

THE CANADIAN ORDER OF FORESTERS

THE TWENTY-NINTH ANNUAL SESSION OF HIGH COURT.

The Most Prosperous Year for the Order in Its History - A Large Delegation in Attendance.

The twenty-ninth annual session of the High Court of the Canadian Order of Foresters opened in the city of Niagara Falls on June 9, 1908, with a large number in attendance, including High Court officers and delegates representing subordinate courts of every Province of the Dominion.

After the usual opening ceremonies and the appointment of the several standing committees, the High Court officers submitted their reports, which showed the order to be in a most flourishing condition. The progress made by the order during the past year far surpassed that of any previous year of its history.

The High Chief Ranger, J. A. Stewart of Perth, Ont., after extending a hearty welcome to the representatives present, submitted his report, which was replete with facts and figures relating to the growth and extension of the order during the past year.

On the 1st of January, 1907, the order had a membership of 64,655, and there were initiated during the year 7,912 new members, being an increase of 7,912 over the previous year. During 1906 3,134 members lapsed and 469 died, leaving a net membership at the close of the year of 68,424.

The increase in the insurance reserve of the order during the year amounted to $251,818.42. On January 1st, 1907, the amount on hand in this branch was $2,174,872.45, and at the close of the year $2,426,690.87. The amount paid in death claims was $1,028,244.

The Sick and Funeral Benefit Department is also in a flourishing condition. During the year no less a sum than $134,418.44, covering 5,503 claims, was paid in this branch. The amount to the credit of this fund at the close of the year was $112,863.48.

The High Chief Ranger, in concluding his address, expressed the hope that the meeting would be a pleasant one for the members and a profitable one for the order, and felt that if ever there was a time in the history of the order when the members should all feel inspired with hope and confidence in the future of Canadian Forestry, that time was the present. In an inspiring address he urged upon the representatives to do all that in them lay to make 1908 the banner year of the order.

The report of Geo. Faulkner, High Secretary, covering the general work of the society, was next in order, and showed in detail the large volume of business transacted through the head office at Brantford.

The amount of insurance premiums received during the year was $75,916.20, which with the interest on insurance account made the total receipts in this branch $86,519.96. There were 469 death claims paid, amounting to $413,314.34, leaving the sum of $281,545.62 to the reserve fund, which at the close of the year was $2,426,690.87.

The Sick and Funeral Benefit Branch of the order also showed a marked advance. The amount of fees received during the year was $151,650.01, and interest $2,199.81. The total receipts amounted to $153,849.82. There were 5,503 claims paid, amounting to $134,418.44, leaving $19,431.38 to carry to the reserve fund, which at the close of the year amounted to $112,863.48.

There were 68,424 members in good standing at the close of the year, carrying $20,653,500.00 insurance.

There were issued from the High Secretary's office 64,655 insurance certificates and 7,912 new certificates, or a total of 72,567, and in addition there were endorsements made on 1,455 insurance certificates.

The report of Robert Elliott, High Treasurer, showed the funds of the order to be in a most satisfactory condition. The receipts from several funds were: Insurance, $865,119.96; sick and funeral benefit fund, $153,849.82; general fund, $91,660.93; total receipts, $1,110,630.71. The total expenditure in these funds amounted to $662,876.69. The surplus income over expenditure amounted to $447,754.02.

The surplus insurance funds are invested as follows: Municipal and school debentures, $2,187,239.59; Dominion of Canada, $50,000.00; Deposits in chartered banks, $30,000.00; Current accounts in chartered banks, $6,351.28.

GOLD TURNED TO LEAD.

How a Credulous French Peasant Was Robbed.

A clairvoyant named Mme. Salmon, who swindled a credulous peasant living near Bourges, France, of the whole of his savings, was sentenced to five years' imprisonment, besides being condemned to pay a fine of $120.

The victim had been affected by gout. Despairing of obtaining a cure, he was led to consult Salmon, who enjoyed a local reputation as a "healer." She told him that he would be able to dance a polka in a week provided he followed her instructions. The peasant agreed. "All you have to do," she said, "is to put a hundred louis under the mattress of your bed, and sleep on them for eight days." It so happened that the man did not possess the needed sum. He, however, converted all his savings into gold, and handed the amount to the woman. In his presence she apparently put the gold into a box which she afterwards placed under the mattress. The peasant's state of health did not improve, and at the expiration of the specified time, growing dissatisfied with the method of treatment, he opened the box. All it contained was a quantity of white lead wrapped in paper.

