THURSDAY, MARCH 16, 1893.

More weather.

THE Globe complimented Sir John Thompson on Friday on his great legal ability. Poor Thompson.

You may talk about sudden changes in the weather, but that which occurred this week is one of the suddenest.

THE United States collected during February in customs duties alone, the large sum of eighteen million dollars. There are no taxes nor nuthin' in the States.

MR. McCarthy moved his freer trade resclution in the house of commons on Tuesday evening, putting himself in opposition to the government. Mr. Mac may live to see the error he has committed.

EDWARD MURHHY, JR., a noted Irish-American and a well-known sympatnizer with the Fenian element among his countrymen, has been appointed chairman of the United States senate committee on friendly relations with Canada. Selah.

JOHN CHARLTON, M. P. for Norfolk, wants parliament to pass a law to close the Canadian section of the world's fair on Sundays. But John Charlton, M. P. for Norfolk, doesn't say anything about passing a law to shut down John Charlton's tug boats on Sundays.

THE Conservatives of West Durham met at Bowmanville on Tuesday to nominate a candidate for the Ontario legislature. The aspirants were Reeve Prower of Bowmanville, and Deputy-reeve Reid of Clarke. Neither could secure the necessary twothirds vote, and the convention adjourned till May 31.

THE scheme for the construction of canal from the Elbe to the Danube, for the purpose of connecting the Baltic and the Black Sea has assumed definite shape. The Austrian Government is to provide a great part of the capital, and the remainder has been subscribed by a London sydicate. The work is to be undertaken by London engineers.

FIVE hundred unpublished letters of Voltaire were discovered some two weeks ago, according to the Paris Figaro, in the house of a descendant of Voltaire's physician. Theodore Tronchin, at Bessinges, near Geneva. The publication of the letters is promised, and, provided they are genuine, it is expected they may throw new and interesting light on eighteenth century history.

On Tuesday evening the Guide published about seventy alleged portraits of members of the reform party in the house of commons. It was very fortunate that it labelled each picture, for otherwise even the most intimate friends of the members would be unable to recognize in them the features of more than four of the gentlemen who have thus been so grossly libelled.

THERE are now 2,268 newspaper published in the United Kingdon: 1,762 in England, of which 450 are published in London: 102 in Wales: 214 in Scotland: 166 in Ireland, and 24 in the smaller isles. Of these 146 are English dailies, twenty Scotch dailies, seyenteen Irish, seven Welsh, and two dailies are published in the isles. The number of magazines in the United Kingdom is 1,961, of which over 450 are religious.

THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

OTTAWA, March 13.-On Monday last Mr. J. Israel Tarte fired the first gun in the Manitoba School matter by moving the following amendment.

"That all the words after 'that' be struck out and the following substituted: 'That this House desires to express its dissatisfaction of the Government in dealing with the Manitoba school question, and in assuming to be possessed of judical functions conflict with their duty as constitutional advisers of the Crown, which assumption is wholly unknown to the law, and if now acquiesced in would be entirely subversive of the principle of Ministerial responsibility."

In defending it he said that in the Province of Quebec the children were better educated than anywhere else in Canada and held that the Manitoba Legislature had no more right to abolish the Separate schools than the Legislature of Quebec would have to abolish the English language in the Province of Quebec. He claimed that the Dominion Government ought to protect the Catholic minority.

He held that the Minister of Justice bound himself not to abide by the judgment of the Privy Council, but to give remedial legislation.

Sir John Thompson rose at 10.50. He said that the Government had been attack ed as it it was destroying the rights of a province to manage education, but it should be remembered that although the 92nd section of the British North America Act gave the control of education to the province, it was under certain reservation and restric-

The legal questions, he said, must be settled before any remedial legislation could be properly dealt with. The legal the courts. If the Government attempted to pass remedial laws before the legal queswould only lead to confusion.

At one o'clock Mr. Hugh J. Macdonald of Winnipeg rose to speak on the Manitoba school question. It was a most significant speech, and is regarded here as not only giving the opinion of Manitoba on the school question, but also of a large number of that important part of the House known as "the back benches" for Ontario. The feeling there, undoubtedly, is that the reference to the Supreme Court can do no great harm, but that under no circumstances whatever must the Dominion Parliament interfere with Manitoba's absolute control of the school

His concluding sentences were very

"That is a question which has to be decided and I am certain, after having heard the First Minister, that no responsible man can fail to feel, whatever his opinion may be as to the right or wrong of the Manitoba School Act, that the Government has acted in an impartial manner in referring this matter to the courts.

"I can promise now that if it is desired that the Roman Catholic minority in the Province of Manltoda have the right to appeal to the Governor-in-Council for remedial legislation, and if the Governor-in-Council decides to grant that remedial legislation, if the hon. member for L'Islet (Mr. Tarte) will then move a vote of censure upon the Government, I will be very glad to second it."

On Tuesday afternoon Hon. Mr. Foster laid on the table copies of the minutes of the negotiations which took place between Mr. Blaine, Gen. Foster and the Canadian delegates in February of last year. The papers are very voluminous and would make five or six columns.

The most interesting part is that which covers the point which has been in controversy between General Foster and Minister of Finance Foster, as to whether the Canadian delegates could have obtained reciprocity on any ether basis than discrimination against Great Britain, and an assimilation of the customs and excise tariffs of Canada and the United States on the lines of the latter. Hon. Mr. Foster answered all and assured him a hearty welcome on his pal church was founded in Denver and the questions at length and all evidence went to show that Jas. G. Blaine had insisted that reciprocal trade could only be established by the adoption of a uniform tariff for both countries.

At 9.15 Hon. Mr. Laurier rose. He demied that Mr. McCarthy had anything to do with framing Mr. Tarte's amendment. Dealing with the assertion that the Manytoba Government would bow to the judgment of the Supreme Court, he said that did not cover the whole case, because it was based on the Mea that the Supreme Court would not interfere with the legislation of Manitoba. It must be remembered that the very question referred to the Supreme Court was very dangerous.

The Government was halting, hesitating, afraid to decide between the Protestants of Ontario and Catholics of Quebec. There was a higher and nobler ground if the Government could have brought its courage up to striking point and have decided the vuestion from the standpoint of the benefit of the whole country. He was a firm believer in provincial rights, which was the policy of the Liberal party.

He continued at some length, and claimed that the minority in Manitoba had been treated with barbarous tyranny and that not one hour should have been lost in granting relief. He then devoted some time to considering the Ottawa despatches to The Toronto World of Nov. 27 and 28, in the last of which it was stated that Mr. Laurier would find it difficult to blame the Government for referring the matter to the Supreme Court. He thought the appeal a

Hon. Mr. Ouimet said that the action of the Government in the past with regard to this matter was the best evidence of its intention for the future. The Government proposed to aphere to the old policy as laid down by the old chieftian, which was that of British fam play, not McCarthy his play, which was to strangle the plaintiff before he could be heard. Mr. Davin spoke against the amendment. Mr. Maclean (York) also opposed the amendment. He said thut Mr. Tarte had professed to show the course of the Conservative party, and he proposed to show the course of the Liberal party. He read a number of extracts from The Globe to show that the chief party organ had steadi y opposed remedial legislatiox. He also quoted from the Pope's encyclical letter on the Minner hool case to show that the Holy ... as not opposed to public
