Seen on King Street During The Week

A few weeks ago the Auto Daredevils put on an exhibition at the Port Hope Fair, after which they departed for parts unknown, but on Friday night Daredevil drivers made their appearance on King St., and from some of the antics about which we heard they made the professionals look like pikers. O well, we guess its the same old story "a prophet is without honour in his own country".

A partridge sauntering across the road just over Allen's hill with all the confidence of a barnyard hen. It fact it did not fly into a tree until nearly run over by a car. We wondered if this bird was looking for some of the Millbrook hunters to give them a free shot. Wonder where Henry Gray was.

Either absent minded or missed the boat, 2 blackbirds (not of the starling variety) were noticed strutting about Tuesday morning with all the vim of early summer. This species of bird generally leave for the sunny south long before this, and lookout they don't yet wish they had spread their wings and took to the airways south.

POPPY CAMPAIGN IS DEBT TO DEAD, DUTY TO LIVING

The Legion's national poppy campaign is a debt to the dead and a duty to the living. In perpetuating the memory of the war dead, it focuses attention on the awful consequences of war. It tries to give meaning to the sacrifice made by some 100,000 Canadians who died in war.

Each year the Poppy Campaign, and the subsequent wearing of the poppy at thousands of cenotaphs, says, in effect: "This is the price a nation pays for war".

Today, under the spectre of the H-bomb, it reminds us that the price of another war would be terrifyingly greater.

Such a reminder is necessary for at least two reasons, both of which are divorced from the prime aspect of paying tribute to the dead.

Support the Poppy Day sale.

ELECTRIC FRYING PAN WON BY REG. GIBBS

ST. THOMAS' GUILD TO HOLD CHRISTMAS PARTY

The Women's Guild of St. Thomas' Anglican Church, met at the home of Mrs. P. E. Hamilton on Wednesday evening October 24th. In the absence of the President Mrs. Brackenridge, Mrs. Lowery occupied the chair and opened the meeting with prayer. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The Treasurer gave a report on the success of the annual bazaar, which showed a most gratifying result.

The ladies of the Guild were all in favour of having their December meeting in the form of a Christmas party. The party will be held at the home of Mrs. Larmer.

The new executive will be installed at the December meeting.
