Dedicated to the '94 and '95 baseball team Way back in early summer At a worthy crier's call, The boys assembled merrily, To organize a ball Team that should struggle With other mighty teams, For honor and distinction In the vista of sweet dreams. The Slogan raised the echoes From the Mount unto the line, And all the choicest hitters Seemed towers of strength and fine, While for runners of the bases And throwers tried and true, Their equals ne'er existed Tween here and Kalamazoo.

The battery was catchy, And played with such despatch, Their adversaries often 'fanned And seldom got a 'scratch'; A mascot wasn't in it, For luck had said "good speed!" But an umpire was selected Of wisdom and good heed. Like Alick of the olden time
