ANOTHER LINE INTO ORILLIA

News Letter: "As you are doubtless aware," writes Mayor Lemon of Owen Sound to the Orillia council. "Owen Sound parties hold a charter for building a railway from Kincardine to Orillia. As you are interested in this project we want to let you know that a deputation will wait on the Minister of Railways at Ottawa on Thursday and we would like you to send a representative."

This is the Simcoe, Grey and Bruce Railway Company's proposed line and it is thought it will be of some benefit to Orillia. Mr. J. B. Tudhope is a nominal director. Mayor Frost and Reeve Johnston were named delegates. It is the intention to ask for a subsidy of so much per mile. "The subsidy," says Mayor Lemon, "will be handed over to any railway that will build the road, preferably the Canadian Northern."

The News-Letter, in common with other citizens would like to know the exact route of the line before final action is taken.

OVER INDULGENCE IN ALCOHOL CONTRIBUTED TO MRS. WILSON'S DEATH

The said Annie Wilson came to her death through a continuous indulgence in alcohol, causing a hemorrhage of the nose, to which she was subject under such conditions, and which so weakened her that she died from exposure to the cold and frost.

The above is the verdict rendered by the Coroner's jury on Friday, which was empanelled to enquire into the cause of the death of the unfortunate woman who was found frozen stiff on a bed at her home on Wellington-st., Monday, Jan. 29th.

The jury held its session in the council chamber at four o'clock, and the verdict, which was a unanimous one, was speedily arrived at after the evidence was heard. Coroner Dr. Wood presided.

Frederick Brown was the first witness. Deceased was his sister. He last saw her alive last fall. He was informed by Mr. John Carew for whom he was working, that there must be something wrong in connection with Mrs. Wilson's absence as he was told she had not been seen for several days. Witness visited the house and tried the front door, but it was locked, as was also the back door. He broke in the back door and found the deceased woman dead in bed. Witness then notified Mr. Carew and afterward Chief of Police Chilton. The blankets were over her when he found her. Witness had not been at her house for a year and a half, and did not know whether she had been sick or not. He went home and got his dinner before he notified the police. Two or three hours must have elapsed since he found the body and notified the police. Mr. Wilson, husband of deceased, was in the shanties at the time of her death.

John Wilson, husband of deceased was called. The coroner asked him if he was sober, and he said he was. He identified the body as that of his wife. Witness was away from home since Jan. 2nd. He always stopped at his own house when in Lindsay. His wife was in good health when he was home at that time. She was drinking when he was home. It was whiskey she was drinking. She could not do without it, and she was under its influence quite often. Witness saw deceased drinking. She was not subject to fits or convulsions. Her nose bled at intervals. She thought she was going to bleed to death last July and woke him up in her fright.

To Mr. Staples—Witness said his wife was addicted to drinking, and she was sent to the hospital as a result of drink. The flasks at the house were brought there since he left, as he took away two sacks of flasks before he left, and emptied them in the river. The large number of flasks in the house when the body was found had accumulated since then. It was after she was drunk that she would have a bleeding of the nose. Besides carrying away two sacks of flasks he also took a large number of lager bottled from the house. Witness never saw the body of deceased in the morgue. Witness got along with his wife as long as she was sober. They had their quarrels, but witness never saw her quarrel with others.

Several neighbors gave evidence to show that men had visited the house on different occasions, and that in their opinion it was a disorderly house. The police had been notified of the disturbances. Drinking and carousing was going on. Men were seen going there under the influence of liquor.

Wm. McGill was called. He was acting night constable during the past week and had visited the house of deceased woman. He was on duty from Jan. 23rd to 29th. The Chief instructed him to watch the house as complaints had been lodged. Witness visited the place twice every night, while on duty and saw no one around or no light in the house. Witness informed the Chief that there was no light in the house. Witness was in police station with Chief when Frederick Brown informed the Chief that Mrs. Wilson was dead. He accompanied the officer to the house, and found deceased dead on the bed. She appeared to have been bleeding at the nose or mouth, and there were bloody rags on the floor. Witness saw a large number of whiskey bottles about the house.

To Mr. Staples, witness said he was on duty about a week before deceased was found. No one came around during his visits. Witness picked up Daily Worker of January 18th, at the front door, on the inside. He believed the woman was dead while he was guarding the house.

