

MISS CELIA HARRINGTON.

MISS HARRINGTON OF DETROIT SAYS:
"I Caught a Severe Cold Which Settled in Catarrh. I Began Taking Per-ru-na And Found it a Faithful Helper. I Heartily Recommend Pe-ru-na."

MISS CELIA HARRINGTON, 303 Second Ave., Detroit, Mich., writes:

"Woeless has filled many months of my life with suffering."

"Through carelessness I caught a severe cold two years ago which settled in catarrh and seriously interfered with the regular functions of the body and made me nervous and irritable."

"I began taking Peruna and found it in a faithful helper, as it enriched my blood and invigorated the whole system."

"I have no pains now, and am always well."

"I heartily recommend Peruna as a reliable medicine."

Health and Strength Restored.

Mrs. A. E. Stouffer, Capioma, Kansas, writes:

"Peruna has given me health and strength; it is the best medicine that was ever made for women. My friends say they never saw such a change in a woman. I talk to every one about Peruna. I cannot say too much for it."

Peruna in Tablet Form.—For two years Dr. Harman and his assistants have incessantly labored to create Peruna in tablet form, and their strenuous labors have just been crowned with success. People who object to liquid medicines can now secure Peruna Tablets, which represent the medicinal ingredients of Peruna. Each tablet is equivalent to one average dose of Peruna.

Catarrh of Head and Throat.

Mrs. William H. Hinckle, 20 Myrtle St., Beverly, Mass., writes that Peruna has done her a great deal of good for catarrh of head and throat.

How They Got Revenge

PRIEST GOT EVEN WITH DOCTOR AND VICE VERSA.

Glove Merchant Too Clever for Belgian Government — Speeches Reported as Spoken.

A very ludicrous little comedy of revenge has taken place in the West of Ireland. Two medical men applied for a parish appointment, but the candidate favored by the local priest was rejected. Out of revenge the priest proceeded to distribute the red dispensary tickets to people situated in the most distant part of his parish, and he made the distribution altogether regardless of the real necessity of the cases.

As a result of this, the doctor who obtained the appointment often found himself obliged to go many miles in order to visit a case which proved to be of a trivial character. Now came

He was a man of resource, and as soon as he discovered the priest's ill-temper he made it his rule to tell these distant patients that their condition was so serious that they must send for the priest at once. The upshot of the whole affair was that the parties made a truce and afterwards established

MOST FRIENDLY RELATIONS.

The Customs laws of most governments give the Treasury the right to seize the goods at the declared price. If the appraiser sets upon them a higher value than the importer, some of the respective governments often make profitable deals in connection with the articles on which duty has to be paid.

A very peculiar revenge was taken by a merchant upon the Customs authorities. This was in connection with a smart deal made by the Belgian Government at the expense of a glove merchant. In this case the Customs seized 1,000 pairs of imported gloves, paying the merchant the price at which he had declared their value, and so the merchant lost a valuable contract.

The glove merchant felt aggrieved at the manner in which he had been treated,

DOCTORS THOUGHT BABY WAS CONSUMPTIVE.

A LETTER TO ANXIOUS MOTHERS is written by Mrs. F. W. Kittle, of Kirkdale, P. O., who says: "My little 1-year-old boy suffered since he was 18 months old from a bad leg. I tried many salves and had doctors attend him, but none did him any good. The doctors told me it was in the blood, and he was in consumption. I only wish now I had had more faith in Zam-Buk, for it immediately healed the boy's leg. He is now nearly 4 years old and looks far from being consumptive. He is now a strong, healthy boy, and I hope he will help a good many anxious mothers."

LIFE WITHOUT MICROBES.

Experiments Indicate That It Would Be About Unbearable.

A recent series of experiments on life without microbes were performed at the bacteriological laboratory of the University of Bonn, and the report is follows:

"In these days it is chiefly the evil effects of bacteria upon organisms that are studied. Each week some new microbe of disease is discovered, or some old enemies are described as lurking in some unsuspected place. But there is another side to the microbe question.

"It has been known for long that many kinds of bacteria normally present in the intestine aid in the digestion of food, chiefly acting as fermenters, altering food material into substances that can be absorbed by the cells of the intestine. In order to study the effect of sterilized air, the Bonn University laboratory used special apparatus in which small animals could be kept for a number of days, while the air they breathed and the food they ate were supplied, as far as possible, in an absolutely sterilized condition.

"Although it was not possible to be certain that the food contained no bacteria, it was certain that the air supplied them had been quite freed from microbes, for a gelatin plate placed in the current remained without colonies all through the experiment. The animals were weighed before and after the experiments and their excreta during the experiment were analyzed. Parallel experiments in which all the conditions existed by the sterilization, were read.

"The reporters ought not to say that what should be left out—but the reporter can only judge of what is important. As I say, as the reporter—what the reporter—what the reporter—what the reporter thinks of interest—is reported.—London Answer.

Nursing baby?

It's a heavy strain on mother.

Her system is called upon to supply nourishment for two.

Some form of nourishment that will be easily taken up by mother's system is needed.

Scott's Emulsion contains the greatest possible amount of nourishment in easily digested form.

Mother and baby are wonderfully helped by its use.

An old gentleman holding a couple of broomsticks, said: "Come, come, my dears; that kind of accomplishment will not help you to get husbands." "I know, uncle," responded one of the girls, "but it will help us to keep our husbands in order when we have them."

In Nature's Storehouse There are Cures. — Medical experiments have shown conclusively that there are medicinal virtues in even ordinary plants growing up around us, which give man a value that cannot be estimated. It is held by some that Nature provides a cure for every disease which neglect and ignorance have visited upon man. However, this may be, it is well known that Parmentier's Vegetable Pills, distilled from roots and herbs, are a sovereign remedy in curing all disorders of the digestion.

"Your daughter is a skillful performer on the piano, is she not?" asked the family friend. "Yes," answered Mr. Cunningham, "the way she can play for hours without getting an earache or a sprained wrist proves to me that she's uncommonly expert."

"A second result was that the animals lost weight more quickly under the sterilized conditions than under normal conditions, while at the same time the excretion of nitrogen and of carbolic acid was more than usual.

"A third result was still more remarkable. In a large number of experiments the animals died, sometimes in a few minutes more often after a few hours or days. No cause could be assigned for this. The possible causes were all excluded, and the inexplicable fact remained.

"The novelty of the idea that sterilization of the air is fatal to life no doubt is attractive. Perhaps with time, medicine will furnish bacilli to meet various disorders. The laboratories of the human body have yet much to bring to light for the patient observer."