POOR BLOOD BRINGS MISERY

Pale Faces and Pinched Cheeks Show That Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are Needed.

Anemia is written on the features of ninety-nine out of every hundred, and there is no more common ailment than "poor little blood."

The weaker sex is assailed at all ages by the evils resulting from bloodlessness. From the girl who is weak and nervous, with a pale face and pinched cheeks, fitful appetite and palpitating heart, to the woman who feels never well, with gnawing pains in the back, aching limbs and nervous headaches.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are specially valuable to women of all ages, for they possess the power of making in abundance the rich, red blood without which no woman can have perfect health. They fill the starved veins with new blood so that enfeebled bodies are strengthened, weak, nervous systems are fortified and robust health restored.

Miss Rose D'Arango, Waterloo, Que., writes the profession of teaching, which brings more than ordinary strain to all who follow this calling. Miss D'Arango says: "It seemed as if I was gradually going into a decline. I lost all my strength, my appetite was very poor, I was pale and suffered from frequent headaches; I was often dizzy and the least exertion would leave me breathless. I doctored for a day I read in the Waterloo Journal the particulars of a case similar to mine, cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I determined to try them. In a few weeks there was a decided improvement in my condition, and by the time I had taken seven or eight boxes I was again in the best of health, and able to enjoy myself as well as any of my young friends."

Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50c a box or six boxes for $2.50. The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SIGNS OF RAIN.

The hollow winds begin to blow. The clouds look black, the glass is low; The soot falls down, the spangles sleep. And spiders from their cobwebs creep.

Last night the sun went pale to bed, The bodied shepherds hark his head, For, see, a rainbow spans the sky, The walls are damp, the ditches smell, Closed is the pink-eyed pimpernel.

Low'er the grass the swallow wings, The cricket, low, how sharp he sings, Puss on the hearth, with velvet paws, Silks slipping o'er her whiskered jaws.

Through the clear stream the fishes rise, And nibble each the incautious flies. The glowworms numerous and bright, In the dewy dell last night, At dusk the spangled loach was seen, Hepping and crawling o'er the green.

The whirling wind the dust cheys, And in the rapid eddy plays; The frog has changed his yellow vest, And in a russet coat is dressed; The yellow blackbird's voice is shrill, My dog, so altered in his will, Quits mudger bones on grass to feast; And see you yonks, how odd their flight They imitate the gliding kite.

Through downy down seem to fall As if they fell the piercing hail, 'Twill surely rain; I see with sorrow, Our jaunt must be put off to-morrow.

BRIGHT LITTLE ONES MAKE HOMES BRIGHT

Babies that are well sleep well, eat well and play well. A child that is not rosy-cheeked and playful needs immediate attention, and in all the world there is no medicine can equal Baby's Own Tablets for curing indigestion, colic, and the other disorders from which young children suffer. The mother who uses this medicine has the guarantee of a government analyst that it is absolutely safe. Mrs. J. L. Belle, St. Sylvère, Que., says: "I find Baby's Own Tablets the most satisfactory medicine I have ever used for constipation, teething troubles and breaking up colic. Every mother should keep this medicine in the home." Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

LIFE UNDER THE MICROSCOPE.

Everybody who has used a microscope has no doubt regretted the difficulty of seeing small insects, and other living organisms of microscopic dimensions, in the field of view, and moving freely about. A recently invented English instrument, called the microscope, is said to supply a desideratum in this respect. It is shaped like a telescope, a half an inch long, and an inch and a half in diameter. The lenses are so combined that an object 20 inches away may be magnified 12 diameters. At a distance of 5 inches the magnification is 67 diameters.

PERSONAL POINTERS.

Interesting Gossip About Some of the World's Prominent People.

Lady Colerouke, famous alike for her beauty, accomplishments, and skill as a political lobbyist, possesses a wonderfully complete carpenter's and wood-turning shop at Abington, Lanarkshire, Scotland. Here she has not only turned out some clever pieces of work, but has also taught some of the village girls on her husband's estate how to turn and to beers at the mill and chisel. Lady Colerouke is a sculptor too, and shares with her husband a love of all that is artistic and beautiful.

