SEEKING A POLICY

It is now intimated, declares The Hamilton Times, that Mr. R. L. Borden, leader of the Opposition, has in view the calling of a party convention within a few months to discuss matters of party policy and to seek for some grounds of agreement within the party out of which a political platform may be formulated. Mr. Borden and the machine which manipulates him have not been brilliantly successful in outlining a policy for the party. On several occasions, when his followers looked to him for a clear pronouncement on public issues, Mr. Borden failed them; he had no well defined principles to guide him, and he resorted to declarations which seemed to suit the purpose of the moment, but which, within a very brief time, he was obliged by political exigencies to disavow and contradict. In the matter of the N. T. R., it will be born in mind, he "boxed the compass," advocating a number of different and contradictory policies. In various parts of Canada he had made declarations inconsistent with any permanent Dominion policy, his object being to catch the favor of a section of the people for the moment, without regard to the total or permanent effect upon the country. The notorious "Halifax platform" was the work of Borden himself, and a few of his immediate lieutenants. It was designed to include everything in sight, from moss-clad Toryism to wild-eyed Socialism, and to serve the purpose until after the federal elections. It was never formally accepted by the Conservative party, and the better class of Conservative newspapers repudiated all sympathy with his Socialistic public ownership and operation views. These were thrown in as sop to the Socialistic coterie which follows W. F. McLean, and the general tendency of which is to antagonize all the solid interests of the country, to make war upon property rights, and to exalt into a species of idolatry the doing of things by the officials of the country at the expense of the people rather than by the investors of the country and the trained men whom they employ. The important change made by Sir Wilfrid Laurier in asserting the principle that the people shall control justly the railroads, telegraphs, telephones, and other public services, appeals to the sane men of the country as furnishing ample and easy means of protection of individual rights, and leaves no excuse whatever for the hair-brained policy into which Mr. Borden blundered in his Halifax platform. Mr. Borden and the party now realize that his declaration was a great mistake, and it is not to be wondered at that an effort should be made to rid the party of the onus, and to find some common ground of agreement. A Conservative leader seeking to make his party acceptable to the undesirable elements which declaim against property, capital and individual security, and who squint at Socialism and flirt with anarchy, is a spectacle which may well stimulate the level-headed men of the party to demand that Mr. Borden seek solid ground.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Judge Fralick now knows what the parrot felt like.
Politeness is a coin destined to enrich those who give it away.
It will soon be time to perform the annual stunt of carpet heating.
Wise is the man who knows what to say—and then doesn't say it.

Montreal needs a moral earthquake a great deal more than a physical one.
The age of miracles is not past. A French duellist has just been hit by a bullet.

Carrie Nation likes Great Britain better. She is being arrested more frequently now.
A Chicago man killed himself because he had gray hair—and lacked gray matter, we should add.

Toronto went wild the other night over Tom Flannagan's victory with his Injun racing machine.
Isn't it a little rough on the Hudson Bay railway route, this scheme for diverting the wheat crop to Vancouver.

A Duluth minister has invented an anti-swear stovepipe. But why should ministers feel the need of any such invention?
Tom Flannagan seems to be the hero of the hour in Toronto, while Longboat is looked upon as a good little Injun.

It is astonishing how some plumbers can dissipate their money. One of them died in Toronto a few days ago and only left $3,001.

The C. P. R. has just shown the biggest weekly increase for a year. That is a sign of the times which need not be ignored.

A horse kicked a boy in West Toronto the other day. There are several boys in Lindsay who should be sent to that horse for treatment.

There is reason to suspect more than a desire on the part of the Toronto police to subject prisoners to the "third degree," and it should be stopped promptly and effectually.

Of all the funny stunts that Toronto has ever done to attract people to it, the proposition to send a brass band around to advertise it in the American cities is the silliest.

William Jennings Bryan was thrown out of his automobile the other day. Bill has been thrown by his fellow sovereigns so often an additional bump or two doesn't hurt.

