

GHOSTS WALK AT MID-DAY

MOONLIGHT IS NOT ALLEGORICAL ESSENTIAL TO SPECTRES.

Apparitions Are a Winter Subject, and Do Not Belong to Hot Summer Nights.

There is a little village in Cornwall, near to the spot where the famous Tregagle once worked his wicked will, which has a ghost only seen in summer time. This takes the form of a white rabbit, a pretty creature with soft coat and pink eyes, which gambles in the long, sweet grass outside the church wall. Many have seen it as they pass, but none of the villagers ever stop to watch it. For it has a strange and unrabbit-like habit of following the passer-by says Pearson's Weekly.

Once, on a brilliant moonlight August night, a postman found the rabbit at his heels. He walked faster and faster, but still the rabbit followed. At last, in blind fright, he turned and struck at the creature with all his might with his heavy walking-stick. He fell the stick strike the little creature, and instead of hearing it the cudgel was splintered, while the rabbit lopped on as if nothing had happened.

DARTMOOR INVADDED BY PIXIES.

He loaded it and walked whistling away through the white moonlight. A long time passed, he did not return, the men grew anxious, and went to look for him. Beside the churchyard wall they found him dead. One barrel of the gun was discharged. Next evening the rabbit was there, as usual, gambolling in the long grass.

A little further north, on the high tops of Dartmoor, live the pixies, fairy-like elves, who show themselves principally upon summer evenings. A farmer who had been cutting turf on the moor not far from Dartmoor was coming home about nine o'clock on a July evening when suddenly, in a "cliff" of granite boulders, he saw a couple of scores of tiny forms apparently dancing and playing together.

Though badly frightened, he was so interested, that he approached softly. But before he got very near one must have seen him. They were sharp little cries, and suddenly he was enveloped in thick mist—so thick that he could see nothing more, and was forced to stumble blindly back towards his path, harking his shins upon the rocks. After a little the fog cleared, but all sign of the pixies was gone.

Scotland's moors and deer forests are full of the romance of fairies, witches, and other supernatural beings, and these by no means confine their activities to winter-time or to night. The fairies, in fact, keep strictly at home during winter, and only show themselves above ground on warm, sunny nights.

HIGHLAND CHIEFTAIN'S GHOST.

There was an old lady living near Caieff who averred that she had more than once seen "the little green woman." This personage is apparently half-fairy, half-human, for she has a curious habit of making the rocks dance.

Then, there is another ghost who haunts a boulder in the River Tilt. A genuine ghost his, for it takes the form of a Highland chieftain of old times, and may be seen in the gloaming of a summer evening sitting there dozy and motionless on the rock in the middle of the stream. The rock is only uncovered when the water is low, and the story goes that the chieftain himself used to hold his court there, and whenever he did so used to have at least one of those he fought before him.

In Crete and other islands of the Eastern Mediterranean the peasants are not half so much afraid of venturing abroad at midnight as they are of being alone in the woods at midday. The hot, still, scented moon is the hour of danger, when the dryads are at liberty to leave their homes in the hearts of ancient trees, and all believe that the human who sets eyes upon one of these beautiful woodland divinities must surely go mad.

VICTIMS OF MIMIC WARFARE.

Austrian Manoeuvres Marked by Many Prostrations.

Much excitement has been caused in Lower Austria by reports that during the present army manoeuvres a large number of men have been prostrated, and that numerous cases have ended fatally.

During a forced march in the mountains in great heat at the end of last week, in Carinthia, two regiments of the line, one militia regiment and a rifle battalion, had several hundred men on the sick list. They were mostly re-arrived. Seven are said to have died of heart disease. In a march over Radlberg, a Bosnian soldier, who has not yet been discovered, fired a live cartridge, killing a lieutenant on the spot.

From Wiener Neustadt three cases of death are reported, and 200 men are sick. It is feared that the men who report themselves sick are accused of malingering and threatened with punishment. The officers in some cases refused to listen to the recommendations of the doctors and allow a rest. Although it is officially stated that nothing is known of deaths among the men, there is every reason to believe that the main facts are correct. The official statement has by no means claimed the prevalent excitement.

TRADITIONS OF THE PAST

WHITE MEN WORK FOR BLACKS IN THE TRANSVAAL.

Native With Four Wives Now Pays Only Tax Imposed on Man with Two.

Many extraordinary facts regarding the position of the natives in the Transvaal are given in a series of reports just issued by the Transvaal Land Owners' Association.

