FORMER WOODVILLE MAN SUICIDES TRAGEDY OCCURRED IN CHICAGO

Neil McKinnon, formerly of Eldon township, and who lived with his sister at 24 Hugo avenue, Toronto, is dead in Chicago, and his brother Jno. McKinnon, of Buffalo has gone to Chicago for the remains.

According to a telegram received by Miss McKinnon, from a Chicago undertaker Neil McKinnon has suicided, but no particulars were given. Miss McKinnon wired to her brother in Buffalo and he left immediately for Chicago.

Today a despatch from Chicago says: THOUGHT HIM DESPONDENT.

"Neil McKinnon, 44 years old, is believed by the police to live at 24 Hugo place, Toronto, Canada, committed suicide by shooting himself in the head at the Iowa hotel, 7 Park place. McKinnon registered at the hotel Tuesday morning, and remained in his room most of the day. Next afternoon he was found in the closet adjoining his bedroom by Mrs. Ellen Robinson, proprietress of the hotel, who heard a shot and hurried to learn the cause.

"Papers were found in the dead man's possession that lead the police to believe that he was despondent on account of ill-health. Besides, receipts from an Ashland, Wisconsin hospital, he carried a note from the Ashland Lodge of Oddfellows, asking that he be given good treatment.

ment. There was also $119 in his possession.

FRIENDS FEAR FOUL PLAY McKinnon's Toronto friends cannot explain this suicide. Neil McKinnon and his sister took possession of No. 24 Hugo avenue, a comfortable little home, in October last. McKinnon had been a foreman for Wisconsin lumbermen for many years, but retired and came to Toronto to live, with his sister keeping house for him.

Urged by his former employers, to return, he went to Wisconsin, in December, but contracted a cold, and returned to Toronto.

"When we got word of Mr. McKinnon's death, said a friend to the Star today, "it occurred to us that he had met with foul play, as he had a considerable sum of money on him when he left home two weeks ago for Wisconsin, to settle up his business affairs there. His sister received a letter from him last Monday. In it he said nothing about ill-health, merely that he would be home yesterday or on Monday next. He was not ill, so far as his friends knew, as we did not hear of his being in the Ashland hospital."

According to another who knew Neil McKinnon, the latter was not in any financial difficulty, and was a deliberate, thoughtful, responsible man.

COL. SAM HUGHES IS REPLIED TO REV. W.H. MILNE MAKES STATEMENT

Ottawa, Feb. 13.—In the Glebe Presbyterian church Rev. W. H. Milne made a statement regarding the attack made on him in the House of Commons by Col. Sam Hughes. He intimated that the statement was a personal one to his congregation and he had no desire to give it further publicity through the press. Mr. Milne said, however: "I regret exceedingly for your sake that my name unwarrantably has been bandied about in the press and on the floor of the House of Commons. The charges that were made against me on Jan 31st and on Friday of last week I have already denied in the presence of my brethren of the Ministerial Association. With a full knowledge of where I stand, I wish again to state that those charges are absolute falsehoods. There does not live in Ontario or ever did live a man to whom I ever gave in any shape or form the slightest information regarding the political leanings of my people. For thirteen years I have gone in and out of some of the homes of this congregation; others not so long, because this has been a growing congregation and some of you have only known me recently. But I am strong in the assurance that you could not believe me guilty of such conduct. Unless something unforeseen occurs the matter here closes as far as I am concerned."

I LOVE TO CURL

A Poem by Rev. Robert E. Knowles, of Galt.
I do not care to curl at all,
If only winners be
The men who do their brethren
maul
The most successfully.
I do not wish to curl unless
The game is lots of fun,
E'en though your tail be motionless,
Before that game is done.

I do not care to curl for scalps,
And curl for scalps alone,
With brow all furrowed like the Alps,
With many a secret moan.
With many a malediction deep
When your opponents stone
Around the guard doth gently
creep,
And butteth out your own.

I do not care to curl if I
Perforce have got to grout—
The man who puts them through,
too fly;
The man who "hogs" a slouch,
I want to cheer the sorry skate
Who does the best he can,
To tell him soon he'll get the weight,
Just like the Rennie man,

I do not care to curl for blood,
E'e' though that blood be blue,
Nor let depression like a flood
Embitter all I do.
Unless I swept my brother sport,
And paste him all I can,
To try and start the great report
That I'm a mighty man.