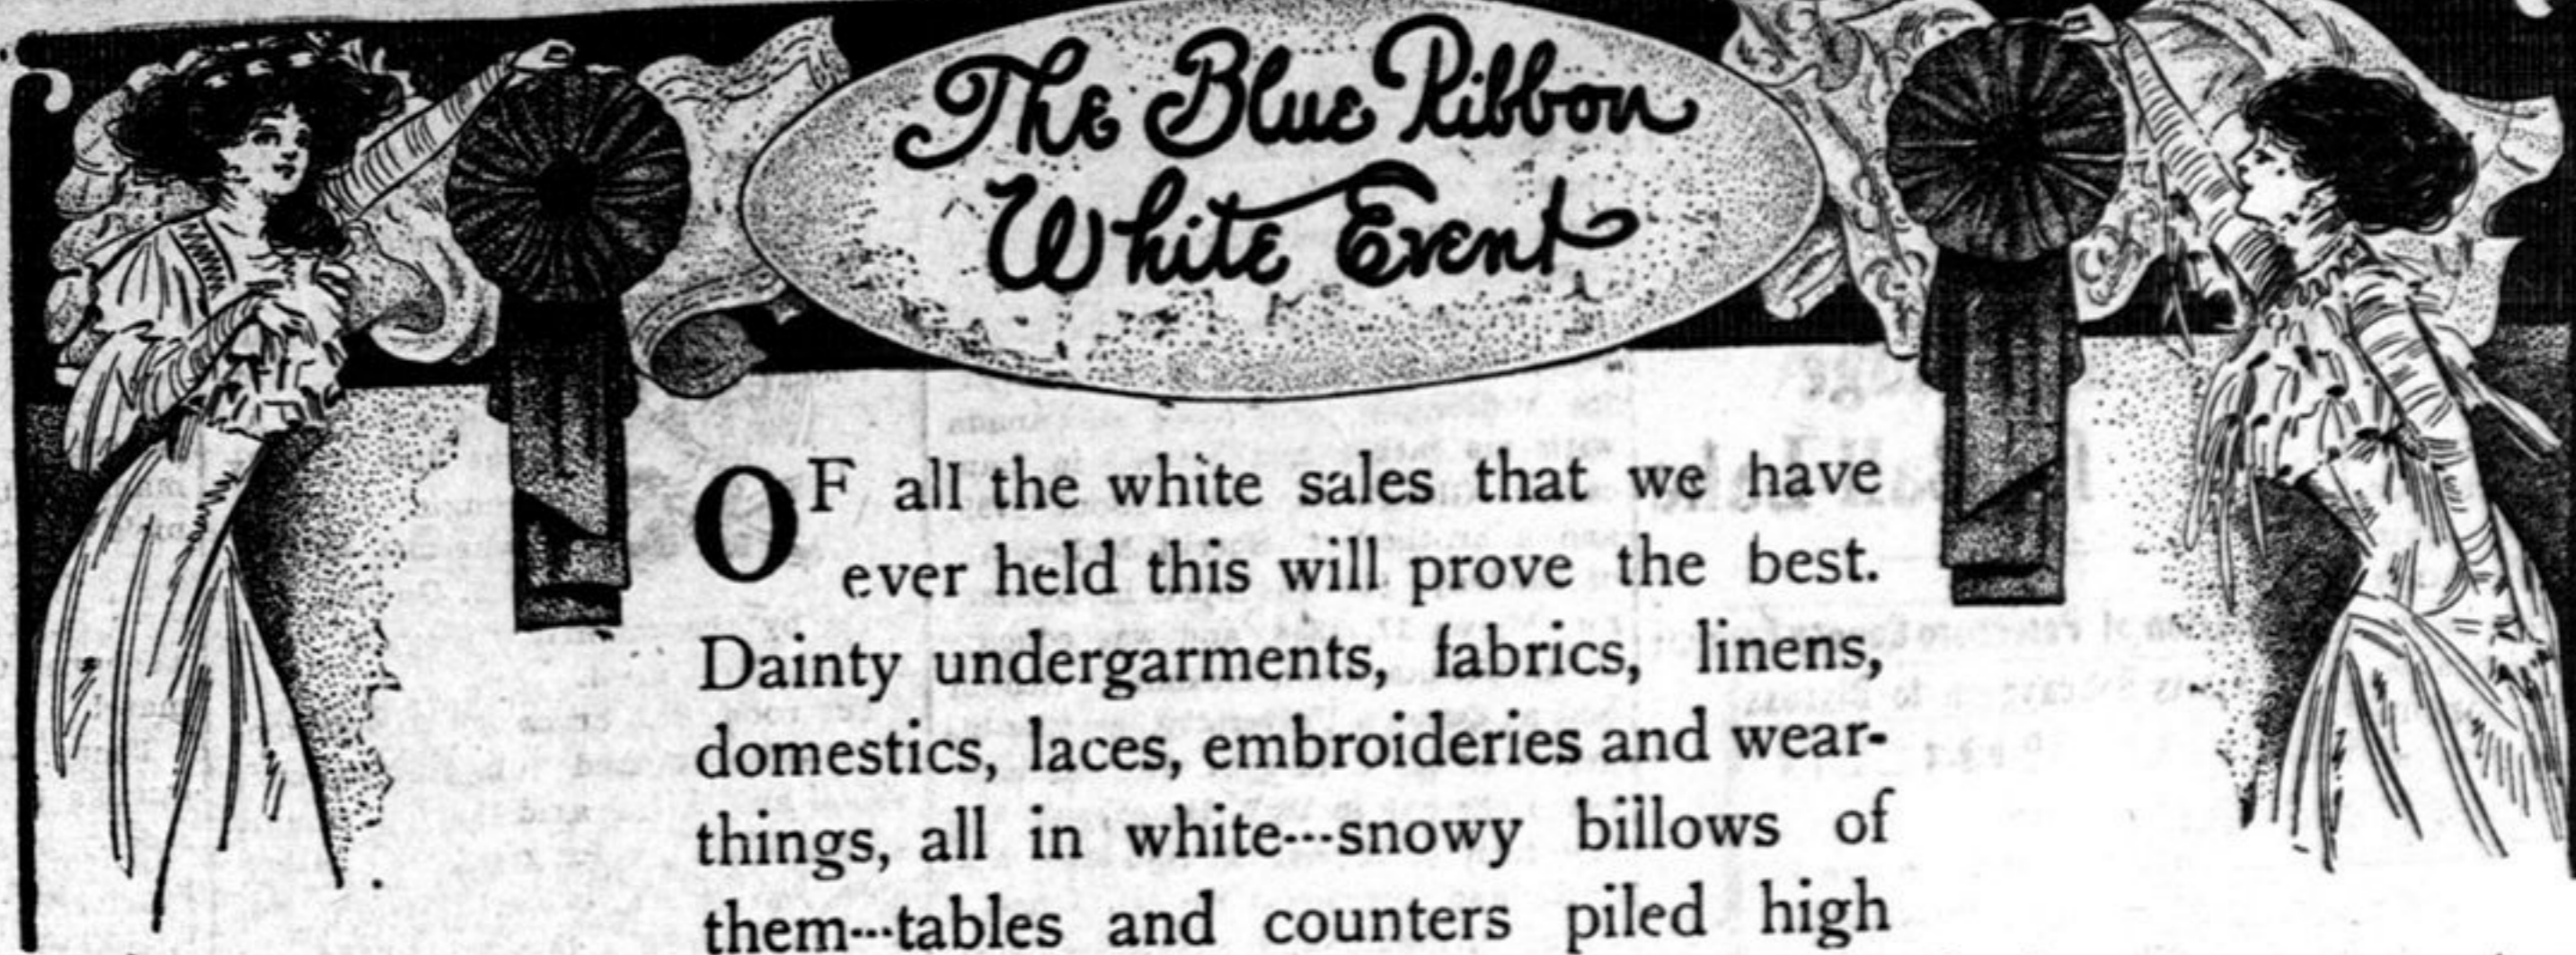

Private enterprise has certainly reached a wonderful development when it is possible for a single English firm to take an order for a whole Spanish naval squadron, at a price of forty million dollars.

The Toronto Mail and Empire so far forgets itself as to commend Hon A. B. Aylesworth on his having introduced in Parliament a bill prohibiting grafting by persons in the employ of private individuals or corporations.

A policeman in New Orleans arrested his wife for disorderly conduct the other day. She had talked to him in an unseemly manner. There will be a rush now by many people to be sworn in as special constables. The idea is a good one, especially when a fellow comes home late.

Helen Keller, deaf, blind and dumb, has been obliged to leave Boston to escape the attention of those who want to give her a good time. She has bought a country place out of her savings, so as to be sure of a little quiet. And still there are people who grouch.

Lindsay owns its own waterworks and makes a profit of $5,000 in one year, besides getting cheap water. Ottawa owns its own electric light plant and gets cheap electric light and a handsome profit. Ald. Kylie will no doubt figure out a connection between those two statements somewhere.

The Blue Ribbon White Event
OF all the white sales that we have ever held this will prove the best. Dainty undergarments, fabrics, linens, domestics, laces, embroideries and wear-things, all in white—snowy billows of them—tables and counters piled high and overflowing with them—and every component the finest the looms and the most expert needle-workers find it possible to produce.

THIS WHOLE STORE IS A VISION OF SNOWY LOVELINESS.

And how advantageously we bought—how painstakingly we prepared for this great annual event is reflected in the unusual low prices which will obtain on these charming garments, sheer fabrics and delightful wear-things. The spirit of economy overshadows even the splendid qualities and almost endless varieties—the bargains are doubly magnetic by reason of their timeliness.

It's to be an event that will long be remembered by prudent housewives and thrifty shoppers, the greatest White Sale of all, the Blue Ribbon White Event
