

"What has been done is proof of what yet can be accomplished"

A statement to the people of Ontario from Prime Minister John Diefenbaker

"Five years ago the Canadian people gave me and my colleagues a mandate to end the years of indecision and neglect of Liberal rule and make a start in the New National Policy which we put before the Canadian people in 1957. You gave us a renewal of your mandate in 1958.

"In the succeeding four years we carried on that policy and as a direct result of the many bold and even revolutionary measures which we undertook the recession of 1957 has been superseded by the boom of 1961 and 1962.

"Our energetic trade policies have produced the first favorable balance of trade in nine years.

"Old Age Pensions and Old Age Assistance have been increased from $46 to $65. Other pensions have kept pace.

"Farm cash income has reached an all-time record high. Prices are now supported on 23 farm products.

"Ontario received $607 million in federal payments this year, a huge increase over 1957's $215 million.

"Canada stands today at the commencement of a great new era of progress and prosperity—first as a result of the action we have taken—second, on the necessary condition that the plans we have made and announced for the next five years are carried into effective action.

"Five years from now Canada will be celebrating the 100th Anniversary of Confederation. Our plans for the future are already five years along the road to fulfilment and they can, will and must be realized between now and 1967. What has been done in five years is proof of what yet can be accomplished in the next five years."
