The browbeating counsel does not always get the best of it. "I can teach you the law, sir, but I cannot teach you manners," thundered an enraged K.C. to a more than usually trying witness. The latter smiled slightly. "That is true," he said.

Attacks of cholera and dysentery come quickly, there seldom being any warning of the visit. Remedial action must be taken just as quickly if the patient is to be spared great suffering and permanent injury to the lining membranes of the bowels. The readiest preparation for the purpose is Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial. It can be got at small cost at any drug store or general dealer's, and it will afford relief before a doctor can be called.

TAXES ON EVERYTHING

CURIOUS DUTIES IMPOSED TO RAISE BRITISH REVENUES.

Pitt, During Great Britain's War With France, Tried Every Tax Imaginable.

Chancellors in former times were at their wits' ends to raise revenue, and many were the curious taxes they imposed, says the London Daily Mail.

Pitt put a tax on hair powder. For a hundred years the wig, introduced from France, was very fashionable. But about the middle of the eighteenth century it began to fall into disuse and hair powder took its place.

Men tied their natural hair in a queue and covered it with powder. To appear at any social function with unpowdered hair was an impossible offence.

Taking advantage of the fashion, Pitt put on the "guinea pig" tax, as it was called, charged on a householder in respect of every person in his house who used hair powder.

But there were many exemptions; in addition to the Royal Family and their servants, clergymen not possessing a hundred a year, subalterns and privates in the army, and officers in the navy under the rank of commander were exempted.

And to relieve the man with a large family, a father with more than two unmarried daughters could get a license for any number by paying two guineas.

Pitt expected a revenue of more than £20,000. But the Whigs, headed by the Duke of Bedford, decided to balk the Chancellor by abandoning the use of hair powder.

In September, 1795, some of the Whig leaders—the Duke of Bedford, the Marquis of Anglesea, the Earl of Jersey, Lord William Russell and others—met in solemn conclave at Woburn Abbey and there sorrowfully cut off their queues.

Curled and oiled whiskers took the vacant place and powder was left to mementos, but it was not till 1869 that Mr. Lowe repealed the hair powder tax as not being worth the cost of collection.

War with France was the cause of the tax on dogs. In 1796 the impost commenced, but it was limited to persons keeping sporting dogs or a number of dogs.

For a long time—1840-53—dog owners paid a very heavy toll. For all non-sporting dogs the tax was 9s. 6d. for sporting dogs, 15s. 4d., and for greyhounds, £1 2s.

But in 1853 Mr. Gladstone changed the tax to 12s. for any kind of dog. Even this was too high. Not one-fourth of the owners paid, and so great became the numbers of dogs on the public roads that something like a panic arose throughout the country.

In London the parks were infested by stray dogs and it was a common sight to see dozens of them following riders in the Row, barking at the horses.

So to prevent evasion the tax was reduced to 5s., and afterward raised to the figure which it now stands.

Probably the worst taxes ever imposed were those on paper, newspapers and advertisements—the tax on knowledge, as it has been called.

How much these taxes retarded the progress of the country there is no calculating. The paper duty, William III.'s invention, commenced in 1694 and lasted down to 1861 over a century and a half.

It was at one time £28 a ton and when Charles Knight published the "Penny Cyclopaedia" (1830) he had to pay £20,000 duty on the paper.

Only 14,000 tons of paper were used in 1803 and only 28,000 tons in 1831.

Then in 1711 Queen Anne put a duty on newspapers, a penny per sheet, raised to fourpence by George III. and not abolished until 1855.

To make matters worse an advertisement duty was imposed in 1712, also by Queen Anne. This amounted to the prohibitive sum of 3s. 6d. for each advertisement.

For four years shopkeepers were taxed by Pitt (1785-89). It was not much, only sixpence in the pound up to £10 rent and two shillings in the pound when the rent exceeded £25 pounds.

But a great outcry arose. Pitt said the shopkeeper could pass the tax on to the customer; the shopkeeper said he could not and in the end the shopkeeper was victorious.

A curious thing happened when auctioneers were taxed. At first £5 a year, the duty was raised to £10 by necessity of taking out a license for beer, spirits, etc., when they sold these articles at auction. The consequence was that auctioneers everywhere carried on the sale of spirits, etc., for themselves until the abuse was stopped in 1864.

To Pitt again and the war with France we owe the income tax. He put it on with a vengeance—2s. in the pound on all incomes over £200 and varying rates on incomes from this sum down to £60.

