HIGH SCHOOL

by Gary Greer

Thirty-eight Grade Nines provided plenty of entertainment Friday, September 14, when MHS held its annual initiation day, much to the delight of the senior students.

Girls were required to wear overalls, men's wool socks, rubber boot on one foot, and high-heeled shoe on the other, baby's bib and carry a baby's bottle, use no makeup or lipstick and have their hair in pincurls.

The boys were a spectacle with high-heeled shoes, tight skirt, sloppy pullover sweater, Aunt Jemima hat, lipstick and makeup.

During noon-hour they paraded to the centre of the village and performed antics of the twist.

During assembly at the end of the day each new student was introduced by president David Earl. Each then presented his special impromptu act. As well as uncovering boney knees and showing very good sportmanship, many also indicated some talent.

A 10-part dramatized serial, Paul of Tarsus, will be seen on CBC-TV's Heritage series each Sunday this Fall starting October 7. Patrick Troughton plays the lead in the series which tells of the acts of Christ's apostles, especially of St. Paul, and of the spread of Christianity from Jerusalem to Rome.
