 —On Saturday afternoon last a horse belonging to Mr. Geo. Page of Manvers died in a rather peculiar way. It seems Mr. Page was driving west from Millbrook on the 5th line, and when near Mr. Kinsman's place, the animal got down in some way into a pitch-hole in the road, which at that point runs beside a fence. The horse made several plunges in its efforts to get upon its feet, and in doing so threw itself across the fence, rupturing a blood vessel. It died shortly afterwards.
 —Sara Lord Bailey, reader and elocutionist will appear before a Millbrook audience on March the 20th in the town hall. She is perhaps the cleverest artist in her line now before the Canadian public, and wherever she has appeared her audiences have been charmed. She is said to be equal to Mrs. Scott Siddons in her palmy days, which speaks volumes for her ability. See the lithographs and programmes hanging in the stores. And be sure and secure your tickets early to avoid confusion.
 —Rebecca Wilkerson, of Brownsvalley, Ind., says: "I had been in a distressed condition for three years from Nervousness, Weakness of the Stomach, Dyspepsia and Indigestion until my health was gone, I bought one bottle of South American Nervine, which done me more good than any $50 worth of doctoring I ever did in my life. I would advise every weakly person to use this valuable and lovely remedy. I consider it the grandest medicine in the world." A trial bottle will convince you. Warranted by A. LEACH 11-13t
 —The Galt Recorder says of Sara Lord Bailey, who appears here under the auspices of the Ladies Aid of the Presbyterian church on Monday evening next, March 20th:—"Since the visit of Benford several years ago, no elocutionist has so pleased the fancy of a Galt audience as did Sara Lord Bailey on Wednesday. This talented lady has a magnificent presence, and her every movement is grace itself. Her first number, "Life for a Life," was especially strong and fully displayed her excellent histrionic powers, while her second selection gave ample scope for her splendid voice and showed the perfect control she has of it. Her last piece was irresistible, and proved her to be equally at home in the humorous as in the tragic selections.

 —The Canadian Order of Foresters is a fraternal benevolent society, incorporated in 1879 and registered under the insurance corporations act, 1892, of Ontario. The objects of the society are to furnish its members with sick and funeral benefits and an insurance of one or two thousand dollars. The payments for these benefits range from about one dollar to one dollar and fifty cents per month, according to the age of the member, and the amount of insurance carried. The membership is composed of men only, and when admitted they must be between the ages of eighteen and forty-five. The present number of members is over 16,000, and the society has a cash surplus on hand for the payment of the insurance of over $215,000, $50,000 of which is in the Dominion of Canada bonds, and the balance is invested in the best monetary institution of the Dominion. In addition to this, courts have about half a million dollars in their treasuries for the payments of the sick and funeral benefits. The high secretary of the Order is Mr. Thos. White of Brantford, and it is expected that a court of this popular and purely Canadian society will shortly be organized here. 50-4m
WILLED HIS EARNINGS AWAY.

A Wife's Charity Was Hard On Her Old Husband

TORONTO, March 13.—That his wife wrongfully willed away his accumulated earnings, is what John Lowe substantially said in the Assize Court yesterday. The defendants in the case are the Church Home, the Boy's Home and the Girl's Home, the legatees, and the Toronto General Trusts' Company the trustees for the estate.
 John Lowe, the plaintiff, is an old man of 70 years, and resided with his wife until 1890, when they removed to a small town near Syracuse, N. Y. The earnings of his labor as a machinist, first in the Northern Railway shops and after in the T. G. & B. shops, he handed over regularly to his wife, who did the banking business in her own name, depositing the money in the Canada Permanent & Loan Savings Company. In 1889 the plaintiff owned two houses on Niagara-street and had had the sum of $5000 in the bank. When the couple removed to the other side the money was transferred to banks in Syracuse.
 Mrs. Lowe, who had been adjudged insane by a United States court, returned to Toronto in 1891 without notifying her husband. She entered the Church Home, where she died in August, 1892, leaving a will dated November, 1890, in which the bequests were $100 to Jane Houghton, $150 per year to her husband during his lifetime and at the time of his death the remainder to be divided equally among the Girls' Home, Boys' Home and Church Home. In July, 1892, the Supreme Court reversed the decision with reference to Mrs. Lowe's insanity, and the defence urged as evidence the affidavits sworn to at that time by the plaintiff, which stated that his wife was possessed of property and money. The plaintiff contended that his wife had no financial resources, and asked judgment dissolving the bequests and declaring the money his absolutely.
 His Lordship gave decision in favor of the plaintiff.

THOUGHT TO DO TORONTO UP.

A Verdant Youth of Eighteen Tried a Clumsy Fraud.
 TORONTO, March 13.—About 3.30 Saturday evening a green-looking country youth with a white down on his lip strolled into J. B. Johnston's store at 182 Queen-street east and said he wanted to buy a pair of boots. A pair of legged cowhide boots finally took his fancy and he asked the merchant to change a "fifty," at the same time producing a $5 bill badly defaced with a lead pencil mark. He had tried to change the words five to 50 and figures five to 50. The work was most clumsily done and easily detected. He was detained till a policeman was summoned and then locked up in Station No. 2. The youth gave his name as Fred O. Davis of Bolton and said he arrived in the city a few hours before. He had a return ticket to Bolton in his pocket, and so it is likely he told the truth.
