want it. They seek notoriety. They know the value of such publicity. Surely they don't expect such young fellows to keep affairs secret, when the it is the bragging afterwards and not the conquest that the boor prizes most. This odd-ball quirk is in the odd intelligent man too; the fellow who safaris $20,000 to shoot an elephant, or climbs a mountain to drill a bullet into the noggin of a rare & harmless goat. He does not want the goat. All he wants is an audience on one hand and a drink in the other.

Mr. DeRose, believe us. We are sorry that a few youngsters have created this unpretty "corporate image" of Millbrook. The truth is that this is a place of 800 or so persons, most of whom are the best of neighbours with malice towards none, with an impact for good, & a wish to live in peace.

SOCIAL & PERSONAL

Fl. Lieut. M. J. Neave and Mrs. Neave with Heather, 8, and David, 10, have been with Mrs. Neave's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Allin this past week. They will be driving to Vancouver in a few weeks, where they will reside. They have been in Ottawa.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Kelly have returned to Detroit after a week's holiday with her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Wood.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wood and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Kelly motored to Toronto on Thursday to visit their brother Mr. John Armstrong who is seriously ill in a Toronto hospital.

ses one receives in a year if one pauses to record them. One night we had a problem, and not a printer was in sight. We phoned Basil Richards. He came, he saw, he helped.

This is for short of a list of all who have helped us in our three years here. The list can never be complete, because good neighbours keep on helping. It is our hope that we can be as kind.

It has been suggested to us that, in the recent election, we played a favorite. Truthfully, we did not. We explained in an editorial why we would not help one candidate more than the others. We knew that our readers would be ornery enough to just up and vote for anybody else but the unlucky devil we were supporting. So we backed nobody.

The truth is that we disagree with darn near everything that all four parties stand for, and with almost everything that our Canada governments have done for some years past. The party we would support does not exist. It probably never will. We believe that Canada has no business becoming a "welfare state". We think this because we know that the state can give its people only what it first gets from its people.

If Canadians want a silly thing called "security", they must first give that security to our lawmakers in parliament. They must appoint the lawmakers for life, and forget about elections. Is this what Canadians want? They can have it; but they'll pay for it. Are Canadians eager to do and have what generations of Canadians have fought and bled and died to prevent and avoid?

All four parties seem determined to make Canada a "welfare state". All four can hardly wait to pour more & more new wine into the fine old bottle that is Canada. The new wine makes for more and more headaches; and it has already bust the fine bottle.

The ads of the candidates listed the benefits the voter would get by electing that candidate and that party; as if such benefits were on the trees of Ottawa, waiting to be picked. Mind you, these were the ads that got many votes, and one must admire the cleverness of the boys who dangled such carrots before the noses of such gullible asses. Even the most honorable candidate must resort to such trickery to get elected; for he can not serve his fellowman as a member of parliament unless he gets elected. Such trickery is a part of the price the candidate must pay. Such trickery may turn his stomach; but he has four years to recover from his nausea by serving truthfully and well. May Heaven help all legislators at a time like this!

Re GOLD IN THE GRASS

Years ago we began to read a book entitled Gold in the Grass; then the book disappeared. We saw it the other day in Millbrook Public Library, and our favorite librarian Margaret let us borrow it. It is about farming a work we know ever so little about. We just mention here in case a reader wants to borrow it from MPL.
