

Fine Tailoring

Having a Suit or Overcoat made to order is like building a house — the result in both cases depends, in the main, on your contractor and workmen. There's one thing sure — you can't get a $30 Suit for $15, any more than you can get a $10,000 house built for $5,000.

THE SAFE WAY

Go to a tailor who has a reputation for making the best of work, a tailor who never charges a fancy price, but asks you enough to ensure the best of work and trimmings.

That decision will bring you to this HOME OF GOOD TAILORING.

Suits and Overcoats, $18.00 up. Trousers, $5.00 up.

PULP MILL FOR BANCROFT.

Bancroft Times: A couple of gentlemen named Foley from St. Catharines, were in Bancroft last week looking over the ground with a view to establishing a pulp mill here. They were much impressed with the water power and supply of pulp wood, and the question of offering them some inducement will be taken up by the council at once.

Monster Crowd Heard Famous Sheffield Choir

LINDSAY PEOPLE AND VISITORS WELL PLEASED—TOTAL RECEIPTS $963.—ROSS HOSPITAL WILL BENEFIT TO EXTENT OF $215.00.

That the music-loving people of Lindsay expected something over the average was attested by the gathering Thursday, come together to hear the Sheffield Choir. The large skating rink, where the concert was given, held very few empty seats, and the applause following the different numbers was both hearty and insistent. Unfortunately, the building could not be heated sufficiently, which necessitated the audience retaining their wraps, but the interest was so great that all remained to the end.

By request the first two numbers were from the "Messiah." Not having an orchestra, the chorus sang to piano accompaniment. The first of the two, "And the Glory of the Lord," was especially noted for the clearness of articulation, the fineness of attack, the two hundred voices starting like one massive chord on the words, "Hath spoken it." The Hallelujah chorus was the one best received by the audience, being, as it is, a favorite. The soprano and tenors were particularly good on the words, "For the Lord God reigneth," the accompanying hallelujah coming in with splendid rhythm. The glee, "Sisters of the Sea" was delightfully given, as was also the part-song, "Moonlight." This latter exhibited the chorus in the finer shading, the word 'sleep' at the conclusion being beautifully done.

Perhaps the most taking number with the majority was "You Stole My Love," which was a marvel of rapid articulation, and was most vociferously applauded. The beautiful unaccompanied number, "O Gladstone Light" by Sullivan, was given during the afternoon as an encore.

Of the soloists, special mention must be made. The song, "The Nightingale," by Miss Coward, was a revelation to many of what a trained voice can accomplish. For range and flexibility of the singer were shown to splendid advantage by the selection, and an encore was insistently demanded. Mr. William Peacock scored a complete success in "The Curew," the depth and quality of his voice being astonishing. For an encore he gave "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," which suited his range perfectly. Miss Kathleen Frankish won her audience by the number, "My Kin Folk," Miss Clara-North, by "She Wandered Down the Mountain Side." An address was read to the choir after the programme by Mayor Begg, after which preparations were made to leave for Peterboro, where a concert was to be given that evening. It is to be hoped that there will be a stimulus given to choral singing in every place visited, and that in Lindsay good music will have taken another step forward.

Interesting Meeting of Poultry Association

TWO PLYMOUTH ROCKS JUDGED AND SCORES COMMENTED ON—INTERESTING POINTERS FOR POULTRY KEEPERS—PREPARATION FOR THE BIG SHOW.

The meeting of the Victoria County Poultry Association Monday was a specially profitable and interesting affair. Not only was business conducted in a prompt and efficient way, but the rest of the program for the evening was such as to undoubtedly benefit those interested in poultry.

The meeting was held in the office of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, opposite the Market. Mr. B. L. McLean, president of the Association, presided at the meeting, and among those present were the following: Mr. D. C. Trew, Mr. F. H. Reed, Mr. Geo. Calvert, Mr. John O'Reilly, Mr. Thos. Trotter, Mr. J. P. Ryley, Mr. Bert Letz, Mr. D. A. McKenzie, and others.