The reports are made by special commissioners sent out by the association. In one, the writer states that "It has become quite a common practice for white men to plow land for natives. The latter pay the former so much per acre.

"A decided advance is noticeable among the natives as regards their method of cultivation. In former years most of their land was tilled by women, who used the hoe, practically their only implement of agriculture, whereas at present it is quite common to see the men cultivating with plows drawn by oxen or donkeys."

Another of the commissioners writes: "The rapid strides the natives are making toward civilization and the eagerness they display in endeavoring to have of late become very marked. I regret to have to say it, but it appears to me that the native children, as regards education, are comparatively advancing more rapidly than the children of the poorer whites in the outlying districts."

"I find that on most of the studs visited a large number of boys are away at work. In fact, in some studs I found only the women and old men, and the younger men being away," writes another commissioner.

"From conversation with the natives they all state their willingness to work, but, as formerly stated in my report, not underground. They also strongly object to being recruited as they, without exception, all state that they have been cheated by labor agents to such an extent that they prefer to go and look for work by themselves, as then they will know exactly what work they will have to do, and what the remuneration will be."

Dealing with the native but tax, the same writer says: "I note that the Government no longer charges a native anything more than $10 extra."

FOR THE SECOND WIFE.

"By this I mean that a native with four wives pays the same as a native with two. Until recently this, of course, was different. He had to pay for every wife above one."

With regard to agriculture, it is pointed out that the first sowing of the "Winter" crop of Kaffir corn has been destroyed by locusts, which necessitate a late second sowing. Unfortunately, a number of farmers of the Blyvoor class have been unable to purchase a second supply of seed.

Owing to immunity from horse sickness by inoculation, quines are increasing, and are now generally used for transport purposes, replacing donkeys which were largely used after the war. This season the game generally has increased. This is especially the case with koodoo, steinbuck, pheasant and guinea fowl.

LIFE WAS NEVER DULL.

A Fruitful Field for Adventure on the Uganda Railway.

To those who are acquainted with it, the Uganda Railway seems to be a full subject to be dealt with in comic opera. Named after a colony through which it does not run, starting from a terminus placed as far as possible from the port it serves, running for miles through a land of natives, of lions, of giraffes and sheep killed by these animals.

In the early days, when the road had been open only a little while and wild animals had not learned the fear of man, life on the line was interesting and often exciting, says a writer in the Colonist. In August, 1908, the traffic manager at Mombasa received from the Lolo station-master at Simba a telegram marked "urgent."

"Lion is on platform. Please instruct guard and driver to proceed carefully and without signal in yard. Guard to advise passengers not to get out here, and be careful when coming into booking-office."

This advice appeared to be superfluous. However, one bold sportsman did get out, and by ascending a tree, managed to shoot a lion and a lioness within a few minutes. He also wounded another lion, the one which had been waiting on the platform. This lion, after being wounded, disappeared and could not be found, so the sportsman went along the siding to look for him. He found him suddenly, but owing to his own swiftness in getting a blow on the jaw after an exciting rough and tumble, he was still there when the lion made for the underbrush.

Later in the day the station-master received another message from the same agent. "One African injured again by a lion. Please send cartridges by next train, certain." And later from the same man this:

"Switichman is surrounded by two lions while returning from distant signal, and switchman went on top of telegraph-post near water-tanks. Train to stop there and take him on train and then proceed. Please arrange necessary steps."

But it is not only big game that annoys him, for on a later day he sent this bulletin:

"Rats running about, eating holes in ceiling and hanging off switchman's toes. Send rat-traps."

Better a young girl with old ways than an old girl with young ways.

CURIOUS BURGALAR TOOLS.

Up-to-date Crackmen Now Use Rats and Dogs.

Rats and dogs must now be included among the assistants of the expert burglar. The animals are used by the burglar to ascertain if the coast is clear, the mode of operation being somewhat as follows:

"The 'crackmen' may have fixed up certain premises where he suspects there are burglary alarms. He accordingly forces open a small window and puts through two or three rats, brought to the scene in a basket. Accompanying him also is a rattling ferret, and this animal he also puts through the window. If there is a burglary alarm anywhere about, the bounding of the dog after the rats will set it in motion, and the burglar leaves the dog and the rats to their fate. Should there be no ringing of bells he enters.

