The Rev. J. M. Whitelaw, B.D., preached an eloquent sermon last Sunday, from the subject, "Oath of abjuration taken by Princess Ena."

Miss Hill, whose ability as a dressmaker is so well known to the ladies of this section, has charge of our dress-making & ladies' tailoring department.

About nine hundred people attended and were delighted with the "Temple of Fame," as given in Millbrook on New Year's Night.

Mr. Charles Corneil, Collector for the Township of Emily, gave the Mirror a friendly call yesterday.

Mr. R. J. Courtney has purchased the W. H. Shaw property King st. It is one of the best in town.

Miss Eakins, of Leamington, is busy preparing for Charles Ivory's Grand Spring Millinery Opening, which will be held on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, April 5th, 6th, and 7th.

The Misses Hattie Courtney and Cassie McBride spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Courtney.

Mr. T. Boyd, of Port Hope, spent Sunday with his Omemees friends.

Miss Gertrude Grandy was visiting her Toronto friends last week.

Mr. J. Harvey was to Peterboro on business, Wednesday.

BAILLEBORO.

To the Editor of the Mirror. As I have not seen anything in your paper from our thriving little town for some time, I thought I would write a few items.

The farmers are looking pleasant over the prospects of sleighing. We will no doubt see a lot of teaming done as long as the snow lasts.

Mr. Harry Perrin has left our village to attend the Belleville College. He carried off high honors when there before. We wish him continued success.

We are very sorry to learn of the severe illness of Mr. McCamus, and would be pleased to soon hear of an improvement in his health.

Messrs. Wm. Wood and Geo. Byers, who have been down from the North West, returned this morning. We wish them a safe and pleasant journey.

Mrs. David Heaslip and Miss Flo Fisher spent Sunday in Peterboro with friends.

We listened with interest to two excellent sermons delivered by the Rev. Mr. Nickle in the Baptist church last Sunday.

Some farmers retiring and others leaving for the North West have caused a number of sales in this vicinity this spring, and we are pleased to learn that our esteemed friend, Mr. James Campbell, Auctioneer, received a large patronage and he also had large crowds and high prices. We wish you every success, Jim.

We have had a series of entertainments in our town hall of late, along with medical aid for the sick and afflicted; they are so well patronized that it makes us happy to think that we will have no more sickness in our little town for some time to come.

What is the matter with Charlie's horse, that he and his best girl have to take such long walks Sunday evenings. I wonder he don't take a pointer from Harry as he drives down East.

Miss Evelyn Ivory was a visitor to Lindsay last week.

Lieuts. H. Fee and M. Germain have returned from Stanley Barracks, Toronto, where they were taking a military course, so look out for No. 4 Co. next June.

Mr. Tisdale, of Uxbridge, paid a flying visit to Omemees on Monday.

Omemees is destined to be one of the greatest railroad and steam boat centres in the Province, says "a close observer," and adds that speculators with a little capital to invest in real estate or steam boat stock could do well here. Our city fathers are thinking of reinforcing the police force to protect speculators, as a large number are expected this summer. J. D. and the lion tamer will back Omemees against the world.

Miss Marion Rowan was a visitor in Omemees last week.

Miss Sutherland, of New Market, who was visiting Miss Adams, Sturgeon St., has returned home.

The entertainment on Easter Monday evening promises to be of a varied and interesting character.

Mr. Robt. Johnson is able to be out again since cutting his foot.

Messrs. Abe Henderson and Herb Fowler left on Tuesday for Oxbow. Their many friends wish them success.

Many noted characters, each in the costume of her time, will appear to the Goddess of Fame for the Laurel Leaf Crown, on Easter Monday.

The Tonic of Health. Must be more than a stimulant—must be a food as well. There is one medicine that is both a food and a tonic,—it aids digestion, promotes assimilation, converts food into nutriment that builds up nerves, blood, brain and bone.

The Event of the Season. Public Library Entertainment, Easter Monday, April 16th, 1906, in the Opera House, Omemees.

"The Temple of Fame," and "Mother Goose's Goslings."

Come and see Cleopatra in her gorgeous Oriental robes and jewels, Queen Isabella of Spain, the rival Queens—Elizabeth of England and Mary of Scotland. Hear Patti and Meiba in song and ballad. Listen to Samantha Allen's words of wisdom, and Bridget O'Flannigan's demand for the Crown of Fame.

Comm. of Management: Mesdames Clarke, Cochrane and Cameron, and Misses Stephenson, Curry and English. Admission 25c.; reserved seats 35c. Doors open 7.30, entertainment at 8. God Save the King.

An American Disease.

Some doctors go so far as to say that Indigestion is the national disease of America. There is but one national remedy for indigestion and that remedy is Dr. Hamilton's Pills which accelerate the action of the gastric glands, and give tone to the digestive organs. They strengthen the kidneys and liver, cleanse and purify the blood and thus add general tone to every organ of the body.

Death of Mrs. A. St. A. Smith.

