CARRIAGE PAINTING.

Mr. Harrison was his son, William Preston Harrison, 25 years of age, and the servants. Shortly before 8 o'clock the door bell rang, and when Mary Hansen, the domestic, opened the door she was confronted by a man about 5 feet 5 inches in height, smooth shaven, his rather clean cut features lit up by a pair of dark eyes.
"Is Mr. Harrison in?" asked the man in a quiet, pleasant voice.
"Yes, sir," responded the girl, as she threw the door wider open to permit his entrance.
"I would like to see him, please," said the man as he walked toward the back end of the hall. Mr. Harrison was in the dining room, which opens into the rear end of the hall. Hearing the man ask for him he rose and, stepping into the hall, walked towards Prendergast, who by the time he caught sight of Mr. Harrison had advanced about 10 feet from the doorway.
Without saying a word, Prendergast drew his revolver and commenced to fire. He pulled the trigger but three times, and every bullet hit the mark. One ball shattered Mr. Harrison's left hand, another passed into the right side of the abdomen, making a wound that would have been mortal in a few days; the third bullet entered the chest, slightly above the heart. This bullet was the immediate cause of death.
About 25 minutes after the shooting, Sergeant Frank McDonald was standing in the office of the Desplaines-st. station. Every available officer had already been hurried out to work on the case, and Sergt. McDonald, who had just come in from other work, was preparing to follow. The door was pushed gently open and in walked a small, smooth-shaven man, poorly dressed, and carrying a revolver in his hand. He shook like a man with the palsy, his face was white and drawn, great drops of perspiration chased each other down his face, and his tottering limbs seemed scarcely able to hold him upright. He walked up to McDonald, who is a powerful fellow, six feet tall, and, looking him straight in the eyes, said—
"I did it."
"You did it?" asked McDonald.
"Yes, I did it."
"Did what?" said the officer, as he laid one hand on the fellow's arm and quietly took the revolver.
"I shot Mayor Harrison, and that's what I shot him with," was the reply, as Prendergast made a motion with his hand toward the revolver.
Two weeks from next Tuesday, had Carter Harrison lived for that brief period, he would have taken to himself a third wife in the person of Miss Anna Howard of New Orleans. It is less than two months since his engagement to the only daughter of the late Crescent City millionaire and king bee of the Louisiana lottery was made public.
"That man Prendergast is crazy," said Corporation Counsel Kraus. "I knew him well and have seen him several times. He called at my office twice and told me that he was going to be appointed as my successor and that I should resign. I laughed and told him that I was ready to quit at any time, and if he let me know when he received the appointment from Mayor Harrison I would gladly let him have the place. The man was so palpably out of his mind that I did not consider it worth while to talk seriously with him. I never thought of the matter again until I received two postal cards from the fellow a few days ago. They were both written in red ink and gave me the information that he was ready to have me resign and step into my position. I always knew that Prendergast was insane, but I never thought that he would do such an awful thing as this."

GLAMORGAN.
Mr. W. E. Tilley, Inspector of Schools, paid our school an official visit lately.
The new well at the school, which went dry, has been sunk twenty feet further, and now at forty-eight feet they have water in abundance.
Master Wesley Glenny, while running, fell and broke his arm, one day last week.
The basket social held in the school house was a decided success. The house was packed and the programme was very fine. Mr. Benson's comic songs were roundly applauded, and Jim is a dandy. Mr. J. J. Preston addressed the audience in a very eloquent manner. A reading by Geo. McCarty deserves special mention.
It has fallen to our lot, to chronicle the death of Miss Edith Luxon, who has been ill for some time past. The bereaved relatives have the heartfelt sympathy of the community.

CENTREVILLE.
Mrs. W. J. Hall of Peterboro spent a few days this week at the home of her brother, Mr. Jas. L. Fair.
Although the rain Thursday night last made the attendance quite small at the lecture here in the Presbyterian church under the auspices of W. F. M. S. yet the Rev. Dr. Smith gave a very pleasing discourse to the few present, but postponed his regular lecture to some time in January, the same tickets answering both lectures.
Mr. Chas. Larmer left home last Tuesday for Belleville, where he is going to attend the Business College.

—Rebecca Wilkinson, of Brownsvalley, Ind., says: "I had been in a distressed condition for three years from Nervousness, Weakness of the Stomach, Dyspepsia and Indigestion until my health was gone. I bought one bottle of South American Nerve, which done me more good than any $50 worth of doctoring I ever did in my life. I would advise every weakly person to use this valuable and lovely remedy. I consider it the grandest medicine in the world." A trial bottle will convince you. Warranted by A. LEACH 11-13t.

SIR JOHN ABBOTT SINKS QUIETLY TO REST.
Peaceful Close of a Long and Useful Life.
Montreal, Oct. 30.—Shortly after noon today it became evident to those who had for the last few weeks watched at the bedside of Sir John Caldwell Abbott that the end was near at hand, and in this they were not mistaken, as Canada's ex-Premier passed quietly away at his Sherbrooke street mansion at 8.20 this evening. Sir John Abbott suffered a great deal towards the last, but was unconscious all the afternoon, only the members of the hon. gentleman's family and Dr. Brown being present when death came.
The funeral will take place at Christ church cathedral on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.
To-morrow the several Liberal-Conservative clubs will be called together and appropriate resolutions will be adopted. It is quite probable that the city council will take some action in the way of doing honor to the memory of the ablest mayor Montreal has ever had.
The ex-Premier has been in poor health for some months. His advanced age (over 70) and his poor health forced him to resign the Premiership, and he took a trip to Europe with the hope of gaining some of his old-time vigor. He was absent for over three months, but the trip did not do him any material benefit and he returned home in a very enfeebled condition. Dr. Roddick and other prominent medical men who were called in, after consultation, decided that the patient was suffering from a species of cancer of the bowels and that an operation was imperative. This operation was performed a few weeks ago, but though it afforded relief it brought about no permanent cure, and Sir John gradually grew weaker day by day until death ended his suffering this evening.

CHICAGO'S MAYOR SHOT BY AN ASSASSIN.
Called to the Door and Pistoled to Death.
CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Another crazy crank has done his deadly work, and Carter Harrison, five times Mayor of Chicago and one of the best men in the west, lies dead in his home, 231 South Ashland-boulevard. Three bullets entered his body, two of them making wounds sufficient to cause death. The murder was committed by Eugene Patrick Prendergast, a paper carrier and an ex-member of the Chicago Police Force, who declared that Mayor Harrison had promised to make him corporation counsel and had not kept his word. This, he said, was his only reason for committing the crime. The only person in the house at the time besides