"Another common dodge is for the burglar to send a telegram to a suburban housewife as follows: 'Come at once to Hospital. Husband very ill.' Should the telegram be for its purpose the burglar sets to work.

"Oysters are sometimes aids to a felony. After the husband has gone a man will call at a house with two or three dozen oysters displayed on a tray. While the oysterman will return with the oysters, the burglar will enter the house, and while they are being placed one by one on his tray his confederate finishes his work and makes his escape."

MONTHS OF AGONY.

A Severe Case of Rheumatism Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

"For many weary months I suffered untold agony. I could not walk. I could scarcely raise myself to a sitting posture. I was under medical care, but in vain. Finally I tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and they have restored me to my former healthy condition."

This strong statement was made to a reporter recently by Mr. Charles S. Keddy, formerly of Kingston, N. S., and now living at Kingston, N. S. Mr. Keddy is a carpenter by trade, and is now able to work every day. He adds: "I cannot speak too highly of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, as they cured me after other medicines failed. While I was living at Kingston, N. S., I was seized with rheumatism in its most violent form. I was compelled to take to my bed and for months was an invalid. I was so weak that it was difficult for me to raise myself to a sitting posture. The pain was so severe that I could not sleep. I had medical attendance, but it failed. Then I tried medicine advertised to cure rheumatism, but with no result. My money was wasted. One day when hope had almost gone a friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I told him my experiences with other medicines, but he assured me that these pills would cure my rheumatism, so I sent for a supply. After using a few boxes I was able to leave my bed, and from that on my restoration to health was rapid. I am now as well as ever I was, and have not had the slightest touch of rheumatism since. The changes they have wrought in my case is simply miraculous, and I can strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to any one suffering from any form of Rheumatism."

Rheumatism is rooted in the blood. Rubbing the aching limbs with liniments and outward remedies cannot possibly cure it. You must get the rheumatic acid out of the blood and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is the one sure remedy to do this, because they actually make new blood. That is why these pills cure anemia, headaches and backaches, neuralgia, indigestion and the secret ailments that make miserable the lives of so many women and young girls. Send for a bottle of these pills, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Tom Smith was walking down the street accompanied by his dog, whose tail he had recently "bobbed," when he met Will Scudd. The latter, seeing the stunted tail, pointed to it, and laughingly said: "Why, Tom, I never knew that before." "Of course not," replied Tom; "dogs' tails are always bobbed."

A Sure Cure for Headache.—Bilious headache, to which women are more subject than men, becomes so acute in some subjects that they are utterly prostrated. The stomach refuses food, and there is a constant and distressing effort to free the stomach from bile which has become unduly secreted there. Parke's Vegetable Pills are a speedy, attractive, and in neutralizing the effects of the intruding bile relieves the pressure on the nerves which cause the headache. Try them.

Customer—"Look here! All the buttons came off this coat the first time I wore it." Aaronheimer (the tailor): "Yes? So many people admire that coat you shew! I'm proud and burst these buttons off."

Weak and Sickly People envy those in robust health. No need to stay sick by the use of the best tonic, "Barnum's," you can get rich blood and renewed strength and vigor.

Richie—"Look at me! Twenty years ago a poor boy, working like a dog, and now—look at me! See what I have made myself!" Smiley—"Yes, Sir, Do you—Is this meant as a warning or an example?"

You cannot be happy while you have yours. Then do not delay in getting a bottle of Barnum's Corn Cure. It cures all kinds of corns without pain. Failure with it is unknown.

PRINCE FOR SALE.

Any Pretty Girl or Widow With $2,000,000 Can Have Him.

A genuine German Prince, son of a ruling Prince, is in the market for a wife with an American girl, says The New York World. He has placed himself, his title, his fortune and his position in the social world unreservedly in the hands of the widow of a prominent Government official.

Disclaiming any idea of being a marriage broker, this widow, nevertheless, has written to former Immigration Inspector Marcus Braun, suggesting that if he will find the girl, she will furnish the Prince, and there will be a lot of money in it for both of them.

Mr. Braun, who says he is busy with other things and is happily married besides, has no time to look for a suit-

WOMAN KEPT LIGHTHOUSE.

For Many Years Mrs. Williams Has Had Sole Charge.

