

S. P. SMITH, of Towanda, Pa., whose constitution was completely broken down, is cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. He writes: "For eight years, I was, most of the time, a great sufferer from constipation, kidney trouble, and indigestion, so that my constitution seemed to be completely broken down. I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and took nearly seven bottles, with such excellent results that my stomach, bowels, and kidneys are in perfect condition, and, in all their functions, as regular as clock-work. At the time I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, my weight was only 129 pounds; I now can brag of 159 pounds, and was never in so good health. If you could see me before and after using, you would want me for a traveling advertisement. I believe this preparation of Sarsaparilla to be the best in the market to-day."

He Met the Author.

Some years ago when a gentleman called up Whittier on one of his birthday anniversaries at Oak Knoll, Danvers, the poet told an interesting incident connected with Miss Lucy Larcom.

She had been calling on him that forenoon and while she was there a very edifying minister, a stranger to Whittier, called to pay his respects to him. He recited quite dramatically selections from Whittier's writings and finally said: "But I think the most beautiful thing you have ever written was 'Hannah Binding Shoes,'" and then proceeded to speak of it as one of the finest poems in the language.

"Yes," said Whittier, "I think myself it is a beautiful thing. I always admired it." Thus encouraged the minister recited several stanzas of the poem in a very dramatic manner. As he concluded, Whittier, motioning to Miss Larcom said: "Allow me to introduce you to the author of that poem."

"I think," said Whittier, as he told the story afterward, with a quiet laugh, "I never saw a man who so much desired to sink through the floor as did that minister."

A Change in The Bill.

"Twas yesterday the violets came peepin' out,
An' the sweet winds were a-blowin' all the blossoms roundabout;
An' the bird notes were a-ringin' loud from every ruffled tree,
An' the rivers were a-singin' as they splashed towards the sea!

But they've kinder changed the bill,
For the weather's got a chill;
The violet's gone back to sleep
An' the birds are still;
An' it's freeze, freeze, freeze,
From the mountains to the seas,
For they say that spring's a woman,
An' she's mighty hard to please!

"Twas yesterday the flannel was too itchersome to wear,
An' we jumped into the duster for the balance o' the year;
An' the straw hat o' last summer come a-tumblin',
rumbly down,
An' the feller with the ice cart went a-gallopin' through town.

But they've kinder changed the bill,
For the weather's got a chill;
An' we're hunting for the flannel
An' the fire fit to kill!
For it's freeze, freeze, freeze,
With the ague in your knees,
For they do say spring's a woman,
An' she's mighty hard to please!
—Atlanta Constitution.

The Vulgar Bigot.

A vulgar Puritan, uttering a discourse which he presumably thought was prayer, thus expressed himself: "Have mercy on that miserable man who was lately pouring forth blasphemies against Thee. It was at a 'Sabbath observance' meeting. The miserable man was the Roman Catholic Archbishop, a peaceful and devout cleric, and the blasphemy consisted in stating that in his judgment there was no harm in taking a quiet walk in the Botanic Garden at Edinburgh on a Sunday afternoon. This awful supplication was uttered, within my own knowledge, less than thirty years ago. I fancy that my reader will have no difficulty in deciding which individual was the miserable man.—Longman's Magazine.

"I wish," said the embarrassed-looking man, who had tried to dance, "that it wasn't so hard to catch a train at the depot and so hard to miss it in a ballroom."

—Rebecca Wilkinson, of Brownsvalley, Ind., says: "I had been in a distressed condition for three years from Nervousness, Weakness of the Stomach, Dyspepsia and Indigestion until my health was gone. I bought one bottle of South American Nerve, which done me more good than any $50 worth of doctoring I ever did in my life. I would advise every weakly person to use this valuable and lovely remedy. I consider it the grandest medicine in the world." A trial bottle will convince you. Warranted by A. LEACH

WHAT WILL IT COST?
An Estimate of the Expense of a Stay at the World's Fair.

Nearly every one is interested in knowing something about the probable cost of a trip to the fair, and a little information on that point will no doubt be of service. "How much will it cost to live in Chicago?" is a question that is just now agitating a great many minds, and yet the answer is so simple as to almost suggest itself. Briefly it may be put in these words: "As much or as little as you please." There is no reason why anyone should submit to extortion of any kind, and those who come with ready made plans and have their rooms engaged in advance will find no difficulty in keeping within any reasonable limit they may set themselves.

The bureau of public comfort will furnish information about rooms, board, transportation and anything else that may contribute to the convenience of visiting strangers and will assign to them rooms if they so desire at any price they may stipulate and in any section of the city they may desire. The prices of rooms will range from 50 cents a day up. Here is the schedule the bureau sends out to those seeking information:

Single room, one bed, one person	.....$1 to $2.50
Double room, one bed, two persons	..... 1 to 4.00
Double bedded room, two beds, two persons	..... 2 to 4.00
Double bedded rooms, two beds, three persons	..... 2 to 6.00
Double bedded rooms, two beds, four persons	..... 2 to 8.00

These prices of course do not include board. That can also be arranged for if the applicant desires, but most people will find it more convenient to take rooms and eat wherever they may happen to be at meal hours. Otherwise they may find they are paying for meals that they cannot eat without a great deal of inconvenience.

Crime in the United States.

"In 1850," says The Medical Times, "there was one criminal in 3500 of our population, but in 1890 there was in 786.5, a terrible increase in 40 years. The republic is young. Reckoned by the age of nations, it has hardly yet cast aside its swaddling cloths, and yet in energy, in prosperity, in health and strength, it stands as ancient Rome stood, a giant among the powers of the world. There must be some way to stay this mad rush of crime; some remedy for this bacteria, which is poisoning the fountains of moral and physical health."

California Curiosity.

In the mountains of Northern California, at an altitude of 2000 feet, there is an extinct crater, eight miles in circumference, and at a depth of 800 feet there is a lake of fresh water, with an island in the center.

What Britons Say for Sport.

The announcement that the Duke of Sutherland hopes to let Durobin and the shooting that appertain to the castle at a rent of £7000 for the season—the highest rent on record—reminds the London correspondent of The Manchester Guardian of other cases where large sums have been paid for a season's shooting. Sir A. Borthwick has paid £4500 at Invercauld, Lord Wimborne £4500 at Achnashehall, Lord Barton £3000 at Glenquoich, the Bradley-Martins £2700 at Balmacraan, and Sir Charles Mordaunt £2500 at Glenfeshie. The rent of Blackmount is £4000, of Glenmuck and Bachnagairn £3000. It was considered a tolerably high price when Baron Hirsch paid Lord Washington £4000 for five weeks' tenancy of Merton hall, with its shootings.—Westminster Gazette.
