THE NEW YEAR.

Having left behind us the old year and all its trials, pleasures and associations and made a fair start in the race for the rewards and duties that the present year presents to our view, it is well that our ambitions be revived and our past weaknesses and difficulties made the stepping stones towards higher attainments and more useful citizenship in the days that are before us. While our land has not been favoured in the past with any unusual the present year are hopeful if not bright. If the prices ruling for the bulk of farm produce are low, the quantity the farmer is able to purchase for his diminished receipts has correspondingly increased. A bushel of wheat and a pound of butter will purchase as many pounds of cotton or sugar as many yards of cotton or cloth and all of good quality, as in any past year.

The whole product of the farm in live stock, corn, dairy, cereals and poultry will not bring back as many dollars perhaps, but what is the more needed, food, clothing, implements, houses, barns and labor, can be procured at an equal extent. The mechanic's dollar for his day's wage to-day will replenish his larder, as generously as a half more would have done in former years, so that by adapting ourselves to the changing conditions, by studying the requirements of the market, by giving up that product which has become unremunerative and entering upon the cultivation of the new and more paying commodities the difficulty will have been to a great extent overcome and no fear of that want and privation so common to many countries need stare our people in the face. It is A MILLER'S STORY.

HE WAS JUST GIVEN ONE MONTH TO LIVE.

First Attacked With Inflammatory Rheumatism, and Then Stricken With Paralysis—Hope Abandoned and He Longed For Death

To Release Him From Suffering—At Last He Found a Cure and Relates His Wonderful Recovery.

The benefits arising from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are well known to the Gazette. It is a frequent occurrence that people come into the office and state that they have been restored to health by their use. It occasionally happens that extraordinary instances of their curative powers come to our notice, and one of these was related to us recently, so astonishing in its nature that we felt the closest investigation was required in order to thoroughly test the accuracy of the statements made to us. We devoted the necessary time for that purpose and can vouch for the reliability of the following facts, wonderfully passing belief as they may appear:

There are few men more widely known in this section than Mr. A. T.

Hopkins, of Johnville, Que. Previous to his removal to Johnville, Mr. Hopkins resided at Windsor Mills and was for three years a member of the municipal council of that place. When a young man Mr. Hopkins was noted for his strength and his activity as a wrestler. His strength stands him in good stead for he works hard at his business, carrying heavy sacks of flour in his mill for many hours during the day and frequently far into the night.

Active as he is, and strong as he is, there was a time not long distant when he was as hopeless as an infant and suffered intolerable agony. About three years ago, while residing at Windsor Mills, he was attacked by inflammatory rheumatism. It grew worse and worse until, in spite of medical advice and prescriptions, after a year's illness he had a stroke of paralysis. His right arm and leg became quite useless. He suffered excruciating agony, and had rest neither day nor night. He sought the best medical advice that could be obtained, but no hopes were held out to him by the physicians. "He will certainly die within a month," one well known practitioner told his friends. "He will be a cripple for life," said two other doctors. It is no wonder that, as he says, life became a burden to

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS Edited by ALBERT SHAW

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS WAS in April, 1891, that the first number of the American Review of Reviews was printed. The new idea of giving the best that was in the other magazines in addition to its own brilliant, original articles, took America by storm, and it had taken

England—though the magazine itself was not at all a reprint of the English edition. It dealt most largely with American affairs, and is edited with perfect independence, in its own office, and instantly alive to the newest movements of the day, to a degree never before dreamed of.

Thousands of readers who offer their commendations, among them the greatest names in the world, say that the Review of Reviews gives them exactly what they should know about politics, literature, economics and social progress. The most influential men and women of all creeds and all parties have agreed that no family can afford to lose its educational value, while for professional and business men, it is simply indispensable. The departments are conducted by careful specialists, instead of mere scissors-and-paste men, and scores of immediately interesting portraits and pictures are in each number. All this explains why the Review of Reviews has come to a probably unprecedented success in the first three years of its existence. For 1895 will be more invaluable than ever.

The Review of Reviews is published weekly, except on Sundays, and is sent to all subscribers for $2.00 per annum in advance.

Agents are receiving handsome profits. We give liberal commissions. Send for terms. Annual Subscription, $2.00. Single Copy, 10 Cents. In stamps.
