The presence of so many ectators, under such adverse conition therefore, is an indication of he inter st the village took in he case. The coolest person in the sweltering crowd, both mentally and physically during the first two hours the morning's session appearence was the prisoner herself. With marvellous self-possession she sat through the tedious hours, never once showing signs of fatigue and giving little indication of special concern in the testi-FULLY COMMITTED FOR TRIAL. After hearing all the evidences of the various witnesses, Magistrate Davis said that there was no doubt in his min I that deceased died from arsenical noison, and there was no evidence to show that anyone gave him food or reeticine save his wife, the prisoner.