The new King of Sweden has few hobbies, but curiously enough, is very fond of lawn-tennis, at which game he excels. He is frequently to be seen mixing with the ordinary players at tennis clubs, and he is always eager for any hints or information they may be able to give him. A short time ago an international tennis tournament was held at Stockholm, and the then Crown Prince gave a banquet in honor of the players in his own private apartments. Each guest on arriving was presented with a handsome blue and gold badge ornamented with a crown and two crossed tennis rackets, which entitled him to honorary life membership of the Crown Prince's club.

Of the thousands who have worn and still wear the Royal Humane Society's decorations for life-saving, Lieutenant-General George Bryan Milman, K.C.B., Major of the Honour of London, who has just celebrated his eightieth birthday, is the only man, it is said, who has worn the order's gold medal, and that since 1850, at the Mauritius, that he was the first of his regiment, the 5th Fusiliers, who, together with himself, went for a sail, a storm arose and the boat was capsized. A storm arose and the boat was capsized. A storm arose and the boat was capsized. A storm arose and the boat was capsized.

It is a wonder that the poor little Grand Duke who is the heir to the dignity of czar is not already overwhelmed by his titles. He is merely three and a half years old, is Heir to the throne of the Russian Empire, and the 12th Regiment of Infantry of Eastern Siberia, of the Corps of Cadets of the Imperial Guard, and captain of the 4th Battery of Horse Artillery. Notwithstanding these dignities, it is said that his greatest joy in life is a golly-wog dressed in blue and red, for possession of which he occasionally fights with his youngest sister, Princess Anastasia, who is six years old.

There is no more tragic figure among the prominent people in the world than the Emperor Francis Joseph, ruler of Austria. His whole life and reign have been bound up with sorrows and tragedies. He was called to the throne during a civil strife, in which the Minister of War was hanged on a lamp-post, and because his uncle abdicated and his father refused the crown. His brother Maximilian was executed by his captors in Mexico, and he had gone to fight his son, the Crown Prince, put an end to his unhappy marriage by shooting himself and his wife, the Empress, was assassinated on the shores of Lake Geneva in 1898.

Sir A. H. Fairbairn, the third baronet, is probably the only bearer of an hereditary title here in Canada. He is said to have devoted his life to the succor and relief of those who are similarly afflicted, but less well off than himself. He has been a fisherman, a hunter, and a collector of objects of art. Sir Arthur tells, with a gleam of pride, that he has a friend who had invited him to dinner at his home, and that he had been invited to the dinner, each of whom had been told that he would meet a deaf and dumb man. Sir Arthur, arriving late with his best, was astonished to see other guests by the fire talking laboriously to their fingers, each thinking that the other was Sir Arthur Fairbairn.

Mr. John Ringling, America's "Showman King," has proved so successful as a circus proprietor that he has absorbed Barnum and Bailey's show, and travels in a motor-car worth some thousands of pounds. It is said that even John Vanderbilt envies him. John is one of five brothers, the grandsons of a famous English jockey who settled in America. Their father lost a pile of money in a fire, and the brothers started concert to replenish the depleted exchequer. They launched out into circus work, became formidable competitors with Barnum's, and finally absorbed that famous name. "Now there are over 3,000 employees by the firm; they own 400 railway cars, and will pay any price for a novelty.

TOO SWIFT FOR HIM. Mrs. Stubbs—"Gracious, John! We never get through with the house-cleaning. Why, you have only moved five pictures in the last fifteen minutes." Mr. Stubbs—"Well, great Philo, Maria, I'm no moving picture machine."

SHORTEST HOUR IN DAY.

Business Man Says Time Goes Most Quickly Between 2 and 3 p.m. "What is your shortest hour of the day?" asked a business man of an acquaintance. "Don't say you have none, you say, although you may not know it. Everybody has one. Of course, reckoned by actual measurement, each hour is composed of 60 minutes, yet, notwithstanding that chronological exactness, the hours vary in length. My shortest hour is from 2 to 3 o'clock in the afternoon. I find upon inquiry that the feeblest period of many people. In my case so swiftly do these 60 minutes pass by that I try to crowd into them as many of the disagreeable, yet inevitable things of life as I possibly can. If I have to interview a bore I see him then! If I have to visit the dentist I do it then. That hour is bound to slip away quickly, no matter what happens, therefore the agony of disagreeable scenes seems of shorter duration."

GAVE HIM PIECE OF SHROUD.

