The Millbrook Reporter.

R. R. ELLIOT, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR

THURSDAY, MARCH 2, 1893.

Who says Toronto's grit?

Dr. Ryerson's majority is 592.

AND the Toronto Tories did get together after all.

THE different Canadian life insurance companies have in force $148,747,864 of insurance.

A DIVISION on an amendment to Gladstone's home rule bill was defeated on Monday by a straight party majority of 42.

SIR OLIVER MOWAT ran the Toronto election on his record on Tuesday, and his candidate, Dr. Ogden, ran on his pedigree. Both were sadly lacking in the essential elements and both were discarded.

So it seems a Tory member of parliament has been unseated in Vaudreuil on account of bribery by agents. They ought to take that Tory member to some museum and exhibit him, for he is indeed a rarity.

Now, if the directors of the Empire could just get hold of the Cobourg Sentinel-Star man, they would have an editor as is a editor. Then we should have some snap to the dizzy old thing.

We have nothing to say of the annexation movement this week. There is nothing to say. The annexation party got on a bender in Toronto last week, and he hasn't got straightened up yet. Therefore there is nothing to say.

JOHN CHARLTON, M. P., the great patriot from South Norfolk, doesn't want the export duty on logs to be re-imposed. Guess not. It would render John and Thomas Charlton's lumber mill at Tonawanda, N. Y., less profitable.

THE Globe printed the photographs of the Connolly Bros. of Langevin scandal fame, on Monday, and published with them a column eulogy and biography of the gentlemen. Truly, the Globe is a great paper—for money.

THERE is a great wave of pity passing over a certain portion of the Republican party just now for Governor McKinley of Ohio, because he endorsed notes to the amount of $70,000 for a friend. His worshippers are pointing to his great sense of honor and honesty in giving up his own property, worth $25,000, and his wife's, worth $75,000, to meet the loss, thus "impoverishing himself at a swoop." But these fellows don't tell us that Bill McKinley, who was the author of the McKinley Bill, holds gilded security to the amount of $60,000 to aid him in meeting his loss. They are sadly in need of an iconoclast in Ohio.

THE British-Canadian, of Simcoe, recently gave an interesting table regarding the cheese industry and the value of the cheese manufactured in Norfolk and neighboring counties, which is worthy of reproduction:

Oxford	$715,000
Middlesex	418,000
Perth	357,000
Elgin	229,000
Norfolk	152,000
Wellington	127,000
Haldimand	55,000
Brant	51,000
Wentworth	46,000
Waterloo	38,000
Welland	20,000
Lincoln	18,000

Yet it is sometimes said that the English market is comparatively unimportant—a market which last year took $11,000,000 of Canadian cheese alone.

THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

The Jaws at Ottawa are Flapping Yet at the Same Old Gait—The Business of Last Week.

The budget debate occupied the attention of Parliament during the early part of last week until Wednesday afternoon. It dragged very much. On Wednesday Mr. Smith (Ontario), spoke for about half an hour, but crowded more good matter into less space than any one who had spoken on the budget previously. He claimed that prices for farm produce to-day are better in Canada than in either New York or London and quoted the prices of a number of agricultural implements, which are cheaper in Canada to-day than they were during the Mackenzie regime, to show that the farmers were not put to extra expense by the National Policy.

Mr. Charlton followed at considerable length, speaking up to 6 o'clock and for an hour after recess. He went over most of the usual objections to the National Policy, and attacked the Government generally. He strongly opposed a re-imposition of the export duty on logs, and accused the Government of bad faith in the matter of reciprocity treaty with the United States, because when an appeal was made to the people it was stated that negotiations were going on for a reciprocity treaty, but after the elections were over the Government made no effort to secure a treaty.

THE RECIPROCITY TREATY.

Mr. Charlton having stated in effect that the Canadian Government had announced that it was certain of getting a reciprocity treaty, Hon. Mr. Foster said: "I would like to have my hon. friend understand what he is saying and the result of such an assertion. I would like to ask him for proof of that assertion. He just now made the assertion in so many words that we were certain of getting a reciprocity treaty. Will he show the proof?"