It commenced in 1798 and was abolished in 1816. Then for twenty-six years the people were free from this most unpopular impost.

At first the possession of large families was taken into account, and abatements were made for children, £4 per £100 for each child over two years, where the income did not exceed £400 a year, and less for rich folk.

The window tax, a very old tax, commenced in the reign of William III., was not discontinued until Lord Halifax changed it to the house duty in 1851.

It must have caused a great amount of consumption, anaemia and other foul air maladies, for in 1850 there were only an average of six windows in English houses. Indeed, our architects are not yet free from the bad influence of this tax.

In many old houses one still sees mock windows painted on the walls for symmetry—hideous things. Not only were glazed windows taxed, but any hole in the wall was included. Indeed, in the early days only very rich people had glass windows, and so precious were these that they were carried from one house to another when people removed.

Curious dodges were practised to escape the tax, such as extending one window across two houses or making a very wide division between two panes of glass. The loss to the nation must have been a hundredfold the revenues collected from this bad tax.

Toll was taken from the people in many other curious ways. Watches (then usually slung from a chain round the neck) and clocks were taxed, 10s. for a gold watch, 2s. 6d. for a silver watch, and 5s. for a clock. The tax nearly ruined the trade.

Raisins came to be taxed during the Commonwealth because plum puddings were regarded with aversion by the Puritans.

Hats were taxed once and had to bear a revenue stamp; so were gloves, mittens, almanacs, pocket fumes, tooth powder and all sorts of toilet articles, glass, stone bottles and bricks.

Female servants were taxed by Pitt 2s. 6d. for one, 5s. each for two, and 10s. each for three or more—a very unpopular tax.

KEEP CHILDREN WELL DURING HOT WEATHER

Every mother knows how fatal the summer months are to small children. Cholera infantum, diarrhoea, dysentery and stomach troubles are alarmingly frequent at this time and too often a precious little life is lost after a few hours' illness. The mother who keeps Baby's Own Tablets in the house feels safe. The occasional use of Baby's Own Tablets prevent stomach and bowel troubles, or if the trouble comes suddenly—as it generally does—the Tablets will bring the little one through safely.

Mrs. George Howell, Sandy Beach, Que., says:—"My baby was suffering with colic, vomiting and diarrhoea, but after giving him Baby's Own Tablets the trouble disappeared. I would advise all mothers to keep a box of Tablets always at hand."

Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25c. a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

THE MARINER'S COMPASS. Influences That Draw It From Its Allegiance to the Magnetic Pole.

Nothing in the navigational equipment of a ship has been the subject of more anxious scientific research or receives more jealous care than the mariner's compass, says the Windsor Magazine.

The popular notion of the compass needle always pointing north and south is—well, more inaccurate than even popular notions usually are. Even under the most favorable conditions there are only certain places upon the surface of the earth where the compass needle does not point north and south, and it is quite safe to say that such conditions are never found on board of any ship.

But we must go further and say that no more unfavorable position could be found for a compass than on board of a modern steamship, which is a complicated mass of steel, all tending to draw the compass needle from its allegiance to the magnetic pole of the earth, warring influences which must needs be counteracted by all sorts of devices which hedge round the instrument by an invisible wall of conflicting currents of magnetism.

And as if this were not enough there are now huge dynamos to be reckoned with, producing electric currents for all sorts of purposes on board. In the midst of these mystic currents the poor little compass needle, upon which the mariner depends for his guide around the trackless deep, hangs suspended like one shrinking saint surrounded by legions of devils.

FOUND SKELETONS AND GOLD

Underground Stronghold Contains Hundreds of Skeletons.

Great excitement has been caused at Serra Daire, in southern Portugal, by the discovery of an underground Moorish stronghold, which is said to be rich in treasure.

The stronghold consists of a very extensive series of underground passages and chambers, including living quarters, stables and store-houses, and it was undoubtedly constructed at the time that the Moors were being hard pressed by the Portuguese, who held the northern portion of the country.

Hundreds of skeletons have been found, and a great store of ancient weapons, including daggers, swords and scimitars, many of which are studded with precious stones.

Great stores of gold and silver coins have also been found, and large numbers of people are working feverishly day and night.

"A few months ago I came here in a wretched condition. Exposure and dampness had ruined my once robust health. I had catarrhal affections of the bronchial tubes, and for a time there was a doubt as to my recovery."