A sad shock was given her many friends in this city to day when it was learned that Mrs. A. St. A. Smith had died at her home in Keene this morning. The blow was all the more severe because of its suddenness. She had been ill only since last Friday, and the first that many of her friends knew of her illness was when they learned that she was dead. Pneumonia was the cause of her death, and the severity of the disease, coupled with the fact that she was worn out by her constant attendance upon, and anxiety for the condition of her little son, Harold, who is also very ill with the same disease, account for her sudden death.

Prior to Friday she was suffering from a cold, but nothing serious was anticipated. On that day, however, she took to her bed, and rapidly sank until her death, which occurred this morning at 11.30.

The late Mrs. Smith, whose maiden name was Mary Denne, was the third daughter of Mrs. Henry Denne, of this city, and was thirty seven years of age. Thirteen years ago she was married to her now sorrowing husband, who at the present time is Manager of the Bank of Toronto, at Keene, but who for a number of years was accountant of the branch of the same bank here.

About three years ago Mr. Smith was promoted to the Managership of the Bank of Toronto, at Millbrook and two years later was entrusted with opening a new branch of the Bank at Keene, where he has since resided. Mrs. Smith leaves besides her husband, two sons Harold and Harry, and two brothers and eight sisters.—Peterboro Examiner of Tuesday.

The funeral took place to-day to the Little Lake Cemetery, Peterboro. Much sympathy is felt here for Mr. Smith and family.

When Seven Men Die.

You know at least one of them had consumption. At first it was only Catarrh—but it was neglected. When "Catarrhozone" cures so quickly it's foolish to suffer—it's a shame to keep on snuffing and hawking. Catarrhozone goes direct to the cause of the disease,—that's why it's so certain to cure. It stops the cough, prevents that disgusting discharge, clears phlegm out of the throat in five minutes. Very pleasant, and safe too; get Catarrhozone from your druggist to-day.

Farewell Presentation.

On Friday, March 16th, a complimentary supper and presentation was given by Maple Leaf L.T.B. Lodge, No. 14, to Mr. J. Harvey Fee, on the eve of his departure to the North-West. Oysters, etc., were served in the refreshment parlors of Mr. H. Nattrass, who is quite competent to cater to the most fastidious. Rt. Wor. Bro. Chas. Thorndyke, after a few congratulatory words to Bro. Fee, presented him with a Grand Lodge Certificate in a handsome frame.

Bro. Fee made a suitable reply, thanking the Brethren for their great kindness to him, and for the excellent gift which he will always prize. "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," was heartily sung. W. Bro. J. Hamilton, Bro. W. H. Coombe and others delivered short addresses and wished Bro. Fee good speed.

A PRETTY MARCH WEDDING.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. John Horner, Millbrook Station; was the scene of a pleasing event on the evening of Wednesday, March 21st, when their estimable daughter, Miss Gertrude was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Olla W. Williamson, a popular and prosperous young farmer of South Monaghan.

The interesting ceremony was performed by Rev. G. R. Clare, under a canopy of roses, and in the presence of the immediate friends and relatives of the contracting parties, among whom were: Road Master Horner, of Allandale; Miss Martin, of Welcome; Miss Mabel Hutchinson of Centreville, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Thorndyke, Mrs. John Pitt, Miss Minnie Nattrass, the Misses Edith and Etta McMahon, and Mrs. Wm. Turner, Millbrook; Mr. Gordon Williamson and Mrs. Hutchinson, of Cavan; Mr. Harold Horner, Lindsay, and others.

The wedding march was skillfully played by Miss Nettie Martin, Miss Mabel Hutchinson acting as ring bearer. The bride looked charming in a beautiful gown of cream Crepe de Paris, and a satin Bolero with overlace. After the ceremony a sumptuous wedding dejeuner was served.

The large number of costly presents received by the bride was a token of the high esteem in which she is held. A pleasant evening was spent in games and music, after which the happy couple left for their new home, followed by the hearty good wishes of their many friends, in which the Mirror joins.

Mr. Gamey's Lecture.

In the last issue of the Mirror we gave a sketch of Mr. Gamey as a man; in this issue we shall attempt a synopsis of his Lecture. Before doing so, it would be well to add a few more words about Mr. Gamey himself. It must be remembered that he makes no pretense of having received an education in the usual meaning of the word. He left the public school before he was 14 years of age and he never entered a high school. But to say that he is uneducated, would be very misleading, and far from the truth. He must have read largely, he must have associated with men of culture and been very observing and he clearly has had a wide experience of men and affairs, particularly those relating to New Ontario; all of which has fitted him well for the great work to which he is devoting his life, viz—so to develop the resources of New Ontario, that it may become the home of thousands of happy and prosperous settlers, and be the great revenue producing part of the whole province.

His language, if it may not be described as elegant, is at least direct and forcible, and conveys his ideas with clearness and precision, which should be the example of a famous Dominion orator to the contrary notwithstanding—the chief aim of language. His pronunciation, as might be expected, is not always correct, nor his grammar faultless; but when one considers the whole circumstances of the man, the wonder is, not that he makes so many mistakes, but so few.