After thirty-five years' service in a lighthouse, the only woman in England who has had the unique distinction of being in full charge of a lighthouse is just about to retire. This lady is Mrs. Williams, of the Leasowe lighthouse, Wirral Peninsula, Cheshire. For twenty years Mrs. Williams, along with her husband, had charge of the famous lighthouse on the Great Ormes Head. Shortly after their removal to the Leasowe lighthouse, however, Mrs. Williams had the misfortune to lose her husband, but recognizing her faithful services whilst in company with her husband, the Mersey Docks and Harbour Board gave her full charge of the lighthouse. Mrs. Williams has held this position, being assisted in later years. The Leasowe lighthouse, which was erected nearly a century and a half ago, is about to be abolished in favor of flashlight beacons, which are to be placed at the entrance to the Mersey.

Mr. Braun returned last week from a three months' tour of the Pacific Coast and when he dropped into the Cafe Boulevard, on Second Avenue, New York, where he holds many political conferences, he was handed a letter, which was the following letter:

"High-born Mr. Marcus Braun, President of the Austro-Hungarian Immigration Commission, in New York, America, Cafe Boulevard, writes me as follows: 'I should the telegram for its purpose the burglar sets to work. 'Oysters are sometimes aids to a felony. After the husband has gone a man will call at a house with two or three dozen oysters displayed on a tray. While the oysterman will return with the oysters, the burglar will enter the house, and while they are being placed one by one on his tray his confederate finishes his work and makes his escape.'"

"Expecting your kind reply to this proposition, I beg to remain, yours very truly, 'Sofie Stohank.'"

"Imperial and Royal Provincial Governor's Councilor's Widow. 'Vienna, Eighteenth District, Wahringerstrasse, No. 94.'"

A NEW IGNITION BATTERY.

Owing to the constantly increasing severity of the ignition problem, the NATIONAL CARBON COMPANY, Cleveland, Ohio, deemed it advisable to design a battery especially for this class of work. The Columbia Ignitor "Red Top" Dry Cell which is the result of their experiments is without question the highest type of ignition battery on the market to-day. These cells give a dry, snappy spark, recuperate rapidly and have long life. They are made in three sizes. This company will be pleased to send their booklet "Kinks," which treats on all Gas Engine troubles, free to owners of automobiles, launches, Gas Engines, etc.

A man was deeply in love with a "lady fair." He met her one evening at a crowded ball, and as he could not get an opportunity of talking to her, he contrived to slip into her hand a note containing the two words "Will you write upon it?" The reply was equally brief, "Won't I!"

To Those of Sedentary Occupation.—Men who follow sedentary occupations, such as clerical, professional, or office work, are more prone to disorders of the liver and kidneys than those who lead active, outdoor lives. The former will find in Parnele's Vegetable Pills a restorative without question the most efficacious for this class of work. They are easily procurable, easily taken, and are surprisingly cheap considering their excellence.

"You should never take anything that doesn't agree with you," the physician told Mr. Marks. "If I had always followed that rule, Maria," he remarked to his wife, "where would you be?"

You are right in regarding eczema as a dangerous disease. Annot the swollen, itching skin with Weaver's Ointment. And take Weaver's Syrup internally.

Mr. Hardup (entering the nursery): "Why, what are all you children hiding for?" Small Boy: "Please, papa, Tommy's the big pillow, and he's cuffed with an account."

Nearly all infants are more or less subject to diarrhoea and such complaints while teething and as this period of their lives is the most critical, mothers should not be without a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial. This medicine is a specific for such complaints and is highly spoken of by those who have used it. The proprietors claim it will cure any case of cholera or summer complaint.

"I can't see why, because a woman marries a man, she should take his name." He—"Just so. The poor fellow ought to be allowed to keep something he could call his own!"

ITCH, Mange, Pruritic Scratches and every form of contagious Itch in human or animals cured in 30 minutes by Wolford's Sanitary Lotion. It never fails. Sold by all druggists.

"How is it that a strong man like you cannot get employment?" a lady asked a tramp. The mendicant replied: "Ah, man, you see, people want refugees from my last employer, and he's been dead about twenty years!"

A Good Medicine requires little advertising. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil gained the good name it now enjoys, not through elaborate advertising, but for its great merit as a remedy for bodily pains and ailments of the respiratory organs. It has carried its fame with it wherever it has gone, and it is prized at all antiques as well as at home. Dose small, effect sure.

The Guest (after dinner): "Your wife is such a beautiful woman it's a wonder you're not jealous of her." Host: "Oh, I am never jealous. I never can see that any sane woman would take a fancy to."
