation. A mixture of equal parts of olive-oil and lime-water is a good remedy, or a thick layer of powdered starch. Pulverized boric acid may serve even better as a means for preventing disturbance of the burned area and infection from the floating organisms of the air.—Youth's Companion.

"Sure," said Patrick, rubbing his head with delight at the prospect of a present. "I always mane to do me duty." "I believe you," replied his employer; "and therefore I shall make you a present of all you have made me during the year." "Thank yer honor," replied Pat; "and may all your friends and acquaintances trate you as liberally."

$50.00 To California and Return.

By the Chicago and North-Western Ry. First-class round trip tickets on sale from Chicago, August 1st to 14th, to San Francisco and Los Angeles, also to Portland, Tacoma and Seattle. Correspondingly low rates from other points. Favorable stop-over privileges. Return limit October 15th, 1903. Three trains daily from Chicago to California, through without change, with first-class Pullman, and tourist sleeping cars. For special folder and all information, write B. H. Bennett, General Agent, 2 East King St., Toronto, Ont.

Green: "How did Jones come to marry that red-headed girl?" White: "Poor Jones didn't notice it; he is color blind."

ENGLISH SPAVIN LINIMENT

Removes all hard, soft or calloused lumps and blemishes from the skin of the face, neck, chest, arms, hands, feet, and all parts of the body. It is the most wonderful Blemish Cure ever known.

The lover who is fired with passion for the daughter is often put out by the father.

There never was, and never will be, a universal panacea, in one remedy, for all ills to which man is liable. The very nature of many curatives being such that the germs of other and differently seated diseases rooted in the system of the patient would be relieved or ill, it is a ready for many and grievous ills. By its gradual and judicious use, the frail system is put on a sound and strong basis, by the influence which Quinine exerts on Nature's restorative powers, and by tranquilizing the nerves, and strengthening the healthy animal functions of the system, thereby making activity a necessary result. It strengthens the frame, and gives life to the digestive organs, which naturally demand increased substance—result, improved appetite. Nutrition & Lyman of Toronto, have given to the public their superior Quinine Wine at the usual rate, and it is a fact that the quality of this wine approaches nearest perfection of any in the market. All druggists sell it.

HE DIDN'T GUESS IT.

He: "And so you refuse me?" She: "I must."

"It is because I am poor, I presume?"

"No, that is not the reason."

"Because my family is less aristocratic than yours, perhaps?"

"No."

"I see. You want to marry a title?"

"No, I have no such ambition."

"Hum! Very strange! Then why is it you refuse me?"

"It's because I can't bear the sight of you."

Boothby: "What are you thinking about, Ethel?" Miss Warrington: "About our wedding. I wanted to ask a favor of you." Boothby: "Anything, dearest." Miss Warrington: "Well, I don't want to change my name to Mrs. Henry Boothby. I want you to change yours to Mr. Ethel Warrington."

Keep Minard's Liniment in the House.

There is danger in neglecting a cold. Many who have died of consumption dated their troubles from exposure, followed by a cold which settled on their lungs, and in a short time they were beyond the skill of the best physician. Had they used Bickel's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, before it was too late, their lives would have been saved. This medicine has no equal for curing coughs, colds and all affections of the throat and lungs.

Mother: "Is your teacher married, Ethel?" Little Girl: "I think so. He always wears the same clothes."

Minard's Liniment Lumberman's Friend

Each chest of Blue Ribbon Tea is lined with lead—the tea poured in and a sheet of lead placed on top and soldered down. No air or moisture can possibly reach

Blue Ribbon Ceylon Tea

The taste and aroma are retained absolutely unimpaired. The richness, delicacy and creamy taste are all there to cheer and solace every moment if you want.

Black Mixed Ceylon Green Should be Fifty Cents Ask for the Red Label

BOECKH'S Scrubbing Brushes

Take the Backache out of Cleaning.

They are absolutely the best brushes money can buy—the best made—backs do not warp off—bristles do not fall out of Boeckh's Scrubbing Brushes. Your grocer sells them.