Dr. Clarke who was instructed to make a thorough examination of the body, presented his report. He knew the deceased Annie Wilson, as he had been called to attend her at the hospital two or three years ago. She was suffering from alcoholic poisoning. He last saw her on the streets about three weeks ago and she appeared to be sober. On examining the body he found no marks of violence. The woman was subject to severe bleeding of the nose, which had weakened her to such an extent that she

A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY

An eminent scientist, the other day, gave his opinion that the most wonderful discovery of recent years was the discovery of Zam-Buk. Just think! As soon as a single thin layer of Zam-Buk is applied to a wound or a sore, such injury is insured against blood poisoning! Not one species of microbe has been found that Zam-Buk does not kill!

Then again, As soon as Zam-Buk is applied to a sore, or a cut, or to skin disease, it stops the smarting. That is why children are such friends of Zam-Buk. They care nothing for the science of the thing. All they know is that Zam-Buk stops their pain. Mothers should never forget this.

Again, As soon as Zam-Buk is applied to a wound or to a diseased part, the cells beneath the skin's surface are so stimulated that new healthy tissue is quickly formed. This forming of fresh healthy tissue from below is Zam-Buk's secret of healing. The tissue thus formed is worked up to the surface and literally casts off the diseased tissue above it. This is why Zam-Buk cures are permanent.

Only the other day Mr. Marsh, of 101 Delorimier Ave., Montreal, called upon the Zam-Buk Company and told them that for over twenty-five years he had been a martyr to eczema. His hands were at one time so covered with sores that he had to sleep in gloves. Four years ago Zam-Buk was introduced to him, and in a few months it cured him. To-day—over three years after his cure of a disease he had for twenty-five years—he is still cured, and has had no trace of any return of the eczema!

tell asleep and perished with the cold. The body was frozen solid.

Foreman Staples—There is a rumor to the effect that the liquor which the woman drank was doped. Did you find any evidence that would tend to strengthen that rumor?

Dr. Clarke said he could give them no information on that point.

The question was then asked who supplied the woman with liquor? Her husband stated that she always drew his money at the Carew Lumber Co's office when she needed any, and he had never paid any of her whiskey bills. He had often tried to get the hotels to refuse her liquor and they had all promised, but she was kept supplied nevertheless. In answer to a query the husband stated that his wife was being supplied with liquor from Maunder's Hotel.

License Inspector Thornbury said the deceased was not on the Indian list. She was in the police court at one time charged with supplying liquor to a man on the prohibited list, but the case was dismissed.

SCHOOL MATTERS

To the Editor:
Sir,—I have been a reader of your paper for some time and I have noticed different articles in it touching on the school question, and that they have decided now to allow scholars who do not come from an approved school to write now in Normal. Well, it's about high time that something was done, for to-day it's a disgrace. They are sending us kids just passing entrance work (not much more) to teach in district schools, where it's of the utmost importance that a pretty good teacher should be placed, as those children only get to school about six months in the year. Such a thing as this was never known in Mr. Knight's time as P.S.I. nor should it be allowed now. It's ridiculous to think of such a thing. The Educational Department is very strict about the exams, and also refused to grant permits to old Model School teachers who have taught for some years and do know something about it, but in their stead here is some entrance scholar. We can call them nothing else, for while they tried for the fifth class, the last certificate was the entrance certificate. I think it is high time the parents rebelled against such work. Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your space, I would like this published in your next issue.

Yours, etc.,
ONE INTERESTED.

FISHERY REGULATION MAY BE CHANGED

The difference of opinion between Federal and Provincial authorities, regarding fishery regulations are to be submitted to a conference in the near future, when the Provincial officers expect to secure changes that will make the enforcement of the fishery regulations more practicable than it is now.

The Dominion Government is vested with power to issue all fishery regulations, but the Provincial department issue licenses and see to the enforcement of the regulations. The chief cause of complaint is said to be that the regulations sent out from Ottawa have often been of such a nature that it was impossible to enforce them. Another cause of friction is said to be the fact that the Dominion Government collects all fines, although these have not amounted to a great deal.

The many friends of Mr. Spratt, who was injured in the hockey game, will regret to learn that he is not improving very rapidly. He is still confined to his room, the injured limb being badly swollen. "Pete" moves about his room with great difficulty by the aid of a crutch.
