STILL NOISES.

OUR lines of Dry Goods are so well selected, so thoroughly reliable, so reasonable in price, that although they are inanimate, they proclaim their superiority.

WHILE THEY ARE SILENT THEY CRY OUT

People who are regular patrons of our store often marvel at the inducements we offer. Come see us. Goods speak for themselves.

Thread Talks Hosiery Hurrahs
Ribbons Roar Satins Shout
Silks Sing Laces Laugh
Calicoes Cry Flannels Fume

ANYBODY

Who has been unfortunate enough never to have visited our store should take the first opportunity to do so. Here he will find ANYTHING he wants to wear, from bone collar buttons to the finest clothing. The great variety to select from stands in strange contrast with our unvarying principle of selling everything at the bottommost margin. In doing this there is scarcely any profit on one article; but a little profit on each of many sales suits us better than a big per cent on a few. In this way we have the pleasure both of success in business and of benefitting the many instead of the few. Can we not benefit YOU?

LONG INDUCEMENTS AND SHORT PROFITS.

THE remarkable facts in connection with our business methods are long inducements and short profits. We keep things moving, for to stand still is to go backwards. The way to push things is to offer more for less money than any one else. This we always do, and in doing it we are constantly dancing a business reel. The way to get yourself talked about is to be different from other people. Simulation and imitation are so common that no attention is paid to them. But by selling rich goods at poverty prices we not only create a desire for talking, but also a desire for buying.

VALUE.

The value of a dollar is generally put down at 100 cents. Those who buy of us, however, often carry away our goods feeling that they are getting the value of 200 cents for $1. We have only one object in advertising—to let the public know how thoroughly we combine perfection of style, fit and finish with moderate prices.

—On Monday night last a citizen residing in the east end was somewhat disturbed in his slumbers by hearing a rumbling noise, and after rousing himself and becoming satisfied that his conscience was all right, he commenced to look around, and located the noise in close proximity to Mr. A. Payne's wood-pile, which occupies a position near the corner of King and Mill-sts., on the east side. We understand the party engaged in this kind of midnight work is known and will give only a few days in which to make good the deficiency in the wood-pile.

—On Sunday morning last Lambert Robert, son of Mr. Alex. Strain, breathed his last, after a somewhat lengthened illness from consumption. The funeral took place on Monday afternoon, and it was largely attended by relatives and other friends and acquaintances of the deceased. The pall bearers were also in the uniform of the regiment, deceased being a member of the corps. The burial took place in the Presbyterian cemetery.

—The court of revision for the village of Millbrook was opened in the council chamber on Monday morning last at ten o'clock. There were present Reeve Ferguson and Couns. Campbell and Elliot. Mr. John Horner appealed against his assessment of $400, and showed that the places of equal value in his neighborhood were assessed at from $200 to $250, and his was accordingly reduced to $250. The assessment on Mr. Clarry's carriage shop had been raised $200 by the assessor, and as it did not seem to have increased in value to that extent, it was put back to the old figure. Mr. Thos. Bryans appealed against his assessment for the barber shop in the Mulligan block and asked to be put on the roll for the shop he now occupies in the Gardiner block. Thomas showed that he had moved within the prescribed period and his request was granted. The court then adjourned till eight o'clock in the evening. When the court of revision met again an appeal was presented from Mr. S. Jamieson against the assessment of his income at $1000. He contended that he should not be assessed so high, though he was not prepared to show that he was not in receipt of the amount sworn to by the assessor. On motion of Coun.

Elliot, seconded by Coun. Bateson, the assessment of Mr. Jamieson was confirmed. Mr. Vance applied for a reduction in the assessment of his property on account of its having been vacant for a long period. The matter was laid on the table for consideration, and the court adjourned till Tuesday evening, June 20th.

—At a meeting of the town council on Monday, the Reeve and Coun. Elliot were appointed a committee to act with a similar committee of Cavan council in guarding the interests of the two municipalities in the purchase of the new fair grounds. He was willing to accept $150 for the land provided the council allow him $150 for fencing. The offer was not accepted and unless better terms be offered the arbitration will go on. A number of accounts for work performed during the past month were were paid and Mr. S. Jamieson was allowed $3.85, being the amount collected from him over and above what the roll called for. The council adjourned till the evening of the 20th inst.

—A special meeting of the Presbytery of Peterboro was held in the Millbrook Presbyterian church on Tuesday afternoon, the Rev. J. McWilliams of Peterboro, moderator, presided.
