PENSIONS ROMANCE

Love in a Workhouse Ends in Marriage of the Parties Concerned

Many a romantic union has been brought about by the old age pensions. It was reported at a meeting of the Huntingdon Board of Guardians that a man named Daniel Peacock, who had been in the workhouse since 1897, and would now become entitled to an old-age pension, intended to leave in order to marry another inmate, who would also be entitled to a pension. He wrote thanking the board for the kindness he had received, and said he would like a small memento of the happy time he had spent in the workhouse. The chairman said he thought the men and women were kept separate in the workhouse. The master of the workhouse stated that they were kept separate. A hope was expressed that the man would send the board a piece of wedding cake, and it was decided to subscribe to give him a wedding present. Peacock, who is a widower, was formerly a saddler, and while in the workhouse he has assisted the porter in charge of the door. His bride-elect, a widow named Susannah Wright, first entered the workhouse in 1908. The officials are puzzled to know when the courting was done. Peacock had his periodical day's leave and went to give the necessary notice of the marriage. The registrar, who is also clerk to the guardians, promised to marry the couple for nothing.

LONG TRAMP IN VAIN

Man of 98 Who Walked Nearly 3,000 Miles on Vain Errand

The London Telegraph tells the story, which comes from Mobile, Alabama, of a man of ninety-eight who has tramped nearly 5,000 miles on a vain errand. Frank Schrom, the hero of this feat, at the beginning of the year, received a letter from his daughter living in San Francisco asking him to go to them. Schrom had been wealthy, but his business had failed, and he had lost all his possessions. Too proud to ask for assistance, he set out to walk from New Orleans to the Californian city. Arriving there, he found his daughters, who, in the absence of any word from the old man, had come to the conclusion that he was dead, had left the city, and that their whereabouts was uncertain. Schrom, being disappointed and almost heart-broken by his failure, turned his face eastward again and walked back to New Orleans, covering altogether a distance of 2,800 miles. Now he is housed in a home for aged men.

POULTRY SHOW THE BEST EVER IN HISTORY OF THE SOCIETY

"The best show we have ever held," was the answer of a director this morning to a Post reporter, who visited the town hall this morning and inspected the magnificent exhibit of poultry and pet stock shown at the local poultry show.

The energetic officials of Lindsay Poultry and Pet Stock Association are certainly to be congratulated on the success achieved this year. If the show continues to grow, and it certainly gives promise of doing so, larger quarters will have to be secured.

Our citizens are urged to visit the show, as they will be amply rewarded in viewing the finest collection of poultry ever shown in this part of the province. The pens have been admirably arranged and an inspection of the different exhibits is most interesting and instructive.

Entries have been received from all parts of the province, and the judges, Messrs Bennett and Trew find it no easy task in awarding the prizes.

Among the local exhibitors Mr. Chas. Sutcliffe captured five specials awarded by the National Wyandotte Club for the best cock, hen pullet, cockerel and pen.

Robt. Smith captured five firsts in Golden Seabright's ducks and bantams, four seconds and one third.

Stephen Oliver captured twelve specials, 35 firsts, 13 seconds, and 9 thirds.

Thos. Trotter captured two specials, 5 firsts, a second, and third, in eight White Leghorns shown.

ELEPHANT WOULDN'T PLAY

Recognized in the Piano Keys its Mother's Tusks

The other day an itinerant circus announced, as the chief attraction on its programme, a performing elephant who, amongst other accomplishments, played the piano. The hour of the performance arrived; the docile animal was led into the arena and conducted to an open piano, when suddenly he wheeled round, uttering lugubrious cries. After a brief conference with the elephant's valet, the proprietor of the show came forward and said that until another piano could be procured that part of the programme could not be carried out. The elephant, a most sympathetic and affectionate creature, had recognized in the ivory keys of the instrument the tusks of its mother!

THE CHAMPION COW

The champion milk cow of the world is now supposed to be Chief Josephine, the prize cow of the University of Missouri. Eight months ago the keepers of the animal began a race for the record of one year. In the time that has elapsed since the start her milk yield has been greater by 2,100 pounds than that of any other cow that has ever lived. Josephine's daily yield has been 89 pounds. Her best record for a single day is 110.2 pounds. The cost of feeding her is about 35 cents a day.

GIRL IS FAST SWIMMER

Although swimming only three years, Violet Morgan, of the Kingston Swimming Club, London, England, who is only 3 years old, won 31 prizes in contests. Her principal achievement during the season was winning the junior championship of the Southern Counties Amateur Swimming Association, covering 100 yards in 1.34.
