Strained Relations Between Fenelon Falls Residents

INTERESTING HAPPENINGS OF VARIOUS KINDS — EFFECTS OF SATURDAY NIGHT'S STORM—STR. KAWARTHA'S ROUGH PASSAGE—THE COUNCIL AND THE BOATHOUSES.

FENELON FALLS, July 7.—Mr. T. Hetherington, a farmer living about a mile and a half from town, had three fine thoroughbred cattle killed by lightning in Saturday night's storm. Mr. Hetherington has been very ill for some time past, and this is another case of misfortunes never come singly.
Mr. D. Merriman, R. Merriman and G. Calder left Monday morning as guides to a party of fishermen bound for Gull Lake and vicinity. No doubt there will be many trout caught.
The storm on Saturday night did considerable damage to the telephone service. Both Rosedale lines were put out of business, also the Sturgeon Point line and many of the cottagers on Cameron Lake, rendered a beautiful cornet solo in the Presbyterian church on Sunday evening last.
While W. Rider was loading water into barrels on a wagon on the other side of the bridge, the horse he was driving, which belonged to Mr. Twomey, got beyond his depth, and it was feared for some time that he would drown as he could not get ashore hitched as he was to the wagon. After some brisk work by three or four men who were around, however, the animal was released from the wagon and managed to get ashore.

The boat houses are being moved this week, but not by the owners. The final date for moving them was Saturday last, but none of the owners had done anything so the Council instructed Mr. J. Jones to get a couple of men and go down and commence moving them. This was done, and then the owners flocked around and started to raise a big howl. Mr. J. Austin moved his, and Mr. Glaspell's has been pushed into the river. There is no doubt the Council means business, and the boat houses will likely be all gone this week.
The Kawartha had a very rough passage from Rosedale last Tuesday evening, some of the passengers being sea sick. She rolled so much that she pitched her lifeboat and a trunk into the lake. These were picked up again, however, and port was made without any further mishap.

Considerable preparation is being made for the celebration of the glorious 12th. A pretty large crowd is expected, but there will be plenty of accommodation for them.
H. J. Lytle and wife, and Miss Aileen, passed through to Rosedale on Monday, where they will spend the next two months.
Born—On Thursday, July 8th, 1908, to Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Gould, a son.
Mr. M. T. McEachern, of McGill Medical College, now spending vacation at Fenelon Falls, has completed another very successful year at college. Recent McGill results show him very successful in every subject of second year, and carrying with him several honor places. These results were repeated recently in the Ontario professional examinations held in May in Toronto. In these he has been successful in every branch taken.
(Special to Free Press.)
During the past dozen of years the owners of boat houses have been using that part of Water-st. south of the railroad bridge and at the north entrance of the canal for building boat houses, and during the time stated two fires have occurred, destroying several boats and boat houses. The property owners on the west side of Oak-st. since the last fire have been up in arms against allowing any more boat houses to be built, and believing those buildings to be a menace to the property, took steps to have the street cleared off. Accordingly, the Council 1907 were served with a notice by the firm of Lindsay lawyers, on behalf of their clients here, forbidding them allowing any more buildings being erected, and notifying them to remove those already built. In accordance with the wishes of the property owners a motion was passed in Council last August directing that no more houses be built, and that those already there be removed on or before the first day of May of this year.

In the face of this motion three new boat houses were erected on the street, and no effort was made to move off by the first of May, as per order of Council. In June of this year the Council passed a by-law prohibiting any more building on this street, and for the removal of those already built; five days' notice was served on the owners of buildings, ordering them to vacate. This notice was also treated with contempt, and in conformity with the by-law on July 5th, Constable Jones, with two men, went up and started to move the houses. Mr. Ed. Glaspell's boat house was detached from its moorings and pushed off into the water onto some logs to float it away. Then the owners of the remaining houses, signified their willingness to vacate, but a good deal of wordy warfare was indulged in during the proceedings.
In regard to the moving of the boat houses, we are not going to offer an opinion, but when it became law that street must be cleared, we do think the reasonable citizens should have submitted, without making any violent protest; and the actions of Ed. Glaspell and F. Metcalfe, we believe, will cause a feeling of indignation in the breast of every citizen. Mr. Andrew Torrance, who is a laboring man, and a good citizen, was hired by the corporation to work at the removal of the buildings, and was severely castigated by Metcalfe at the time he went up to work at clearing the street. Since then Mr. Torrance has been harshly dealt with. He is just after passing through a severe trial in the losing of his son in when he was living in suspense for over three weeks before the body was recovered; now, because he was in no way responsible for the boat houses, he is subjected to a cruelty which is at once discreditable to those participating in it.

The second day after the boat house episode, Glaspell billed and collected from Mr. Torrance $3 for the use of his boathouse for storing the dead body of his son in when he was pulled out of the water. The body was only there a few hours, and nobody believes that Glaspell ever intended making such a demand, nor did he do so until now. Metcalfe now demands a dollar for helping to pull the dead body of his near neighbor from the water. Shame!
These two men may think that they have done a clever thing, and have punished Mr. Torrance, but such is not the case, as Mr. Torrance will not lose one cent, but those two fellows who want to use the street for building purposes are only driving the nails in their own coffin, and the citizens of Fenelon Falls will give them the reward they have earned; their cruel act will bring its own retribution. The whole village bowed their heads in sorrow when the alarm was given that poor Joe Torrance was drowned, and many hearts ached for the aged father and mother. That sorrow still exists, and will remain in the hearts of all true citizens, but the acts of revenge and cruelty will be left to those who cannot appreciate excellence in others, for the very good reason that it does not exist within themselves.

ROSEDALE.
(Correspondence Free Press.)
Rosedale, July 7.—Work has commenced on the new lock-house. The residence is midway between the mouth of the new canal and Cameron Lake, and when finished is to be occupied by the resident engineer until the canal is completed.
Mr. F. S. Glover, Peterboro, arrived on Monday to join the T. V. C. staff of surveyors.
Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Lytle and Miss Aileen are occupying their pretty summer house once again, and are enjoying the rest, which Rosedale always affords.
Mrs. Bert Gray and little Lura are visiting at Mrs. Littleton's, Fenelon Falls.
Mr. T. M. McDonald spent Sunday with his parents in Toronto.
Mr. Sid Leger is leaving our town to-day. He was one of the Simcoe staff.
A number of our residents are looking forward to the celebration of the 12th at Fenelon Falls.
A great storm swept over our town early Sunday morning, but did no particular damage.
Yesterday was the hottest day yet, so everyone says. It must have been 92 in the shade.
A great many spent a part of the 1st in our pretty village. Among them we noticed Rev. C. S. and Mrs. Lord with their children and friends, Misses Bellingham, Mrs. J. J. Townley and children.
Our new bridge tender, Mr. Wm. Dowson, Baddow, assumed his duties on Monday.
Mr. Will Gale and Miss Russell spent Sunday, the guests of their aunt, Mrs. Jonas Russell, Cambridge.
Mr. J. G. Wallace spent Sunday with his family here. We are glad to see he is stronger than last year, although there is still room for improvement.
Mrs. R. J. Moore and children, of Lindsay, also Edith Junkin and Gladys Jewell were in the village on Monday for a few hours.