I wish to curl with all my skill
With both feet in the sand,
To play the game with rich goodwill,
And cunning of the hand;
For fun and health, and pride of life,

That I may able be
To hurry home and tell my wife,
"They cannot fool with me."
For when our greening fond is o'er
With loud, resounding smack,
I tell her how I wiped the floor
With my opponent's back.
I love to curl, that life may take,
A richer, fuller flow,

And mingling with my fellows,
make

Life sweeter here below;
That I may learn to win and still Uplifted up to be;
Or, beaten, calmly, wait until
My hour of victory.
I love to curl with mellow age.
With youth still in their teens,
Forgettin' all the ardent rage
About the "beef and greens."
Rejoicing in this game that lends
New scope to Pleasure's plan.
That still develops and extends
The Brotherhood of Man.

FROM CLERK TO MILLIONAIRE

Just over forty years ago the son of a Cologne banker went to England to seek employment as a clerk. It was Sir Ernest Cassel, the famous financier and philanthropist, who has retired from business. Securing a situation in the office of a Liverpool strain merchant, he stayed there for three years, and at the end of that time was only earning twenty-five shillings per week. Then he went to London, entered a financial house, and, before he was thirty, had established an international reputation as a shrewd, far-sighted and successful financier. Amongst his most important achievements are the inauguration of the Central London Railway, the raising of China's big loan after her defeat by Japan, and the negotiations for financing the Nile irrigation works. He was one of the first men to see the immense possibilities of Egypt.

BABY'S OWN TABLETS FOR ALL BABIES

Every mother of young children should keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house. No other medicine has relieved so many little ones of the ailments that afflict them as have Baby's Own Tablets. No other medicine can be given the baby with the absolute sureness of safety as can these Tablets. The mother has the guarantee of a Government analyst that they do not contain a particle of those harmful drugs that make those so-called "soothing" stuffs so dangerous to the life of the little one. The tablets never fail to be of benefit. Concerning them, Mrs. Jno. A. Albert, Caranquet, N.B., writes:—"I am happy to state that I have used Baby's Own Tablets for constipation for my two little children with great satisfaction." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or at 25 cents a box from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Znt.

WAKELY'S

BEAUTY IN WINTER

How to Keep the Skin Proof Against the Work of Jack Frost

When Jack Frost is present in the air, a good face cream must be rubbed gently on the face, and then removed before soap and water are applied. The cream softens the skin, but must be thoroughly washed off so as not to leave the skin greasy and in a condition to pick up quickly a new layer of dust and dirt.

How to keep the face clean in frosty weather is a real problem. Hot or cold water is not really efficacious unless the face is scrubbed vigorously with a coarse rag, which is certainly not advisable for a delicate skin. Soap makes the skin most uncomfortably stiff and tends to coarsen it. During the greater part of the year the face had best be washed first with warm water to remove the dirt, then with cold to close the pores of the skin. A good facial powder may be used once or twice a week, but care must be taken to find one that really agrees with the skin.

In this frosty weather a good cream should be applied to the hands two or three times a day in order to keep them white and soft. At night some cream should always be rubbed on the skin about the nails to prevent hangnails, to prevent the epidermis from becoming stiff and hard, and dust and dirt from collecting. In winter the hands must needs be constantly washed, for the first conspicuous marks of a lady are her pretty white hands, but some lotion or cream should be applied after each washing to keep them in good condition.

CLOCK DOESN'T GO

Visitor:—"Is your clock right?"
Tired Hostess at the end of her patience and politeness:—"Oh, no! That's the one we call 'The Visitor.'"
Visitor:—"What a quaint name! Why?"
Hostess:—"Because it doesn't go!"

TROUBLE TO HIMSELF

John Fox, the novelist, stayed overnight in a cabin in the Kentucky mountains. In the morning he repaired to a mountain stream, producing incidentally from his travelling-case a comb and a toothbrush, and being regarded critically by a naive youth, who finally said:—"Say, mister, ain't you a lot of trouble to yourself?"

AGAINST EXEMPTION

The Committee Makes it Clear that All Business Concerns Must Pay School Taxes

No Exemption from School Taxes.
No deviation from the policy of refusing to grant any business concern exemption from school taxes was made by the Private Bills Committee. That this principle would be adhered to was plainly stated by the chairman, Hon. J. B. Lucas, in the discussion over the proposal to make the Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. of Hamilton pay local improvement and school taxes.

T. W. McGarry, M. P. for North Renfrew, cited the case of Ottawa's Y.M.C.A., which rented dormitories and rooms as did the hotels. The Ottawa association had a revenue of $11,000 per year that was exempt. C. R. McKeown, M.P.P. for Dufferin, was against all exemptions. "Churches and Orange lodges should pay taxes," said he with a smile. "Churches and Masonic lodges should pay taxes. All should be as independent and manly as any business institution doing good."