"My good honest old doctor advised me to take Peruna, which I did and in a short time my health began to improve very rapidly, the bronchial trouble gradually disappeared, and in three months my health was fully restored."

"Accept a grateful man's thanks for his restoration to perfect health."

Peruna can be had now of all druggists in this section. At the time I began using it, it was unknown."

SABLE ISLAND HORSES.

On Sable Island, off the coast of Nova Scotia, troops of wild horses are to be found. The original stock are believed to have landed from a Spanish wreck early in the sixteenth century, though in the opinion of some their introduction took place at a later period. Twenty-five years ago it was estimated that these horses numbered 600, but at present there are scarcely 200 of them left.

Sable Island is an accumulation of loose sand, forming a pair of ridges united at the two ends, and enclosing a shallow lake. There are tracts of grass in places, as well as pools of fresh water.

There are a number of varieties of corns. Holloway's Corn Cure will remove any of them. Call on your druggist and get a bottle at once.

THE "TENTED CITY" AT QUEBEC.

U.S. Men-of-War British Men-of-War French Men-of-War Wolfe's Monument Parade Grounds Grand Stand

Visitors to the great Tercentenary Celebration will find at the "Tented City" every convenience to be had at a good hotel, combined with the delight of sleeping under canvas.

On the top of the cliff—commanding a magnificent view of the St. Lawrence, with the Naval Review of the Pageants on the Plains of Abraham, and of old Quebec—a city of tents is being erected to provide accommodation for thousands of guests.

Three huge Dining Tents will seat 1,500 at once, and under the management of an efficient caterer, meals will be served here to guests at 50c each. In another tent meals will be served at 25c.

Five perfectly equipped Lavatory Tents, connected with the City mains, are provided—the one for Ladies in a separate part of the grounds.

Sleeping Tents are of three sizes.

Class "A" holding 12 comfortably. Costs for the whole celebration—12 days, with 2 days before and 2 afterward if desired—$150. Separate beds $2.00 per day.

Class "B" holding 5, or 4 comfortably. For full term, $75. Separate beds $2 per day.

Class "C" holding 2, or 2 comfortably. $50 for full term. Separate beds $2 per day.

A Class "A" tent just suits a large party, and a "B" or "C" a small party or family. The cost is considerably reduced by taking the whole tent.

Express, Baggage and Post-offices, Safety Deposit Vaults, Electric Light, Police Protection and Attendants are provided.

Write to-day for Programme of Events and Application Blankets, and reserve your accommodation. Or on your arrival go direct to the "Tented City" with your baggage.

Electric car line passes the main entrance; distance from Grand Stand five minutes walk. Plenty of police and fire protection. First-class caterer from Boston furnishing meals from twenty-five cents upwards. One of the finest views in the world, showing the harbor and battleships and landing of Champlain.

ENGLISH FROM TOKIO.

An Englishman Annoyed His Neighbors by Keeping Geese.

Though the Japanese have borrowed many things from us they do not seem to have mastered our language as yet, as the following letter shows. It was received by an Englishman who resided in the native quarter of Tokio. He had annoyed his neighbors by keeping geese, which disturbed the calm of the place, and they accordingly resolved to send a protest to him. This letter was the result of their labors:—

"Tokio, Jan. 3rd, 1908.
"Mr. John Bexington.
"Dear Sir,—We have already twice written of your hateful geese cry with very unacceptable, unbearable, uncommon, uncouth, unquiet, and very loud voice. Your hateful geese cry in ugly and stormy manner. Therefore, whenever your hateful geese cry, our children are afraid and trembled with wonder. In that consequence the healthy of our children is very injured."

"At the same time, we are all awakened from very early morning and must hear of the hateful, unquiet, unlikely, ugly, loud voice of your uninteresting geese.

"Whenever your geese cry unquietly, we all can think no thought. It is frequent that the thought made is partly trampled down by your hateful and unquiet voice of your geese.

"Since you brought the geese, we all have no case to think thought except in the night.

"We and our children are extraordinarily injured, both material and abstract. Kill your hateful geese! Kill your geese or carry away them to the distant place, and do to make us not be injured by their hateful and unquiet voice. If you do not satisfy our want, we all shall injure you in return too.—Yours faithfully,

"ALL NEIGHBORS."
A man must indeed be hard-hearted to ignore such a fervent appeal; yet, sad to state, the geese are still there, though now and again one comes to an untimely and suspicious end.