Scotch Family Followed Custom of Fourteenth Century.

Some time ago the New Kilpatrick parish church minister, Rev. J. H. Dickie, attended a funeral in a ministerial capacity, a funeral in Glasgow, and he was somewhat surprised when the chief mourner handed him a small cutting of the shroud. Naturally he asked the reason of the gift, but the mourner could not tell him, merely remarking that it had been an old custom of the family to present the minister with a bit of the shroud on similar occasions. An antiquarian friend has been looking into the matter, and finds that away back in the thirteenth or fourteenth century an act was passed for the purpose of encouraging the wool trade in Scotland, which ordained that every corpse be shrouded in a woolen garment, and to make certain that the order was attended to, it was made the duty of the parish minister to "examine the shroud of the dead person, and if he found that the coffin lid was "screwed down." In the event of the minister not being able to present a "swatch" of the dead person's garment had to be cut off and handed to the clergyman who officiated at the "fifth." The fact that the old custom has been preserved in the mourner's mind shows that their genealogical tree had a fairly respectable antiquity.

Clergyman Creates a Sensation.

Tells His Congregation There is a Cure for Drunkenness.

It is generally admitted among medical men, that drunkenness is a disease. Some modify this by saying that it is a sign of weak will power. Now, weakness is dangerously near disease. As a disease, it is a disease it is only necessary to find the proper cure, to be rid of the trouble.

A well-known Methodist divine, interested in the cause of temperance, made it his business to find out if any cure for the demon, rum, had been discovered. It is an extract from one of his sermons on Temperance. "I find that the use of Samaria Remedy for the cure of drunkenness is steadily increasing. Wives—who wish to win back their husbands—and mothers—who long to reform their sons—are giving Samaria Remedy to the wayward ones, in tea and coffee. Those who have relatives or friends who hold that they need help to shake off the hold of the demon, rum, should get the leading hospitals, Samaria Remedy, ordered for those who express an earnest desire to stop drinking. It deligates a grand, good work and has my hearty blessing, being so many from life-long dissipation and degradation."

Free Sample and pamphlet giving full particulars, testimonials and price are sent in plain sealed envelope. Correspondence sacredly confidential. Enclose stamp for reply. Address: The Samaria Remedy Co., 26 Jordan Chambers, Jordan St., Toronto.

PREPARED. "N.W." said the physician, "you will have to take plain Kof and not stay out late at night."

"Yes," replied the patient, "that is what I have been thinking ever since you sent in your bill."

They Never Knew Failure.—Careful observation of the results of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills has shown that they act immediately on the diseased organs of the system and stimulate them to healthy action. There may be cases in which the disease has been long seated and does not easily yield to medicine, but even in such cases these Pills have been known to bring relief when all other so-called remedies have failed. These assertions can be substantiated by many who have used the Pills, and medical men speak highly of their qualities.

THE MILK IN THE COCONUT.

There is No Pleasanter or More Refreshing Drink.

"Husking a coconut is one of the simplest-looking operations in the world, but I have not yet seen the white man who could do it effectively," writes Beatrice Grimshaw in her book, "In the Strange South Seas." Every native of Tahiti is apparently born with the trick. A stick is sharply pointed at both ends, and one end is firmly set in the ground. The nut is then taken in the hands, and struck with a hitting and tearing movement combined, on the point of the stick, so as to split the thick, intensely tough covering of dense coir fiber that protects the nut.

The nut comes forth white as ivory, about the same shape and size as the brown old nuts that go by ship to England and America, but it is much younger and more tender, for only the smallest of the old nuts, which are not wanted in the islands for copra-making, are generally exported.

A large knife is used to crack the top of the nut and to peel like an egg-shell, and the drink is ready. A draft of pure water, slightly sweet and just a little aerated, if the nut has been plucked at the right stage.

There is no pleasanter or more refreshing drink in the world, and it has not the least likeness to the "milk" contained in the cocoons of commerce. No native would drink from old nuts, for fear of illness, as they are considered both unpleasant and unwholesome. Only the milk of half-grown nuts is used for drinking, and even these will sometimes hold a couple of punts of liquid.

The water of the young coconut is food and drink in one, having much nourishing matter held in solution. On many a long day of hot and weary travel the cause to bless the refreshing and restoring powers of heaven's best gift to man in the tropics, the never-failing coconut.