Alan Studholme, M.P.P. for East Hamilton, presented a resolution from the Hamilton Trades Council, protesting against the granting of exemptions. "We give $5 away in that city for every dollar given by the Y.M.C.A.," he declared.
Decision was deferred.
Regular school taxes must be paid by the Kingston Shipbuilding Company, who have leased the Government dry dock at Kingston and plan to expend $50,000 on machine and repair shops for vessels.
Kingston carried a by-law exempting the company for 20 years from general taxation and from school taxes on the dock which it leased. Ratification of this by-law was asked. The committee agreed to the 20-year exemption, but declined to grant any school tax exemption.
"You're up against a stone wall," said Chairman Lucas to the promoters when they sought relief from school taxation.

SHOCKED TO DEATH

Jibson:—"Heard the news about poor Flutterby, I suppose, old fellow?"
Checkly:—"No, what's happened to him?"
Jibson:—"Dropped dead in a tram-car the day before yesterday. He always suffered from heart disease, you know; and the doctors said any sudden shock would kill him."
Checkly:—"Did he get one?"
Jibson:—"Yes, poor chap. He offered his seat to a lady, and—she thanked him."

NO PLACE FOR HIM

"Love your neighbor as yourself," said the minister, with great earnestness.
"Thomas," whispered the lady to her husband, who lived next door to a pretty young widow, "come away; this is no place for you."

BRITAIN'S AIR FLEET.

New Ideas to be Incorporated in the Construction of Dirigibles

A very busy time awaits the officers and men of the Army Balloon School at Farnborough, England, this winter. In addition to the work of testing and completely overhauling the "Clement Bayard II," the air corps will have ready the large gas bag begun a few weeks ago for the "Gamma," and at the same time start on the construction of the "Delta," another air-ship which the War Office has just decided to add to the present aerial fleet.

The "Delta" will be much larger than the two sister ships, "Beta" and "Gamma." Its envelope is to be made from a new fabric which, it is said, is far superior to any other on the market. By subjecting the material to a special treatment, of which the Army experts alone know the secret, the percentage of leakage will be reduced to an infinitesimal quantity. Reversible propellers and heavy six-cylinder engines are among the other new constructional details of the air-ship. The "Delta" is to be completed by the beginning of next spring, when the large admiralty dirigible now being built at Barrow-in-Furness will also be ready for active service.

The winter months at the Balloon School will further be occupied in training some 300 additional men to handle air-ships, so as to bring up the number of the corps to a total of 400.

WAVES TO DRIVE SHIPS

Applying Wave Power in Propelling Vessels Across the Atlantic

Mr. John Luck, of Brooklyn, has devised a plan to apply wave power to the propulsion of vessels crossing the ocean. The model of his invention, says "Science Sittings," represents the hull of a vessel equipped with water tanks, fore and aft. In the centre of the craft is a piston rod operated by a series of cogwheels, which furnishes the motor power for the ship. Theoretically the weight of water stored in the tanks will be sufficient to put the machinery in motion and move the ship. This force will be applied by the rise and fall of the hull, occasioned by the action of the waves. If, for instance, a wave five feet high should strike the vessel astern, tons of force would be thrown upon the operating machinery, which would be simultaneously affected by the suction of the receding waters in other tanks at the opposite end of the boat. It would not, therefore, affect the power of propulsion if the tides were adverse to the course of the ship. Rocking of the boat by cross currents would have no effect on the power pressure.

RIGHT TO VOTE IF NOT ON LIST

A bill that will give to the freeholder or leaseholder whose name has been omitted inadvertently from the voters' list the right to vote at municipal, Provincial or Dominion election will be introduced in the Legislature this week by the member for West Toronto, Mr. W. D. McPherson. Under the present law, no one whose name is not on the list is entitled to vote in a Provincial or Dominion election—not in the municipal—a ballot may be rendered by such a person, but it is not counted except in the event of a scrutiny.

The amendment to the Municipal Act which Mr. McPherson will ask the House to make provides that if it appears to the Clerk of the municipality that the name of any freeholder who is rated on the last revised assessment roll for sufficient real property to entitle him to vote, or any leaseholder who is so rated and who has filed a certificate as provided, . . . has been inadvertently omitted from such last revised voters' list, the Clerk, at the request of such freeholder or leaseholder, shall give him a certificate setting forth that fact and the real property in respect of which he is rated, and such freeholder or leaseholder, upon delivering such certificate to and leaving the same with Deputy Returning Officer, shall be entitled to vote.
