COUNTIES' COUNCIL.

The June Session Opened on Tuesday of Last Week.

From the Cobourg Sentinal-Star. The June session of the Counties' counci opened on Tuesday evening at 7.30, when Warden Underwood took the chair. The opening session was more protracted than it usually is, the discussion centreing upon the proposed new boundary bridge between Percy and Seymour.

The Warden addressed the council, open ing by saying he was glad to be able to report that no business of importance requiral to be attended to since the last metallic and the last me ol to be attended to since the last meeting He was pleased to note the marked improve-ment in commercial circles, and hoped that it was an augury for better times, and an end to the recent depression. Notice had been served by the Reeves of Seymour and Percy in reference to boundary bridge between Percy and Seymour, under section 535 of the Consolidated Municipal Act of 1892 and asking that the counties build a bride there and keep it in a proper state of repair. The treasurer reports that his bal-ance is $3,500. The Warden then outlined the business of the session, pointing out that the assessment would have to be equalized, and a batch of correspondence attended to.

The clerk then read the communications. petitions and reports.

The Secretary of the Railway Department Ottawa, replied to the patition that an officer be placed at the Wallace Point bridge to take charge of the swing portion, by stating that after consideration, the Department could not grant the request.

The Good Roads Association of Ontario, asking for an expression of opinion as to abolishing statute labor and substituting Sherefor a proper system of road making. Referred to Road Committee. The County Clerk of Ontario County wrote drawing attention to the bad state of repair of the Scugog bridge, and stating that they had made a grant of $100 towards its repair. Notice was read, signed by Reeves Car-low and West, of Percy and Seymour, that mour were still after them. He thought we were done with building bridges, but they were still after us. It was hard on Durham to be constantly building bridges in the east, but it was the old, old story ever since he came to the council seven years ago. He was surprised that such legislation should exist, but to tell the honest truth, Seymour and Percy could demand what they were now asking for. Still he was surprised that that these two wealthy townships should take advantage of the law and make such a demand. He expected Mr. Carlow would have stated how long this had been a boundary bridge, but he had failed to do so. This bridge was not on the boundary, but it This bridge was not on the boundary, but it was just the same thing, for the boundary was an impractible road, and this was a de-viation from the original road. Seymour had, within the past few weeks, passed a by-law assuming a portion of the bridge, with a view of making this application. If any loop-hole existed for getting out of it, he would take advantage of it. His township was spending $700 a year in keeping up the eastern bridges. The bridge was 83 feet