Two Birds Judged. Mr. Bert Letz had two birds brought down for the members of the Association to score. Mr. D. C. Trew did the judging and the members plied the judge with questions and forced him to back up each of his points with explanations, which, however, he was well able to do to the satisfaction of all.

Both of Mr. Letz's birds were White Plymouth Rocks—one a cockerel and the other a hen. They both made a good showing, the cockerel taking 92½ points out of 100, and the hen being given 93. In scoring the hen, Mr. Trew remarked on the practically perfect comb of this bird. Perfection, according to the standard set, was never reached, but this bird had about as good a comb as he had seen in any bird in the locality.

The Profitable Hen. After the judging of the hen there was a discussion on the value of the hen to the country from a commercial and financial standpoint.

"You have only to consult the Government blue books to be shown conclusively that the hen brings more money to this country than all the live stock put together," said Mr. Trew. "Yet, farmers will say, 'oh, it's only a hen!' I'm glad that farmers are gradually waking up to the real importance of the hen as a means of making money."

Farmers Not Enough Interested in Show.

"The farmers around here are certainly not showing as much live interest in the poultry show as they ought to," said Mr. J. P. Ryley. "They are gradually coming in, however, and I feel sure that before many years are over they will fully realize that the Lindsay Poultry Show is very much benefit and advantage to them."

It's for the Farmers.

Why, there were not more than five town members exhibited at the show last year," said Mr. Calvert. "Certainly the show is for the farmer," he continued, and the farmer is going to get the benefit of the show all along the line.

Cleanliness Important.

Mr. Trew advised the cleaning of the hen houses once a day. "The birds like cleanliness above all things," said Mr. Trew, "and they thrive on it. I would be as well pleased with a man's good sense who cleaned out his horse stable once or twice a year as with a man who so shamefully neglects his poultry house." Mr. Geo. Calvert — "My poultry house is thoroughly cleaned every week or two at most and then it is thoroughly disinfected throughout."

Mr. Trew—"That is a good idea, but the oftener the general cleaning is done the better."

Dust Baths. Mr. John O'Reilly explained his method of keeping sand renewed in the poultry house for the dust bath. He secured a lot of nice dry sand and kept it in barrels. Then he renewed the floor as often as necessary for cleanliness and the comfort of the birds. He also used a carbolic acid spray for disinfecting.

Overcrowding. Mr. Trew explained that one of the big troubles in raising poultry was the evil of overcrowding. Just as the birds were crowded they would begin to fall off. He advised four or five square feet of bare space to be allowed for each bird.

Changes in Officers. Mr. Frost, who has been an officer of the Association for many years, desired to resign from the secretaryship. His resignation was accepted with much regret, and in laying the matter before the meeting, Mr. B. L. McLean, the president, had many good things to say of Mr. Frost and his work for the Association.

Mr. J. P. Ryley was unanimously chosen as secretary to take Mr. Frost's place.

Mr. Thos. Connolly, one of the most energetic and able workers for the Association and for the success of the show, was appointed to the Board of Directors. Many kind references were made to Mr. Connolly's services to the show.

Vote of Thanks to Mr. Frost. On motion of Mr. D. C. Trew, seconded by Mr. Geo. Calvert, a hearty and unanimous vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Frost for the loyal and efficient services he had so freely given the Association, and for the excellent way in which he had filled various offices of the society.

Prof. Graham to Lecture. It was decided to secure Prof. W. R. Graham, the noted poultry expert from the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, to lecture on poultry topics on the second night of the annual show in Lindsay. This will be January 27th. Prof. Graham is one of the leading authorities on all poultry subjects and his address will undoubtedly be a drawing card for the evening as well as proving most valuable one to all interested in poultry.

DR. WILSON LEAVING FENELON FALLS.

Dr. A. Wilson has disposed of his practice in Fenelon Falls to Dr. H. B. Johnstone, who is now in possession. Dr. Wilson intends removing to Toronto in the near future, where he can pursue his profession without the hardships of country work. Needless to say, he will be greatly missed by the host of friends he has made during his long residence in this village. His successor, Dr. Johnstone, who has been assisting him for some time, comes well recommended, and is making himself very popular with Dr. Wilson's clientele in Fenelon Falls.