None Genuine Without Name "Boeckh" on back of Brush.

OUR BRANDS.

King Edward
"Headlight"
"Eagle"
"Victoria"
"Little Comet"

Don't Experiment with other and inferior brands, USE EDDY'S

FACTS ABOUT GIANTS.

That very few of the giants who have ever lived have been healthy or well-formed recent researches prove beyond a doubt. All we know about Goliath is that he was very tall, but in the Second Book of Kings we read about another giant, who had more fingers than an ordinary human being, and according to modern scientists, this is invariably a token of degeneracy. Marcel Bonnal said of Nihil a giant who was so tall that his body filled two beds at night, but whose legs stood upright. William Evans, the gigantic porter of Charles L. had little strength and Cromwell's porter, another giant, ended his days in a lunatic asylum. Dinally, O'Brien, the Irish giant, has been described as "an enormous sick child who grew up too fast."

Wilson's Fly Pads

Few Flies last year
No Flies this year

If you use

Wilson's Fly Pads

ORANGES LEMONS

WE HAVE THE BEST

BANANAS.

Carload every week. All the above at market prices. We can also handle your Butter, Eggs, Poultry, Maple Syrup and other produce to advantage for you.

THE LAWSON COMMISSION CO., Limited,
Cor. West Market St., TORONTO.

Billiard Tables

The Best at the Lowest Price—Write for Terms

REID BROS., M'fg Co.'y

755 King St. W.

Good Things to Eat on the Lawn

Point Ham, Beef and Tongue, Or Tongue (whole), Vest Lamb, Bristled Ham, Bristled Beef, Spiced Sausages, 45 Spindles, Avo. Toronto. Write now.

22-47

She Nursed And Ruined

for Months Mrs. Myles' Prostration and Gradual

Mrs. John Myles, Sr., of Woodstock, Essex Co., Ont., is known throughout the surrounding country because of her work at the bedside of her sick and suffering and it was an account of over exertion in the care of her sick child, that she lay weak and helpless, victims could not help her and she could not try Dr. Chase's Food. As a result she has been thoroughly restored and is now the means of bringing back to life and happiness to many weakened and discouraged sufferers from the use of Dr. Chase's Food.

Mrs. Myles writes: "When I was confined to my bed the doctors said was no prospect. My stomach was weak and I could not sleep for any length of time. My child and I were both weak and at times and I seemed to be getting weaker and weaker on top of the head which came after suffering half a dozen babies."

All Natural Flavor Foods. Palatable and wholesome. Your grocer should have them. Send for a sample of Liberty's Big Size of the World's Handmade Booklets—How to Make Good things to eat on the lawn.

Libby, McNeill & Libby, Chicago.

VOL. X. NO. 31.

CHAPTER XXXI.

Inside the room, I looked about me, to discover the occupants might be, only two—George Redruth and his mother. The old lady, looking white and stately in her black velvet, her snowy hair arranged under some black bonnet upright in a quiet, dignified way, was seated in a chair, working at some fancy-work. To her was her son, lounging in a low easy-chair, his legs crossed, and an open book in his hand. He certainly looked handsome in his simple, dark, sturdy linen, and I wondered that his mother's eyes rested on him with such a look of approval. That poor Annie was tempted by her strength when she saw his handsome face as you have done, heard those lips whisper so softly in her ear. George Redruth was a man who bore upon his person the impress of his soul. He had face and a serious manner, a stranger looking at him would have believed him utterly incapable of cruelty or wrong-doing.

My uncomprehending entry into both mother and son. The looked at me with an expression which was by no means a friendly one. They both looked at me as if I were there that night.

Before speaking, I looked around the room. I wished certain if Madeline was there, I looked at the old lady, and he again. After all, she was his mother, and she loved him. When the use of giving her pain? He turned to him and said, as I could.

"My great business is with you. What I have to say had better said to you alone."

