

Sunday Morning At St. Andrew's

In his talk to the children the Rev. Francis Chisholm told of stamps having a scout theme. In 1955 the Canadian 5c stamp had such a theme commemorating the holding of the world scout jamboree in Niagara that year. This year the jamboree is to be held in Great Britain

CLARABELL MEETS YOUNG FANS

Many thousands of Canada's youngsters see Clarabell (the clown) every weekday on CBC television. Hundreds are able to see him, and the others on "Howdy Doody" in person, as members of the Peanut Gallery celebrating the centenary of the birth of Lord Baden Powell, founder of the scout movement. Lord Baden Powell had learned the skills of self-preservation on outings and during the South African War he wrote a text book for army scouts. This became popular not only in the army but with boys. On his return to England he organized boys' camps. This was the beginning of the Scout movement which has as its motto "On my honour I promise that I will do and a few lucky youngsters even get to meet him personally. It is a pretty one-sided conversation though because Clarabell, as you know, doesn't talk, but manages to make himself understood with the help of a seltzer bottle and a horn.

my best". Today every country around the world where freedom is enjoyed has its scout organizations for boys and guides for girls. Last Friday, February 22nd, scouts, cubs, guides and brownies wore their uniforms in honour of the 40th anniversary of Lord Baden Powell's birth.

For the subject of his sermon Mr. Chisholm chose "Life Within the Family of the Church." What are the marks of the true church? If the church is a family are we doing all we should for young people? Is our worship real? Are the bonds of fellowship real? Where is the church now and where is it going? What with God's guidance will the church be like? We must search the Scriptures to find the vital things of faith. There must be active partnership with God. Our service is owed to God for divine love, first for His great act of creation. Whistler, the great painter once visited in a home where his hostess had hung one of his early paintings. He was appalled at the mistakes in his early work, procured paints and proceeded to correct them. His hostess said "How dare you spoil my painting?" "Your painting!" Whistler replied, "Just because you paid for it, it is not yours". God is the real owner because He is the creator. Man is the steward. The psalmist says "The earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof, the cattle on the thousand hills." "The sea is His and He made it." The psalmist claims all for God and we must be faithful stewards. Man cannot give to God, he can only return what God has given to him.

The Divine ownership was re-asserted by Paul by Jesus' death on the cross for man's salvation. There is no self-made man. He belongs to God, who dwells in the body, making it the temple of God. Christ died to save the whole man, both body and soul. He gave His life for the redeemed soul in a clean body. We must present ourselves as a living sacrifice. Paul said "I am crucified with Christ, yet I live, yet not I, but Christ liveth in me." Christ wins us to Himself. God's love expresses itself in action. Some lives are out of proportion with too much time given to unimportant things. We all must shoulder the responsibility of the use of our time. We should budget it. We should do kindnesses, give leadership to the young, spend time in Bible study and prayer. God has given us talents which must be used. Kreisler, the great violinist felt that his ability was "the gift of God" and he wanted to use it, he said, for the glory of the Creator. Our talents must be used for God and for others. We must have a sense of stewardship and realize talents are not commodities to be bought and sold, but an extension of personality. Money is a sacramental thing to be given cheerfully and with a willing heart unto God.

A sixteen year old boy was going along a tow path carrying his possessions in a red handkerchief on his way to New York City when he met a captain who asked him where he was going. The boy answered that he knew something about soap and making candles and that he was going to the city. The captain prayed and asked God's blessing on the boy. He told the boy to give his heart to God to give God his tenth, and to give a full pound. If he did this he said he would prosper. The boy was William Colgate who later gave millions to help others. Christian stewardship calls for faith in God, and gifts used for the benefit of others.

Mrs. Lawrence Winslow took the solo part in the anthem. "All things come of Thee, O Lord, And of Thine Own have we given Thee." D.I.

SIGN OF SPRING IN FEBRUARY NOTED

While out viewing her garden to see how it fared during the winter, which is still with us according to the almanac, Miss Marjorie Skitch was surprised to see that a root of last year's Swiss Chard had started to sprout giving assurance that spring is just around the equator and will land here around March 21st.

CAVAN TEACHERS' MEETING DISCUSS FAIR

The February meeting of the Cavan Teachers was held S.S. No. 2 Cavan on Friday, February 22nd.

The teachers discussed the possibility of the schools providing entertainment at the Millbrook Spring Fair with Chores and Spelling Contests. Due to the fact that the fair is considering a full-scale midway the teachers voted down the entertainment since the noon from the midway would make such exhibitions impracticable. It was agreed that the School Work Exhibit should be continued.

Inspector C. A. Holmes addressed the teachers on Data Books, Social Studies programme for Grades 7 and 8, and Report Cards. He stated that there was a tendency in many schools to swing back to percentages from the letter standing. Teachers should be guided by the reaction of the parents. The Report Card should be designed to give the parent a clear picture of his child's progress.

The next meeting will be held in Millbrook Public School on Friday, March 22nd.

THE WEATHER

If Monday's temperature is forerunner of what we are to get soon, we will have to hurry in a hurry for our trousers without the patches on as it will be no longer possible to hide our callithumbian outfit with an overcoat.

However, night brought a very heavy rain which lasted throughout, and Tuesday broke with a heavy fog, lifting late in the day with cloudy dark weather which lasted until early Wednesday morning when a change for colder conditions arrived, producing for Wednesday a clear bright sunshine day with temperature just a bit above the 30 degree mark. The snow has all but disappeared, but had the rain we had been snow instead of rain we would still be shovelling the beautiful.