But it may be said that, after all, the main question is, "What impression did Mr. Gamey leave upon his audience?" The answer upon this point must be that the impression left upon their minds was a most favorable one. It is quite likely that many came to the lecture out of mere curiosity, but before they found their attention riveted, not on the man, but upon what he was saying, it is very possible some few came to him, but remained to cheer; for, at the close of his lecture, the applause was hearty and universal. A pronounced liberal frankly admitted Gamey the lecturer was not the man Gamey he had been reading about.

The lecture was graphic, comprehensive and instructive. The briefest summary only will be given here, omitting all figures, for figures, at best are dry, uninteresting, and not elucidative, so general statements only will be made. Mr. Gamey first defined the boundaries of that part of the province comprehended under the term "New Ontario." Then he attempted to convey some idea of its size. In doing so he brought out the fact that there were still millions of acres unsurveyed, most of which, in all human probability, were rich in minerals and in timber, if not altogether suited for agriculture. Of its minerals, he seemed to think that nickel was by far the most important, and he gave some very convincing facts concerning the uses of that metal, and its very limited supply throughout the globe. Its chief use is in combination with steel. If a small percentage of nickel be added to steel, it gives to that metal a wonderfully greater tensile strength, so that bridges and other structures made of it have a very much greater sustaining power with greatly decreased weight. Then its uses as a plating over other metals to prevent oxidizing or rusting are innumerable, as the world will find out just as soon as its production can be made cheap enough to allow it to be freely used for that purpose.

Not much nickel in comparison with the supply of other metals is to be found on the earth. Its chief sources of supply are in the Sudbury district and in New Caladonia, a small group of islands belonging to the French and lying west of Australia. But the amount produced in New Ontario is so much greater than that derived from all other regions combined, that the Sudbury mines controlled the prices and output of all others. Its ores contained a small quantity of sulphur and iron. Mr. Gamey then gave a most graphic and interesting description of the manner in which the sulphur is got rid of. A large foundation is made of dry birch trees. Thousands of tons of ore are placed upon this, the wood is then fired; the heat made by the fire sets the sulphur at the bottom burning, and this furnishes enough heat to set the remaining sulphur on fire, and this burns itself out. Then by a most intricate and costly process, the iron, the copper and nickel are separated, the nickel and copper are used but the iron is thrown away in immense quantities, simply because there is no coal near by to smelt it.

Mr. Gamey spoke for nearly two hours, in which time he convinced the audience of the great wealth of New Ontario. Space will not permit us to give a full account of his lecture.

Mr. J. H. Carnegie, the very popular member for East Victoria, was chair man, and delivered a brief but interesting address. The musical part of the entertainment was furnished by Mr. T. J. Parsons, and Miss Lila Parsons who sang twice during the evening. Their excellent voices are so well known that it is unnecessary to say anything further than that the audience was delighted. Mr. Caldwell played the accompaniments in his usual able style.

Reeve Beatty moved a hearty vote of thanks to the speakers and musicians, which was seconded by Dr. Cameron, who gave a short address. The motion was unanimously approved of by a hearty hand clap. The singing of the National Anthem closed a most delightful evening's entertainment. The Public Library netted a handsome sum.

The Late Mrs. Samuel Russell. Mrs. S. Russell, nee Jennie A. Greer, daughter of the late Wm. Greer, was born in Cavan, just East of Millbrook, in the year 1841. In the autumn of 1857, at the age of 16, she was converted to Christ while attending a Camp Meeting held in what was then known as the Wallace Grove. These meetings were conducted by the famous Evangelists, Dr. and Mrs. Palmer of New York.

Deceased lived a consistent christian life, and had many happy experiences during days of trials and sufferings. She was always cheerful and hopeful and seemed to look only upon the bright side of life, and to interest herself in the welfare of others rather than her own.

About two months ago she passed through a remarkable experience of blessing, when she seemed to be filled with the ineffable love of God, which continued for days. "Oh," she said, "I just feel as if I can love everybody." About that time, especially, did she seem led to pray for a world wide revival of religion. She passed to her reward Sunday evening, the 18th inst., rather unexpectedly.

The funeral on Tuesday, the 20th, to Gardiner's Cemetery, was largely attended, the solemn and impressive services being conducted by Revs. Clare and Johnson. Many beautiful floral tributes were strewn on casket. Deep sympathy is felt for the bereaved husband, and Mrs. W. H. Russell, a sister of deceased, in their irreparable loss.

A "wheezy" Chest. Means your trouble is deep seated. To delay is dangerous. All the inflammation will be drawn out in one day by applying Nervitine. It penetrates through the pores of the skin, relieves inflammation and thus prevents serious consequences. For soar throat, weak chest and tendency to colds, no prescription is better than Polson's Nervitine. For nearly fifty years it has been Canada's great household remedy.