He moved unobtrusively in his seat, darted at me from under his hat a look of bitter indignation. His face grew very pale, but in an effort to preserve his composure.

"You are very mysterious," replied: "but since you have told me worth your while to see me, I will say as you have done, had better say your say and I will fore I order the servants to go out."

"You had better be careful," replied: "once more I want to say to you, as you have done, had better say your say and I will fore I order the servants to go out."

He looked in my face again, something he saw, there came him of the truth of my words, rose, and, throwing his book, said: "I will not be troubled."

"Very well, since you will do so, come out on the terrace speak there."

He made a movement forward, there was another interruption most unexpected kind. Old Redruth rose, and making a motion with her hand, said: "George, you will stay here. She was very nervous, and this, Redruth stepped forward a look of deep anxiety on his face. "Mother," he said, "don't say yourself, for God's sake! Let go with him for a moment!" This she would not leave me, God she answered. "If he means to suit you, let him do so before mother's face."

The strange turn things were taking amazed me, and I cried: "I insult him? You don't know what you are saying when you like that. I have returned home to obtain justice; to be bitter wrong is righted, here for that now."

It was now George Redruth to be agitated. Turning on his face filled with terror, he said: "My mother is not well. Look house, I implore you, and let me know this evening will end!" This I refused to do.

"Whatever happens," I said.

Shopkeeper—"What can I show you, sir?" Absent-minded Professor—"I want—let me see, what do I want? Dear me! I can't for the life of me remember what it is."

Well, well, it doesn't matter; give me the nearest thing you have to it."

"George, you will stay here. She was very nervous, and this, Redruth stepped forward a look of deep anxiety on his face. "Mother," he said, "don't say yourself, for God's sake! Let go with him for a moment!" This she would not leave me, God she answered. "If he means to suit you, let him do so before mother's face."

The strange turn things were taking amazed me, and I cried: "I insult him? You don't know what you are saying when you like that. I have returned home to obtain justice; to be bitter wrong is righted, here for that now."

It was now George Redruth to be agitated. Turning on his face filled with terror, he said: "My mother is not well. Look house, I implore you, and let me know this evening will end!" This I refused to do.

"Whatever happens," I said.

Billiard Tables

The Best at the Lowest Price—Write for Terms

REID BROS., M'fg Co.'y

755 King St. W.

Good Things to Eat on the Lawn

Point Ham, Beef and Tongue, Or Tongue (whole), Vest Lamb, Bristled Ham, Bristled Beef, Spiced Sausages, 45 Spindles, Avo. Toronto. Write now.

22-47

She Nursed And Ruined

for Months Mrs. Myles' Prostration and Gradual

Mrs. John Myles, Sr., of Woodstock, Essex Co., Ont., is known throughout the surrounding country because of her work at the bedside of her sick and suffering and it was an account of over exertion in the care of her sick child, that she lay weak and helpless, victims could not help her and she could not try Dr. Chase's Food. As a result she has been thoroughly restored and is now the means of bringing back to life and happiness to many weakened and discouraged sufferers from the use of Dr. Chase's Food.

Mrs. Myles writes: "When I was confined to my bed the doctors said was no prospect. My stomach was weak and I could not sleep for any length of time. My child and I were both weak and at times and I seemed to be getting weaker and weaker on top of the head which came after suffering half a dozen babies."

All Natural Flavor Foods. Palatable and wholesome. Your grocer should have them. Send for a sample of Liberty's Big Size of the World's Handmade Booklets—How to Make Good things to eat on the lawn.

Libby, McNeill & Libby, Chicago.

Billiard Tables

The Best at the Lowest Price—Write for Terms

REID BROS., M'fg Co.'y

755 King St. W.

Good Things to Eat on the Lawn

Point Ham, Beef and Tongue, Or Tongue (whole), Vest Lamb, Bristled Ham, Bristled Beef, Spiced Sausages, 45 Spindles, Avo. Toronto. Write now.

22-47

ISSUE NO. 32-03