A sharp fusillade took place between Mr. Charlton and Mr. Foster. The latter took the speaker to task for saying that the Conservatives went before the country on a misrepresentation and asked for proofs.

Mr. Charlton read from the Toronto Empire a quotation which came originally from the Canada Gazette: "It is understood that the Dominion Government have through Her Majesty's Government made certain proposals to the United States for negotiations looking to the extension of our commerce to that country. And the Canadian Government is of the opinion that, if the negotiations are to result in a treaty which must be ratified by the Parliament of Canada, it is expedient that the Government shall be able to deal with a parliament fresh from the people rather than a moribund house."

The Conservatives would not accept this as a proof.

Mr. Charlton proceeded to say that what the Government stated was that they were at that moment negotiating and expected to successfully consummate a treaty. That was the plea upon which they went to the people, and they deceived the people. All Mr. Blaine had said was that there was nothing in the law to prevent the people of Canada from sending a commission to Washington if they chose, and if they came he should not, without discourtesy, refuse to see them. "Yet we had this game played in connection with a political struggle in this country."

Hon. Mr. Foster: What assertion? Mr. Charlton persisted in calling it an "assertion" and Hon. Mr. Foster defied him to show that there was any assertion about it whatever.

Mr. Charlton said that Sir Julian Pauncefote, when the pretended revelations were made, went to Mr. Blaine and apologized in the most abject manner for a seeming breach of faith on his part.

Mr. Charlton went on to say that by a shameful administration this country had made the United States Government a cat's paw to pull Tory chestnuts out of the fire in the election contests in Canada.

Mr. Wilson speaks briefly in support of the Government, and was followed by Mr. Calvin (Cons.) of Frontenac, who created a little surprise amongst Conservatives, and enthusiastic cheering on the Opposition side of the House by announcing that he intended to vote for Sir Richard Cartwright's tariff reform amendment.

MR. DAVIES' SPEECH.

On Thursday after routine the first reading of a bill to the effect that in future all moneys in connection with private bills should be deposited to the credit of the Receiver-General and payments made out of consolidated fund from a vote which would be taken.

Hon. Mr. Davies resumed the debate on the Budget, dealing with the subject from a Maritime Province standpoint. He claimed that the Maritime Provinces were suffering from the effects of the National Policy but said the members from that section of the Dominion were to blame for continuing to support the Government. He drew a very doleful picture of the Maritime Provinces, and especially Prince Edward Island, and depicted the people as fleeing from the provinces as from a pestilence. He characterized the National Policy as a cause and claimed that over 400,000 people had been driven out of Canada in the last ten years.

Mr. Cockburn (Toronto Center) replied with statistics to showing the weakness of Mr. Davies' position.

On motion of Sir John Thompson it was agreed that the budget debate be made the first order after 8 o'clock on Monday.

THE TORONTO TUBERCULOSIS CASE.

Hon. Mr. Foster, replying to Mr. Mulock, said the attention of the Government had not been called to a statement which appeared in a portion of the press to the effect that certain cattle alleged to be suffering from tuberculosis were on or about Feb. 17 slaughtered at Toronto by order of the health officer of that city, and consequently no inquiry into the matter had been made. He added that the provisions of the Animals Contagious Diseases Act did not extend to tuberculosis.

When the House adjourned Thursday night it was expected that Friday would be devoted to considering the supplementary estimates for the current year, but the greater part of the afternoon was taken up with a discussion of the winter port and fast Atlantic mail questions, and the ventilation of a personal grievance by Mr. Frier of Victoria, and it was nearly 5 o'clock before the House got into Committee of Supply.

The House went into supply and passed a number of items. After recess a long discussion took place on the item of $150 to reimburse Judge Williams for expense incurred in connection with the voters' list, the Opposition holding that, as the judge had made the mistake, he ought to pay the penalty himself. Finally a count in committee was taken, and the item passed on a vote of 42 to 15.
